Three Killed In Car Crash Near Waverly

Three Jackson, Miss., residents were killed and four other persons injured, one critically, in an automobile collision early Saturday morning approximately one-half mile west of Waverly in Madison parish.

Cause of the wreck was reported to have been a large area of broken cement in the middle of Highway 80, which caused a similar wreck Friday afternoon injuring three persons.

The dead were identified as James R. Bounds, about 30, driver of one of the automobiles involved, Mrs. Ruth Osborne and David Lambert, 10, both of whom died in the Delhi clinic. Bounds was killed instantly.

Sam McClendon, also of Jackson, Miss., and riding in the Bounds vehicle, is in the Delhi clinic in critical condition. Extent of his injuries could not be determined late Saturday.

Also injured were Technical Sergeant Edward A. Rockovich, 32, driver of the second automobile; Airman 3-c Dorothy Westfall, 20; and Airman 3-c Earline Mundson, 22, Negro. Rockovich and Miss Westfall suffered chest injuries, cuts and bruises, while Earline Mundson suffered a broken leg and cuts and bruises. All were stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and were en route to Norfolk, Va., on vacations.

The collision occurred when an east-bound car driven by Rockovitch hit the broken concrete, swerved off the right of the road and in an attempt to straighten up, hit the oncoming west-bound automobile.

MONROE WATER RATES RAISED

Boosted Because Of Higher Maintenance, Operation Costs

The Monroe city council has announced that water rates will be upped effective July 24. The raising of the rates was due to the increased cost of maintenance and operation of the city departments.

Also announced was the cancellation of all bus passes and tickets and tokens for the bus department. This will take effect on August 1.

The minimum water bill, which is now $1.00 monthly, will become $1.50, still one of the lowest in the state for a city of comparable size. Other changes are; 30 cents per thousand gallons for the frst 50,000 gallons; 25 cents per thousand for the next 75,000 gallons; 20 cents per thousand for the next 75,000 gallons, 15 cents per thousand for the next 300,000 gallons and all over 500,000 gallons, 12 cents per thousand gallons.

In the bus rates, all school children will pay five cents going to and from school and ten cents for all other persons.

The tokens and tickets which are now in effect will become void on August 1, and can be redeemed at their face value on presentation at the municipal bus department in the City Hall, provided they are redeemed by September 1.

The changes were signed by Mayor John E. Coon, Commissioner of Finance and Utilities Frank X. Cline, and Commissioner of Streets and Parks John P. Simmons.

Defense Army Is Planned

BERLIN, July 19 (AP)—East German Communist leaders ordered today registration of all persons from 16 to 65 to find out which industries can provide manpower for a "defense army" of 375,000 without crippling production.

The move affects 7½ million men and women. Registration teams will determine which industrial areas can get along with fewer workers. Then intensive drives for "volunteers" will be made in these areas by quota.

By this system, Communist leaders apparently hope to build their army without an outright draft law. They say East Germany must have a "defense army" to counter West Germany's alliance with Western Powers.

West German leaders said they regarded the registration order as a sure indication that previous ef-

Accuse Two Suspects Of Stealing Gasoline

Two Monroe Negroes Friday night were arrested by the Ouachita parish sheriff's department and charged with theft.

William Davenport, 45, and Eddie Tribble, 48, were arrested after they had allegedly stolen gasoline from a tractor owned by Clark Ransom, farmer.

Deputies said that Tribble was apprehended as he was siphoning gas from the tractor. His alleged accomplice, Davenport, was confronted by deputies a few minutes later at his residence.

Both were lodged in the parish prison. Bond had not been set late last night.

Sen. Russell Wins Back Lost Ground

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia was reported today to have allayed the unrest among his Dixie followers who had been upset by his call for a new labor law to replace the Taft-Hartley Act.

The Georgian, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, huddled with a group of Southern governors and senators, and apparently patched up whatever differences there may have been.

Sen. Holland and Sen. Smathers of Florida said after the meeting that "we have discussed with Dick Russell his attitude relative to the Taft-Hartley Act and find he has

Mercy Ship Rescues 45 From Flames

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)— The veteran mercy ship Gripsholm today rescued 45 of 49 persons aboard a chemical-laden Norwegian freighter which flared into an orange-flamed inferno 65 miles off the Eastern tip of Long Island.

The 5,000-ton freighter, the Black Gull, carried nine passengers and a crew of 40.

Straining through the dark and churning waters of the Atlantic before dawn, a Gripsholm lifeboat snatched off 21 officers and crewmen huddled in the bow of the freighter. A few minutes later the searing flames would have forced them to leap into the sea.

Another 24 crewmen and passengers, including six women, had jammed into the Black Gulls last lifeboat and miraculously cast off from the flaming freighter. The ships other lifeboat had been lost.

The four missing crewmen leaped 35 feet off the stern of the vessel and Coast Guard cutters and planes scoured the area for them.

Of the 45 survivors, 44 were transferred from the white-hulled Gripsholm to the Coast Guard headquarters here that she expected to land the survivors in New York about 7:30 p.m. EST tonight. One passenger and seven crew members had burns requiring further treatment, the Mackinac said.

The 6-year-old Black Gull carried a cargo valued at 1½ million dollars by her charterers, the Black Diamond Steamship Line. A chief part of her cargo, which included castor oil and machinery, was 500 tons of napthalene in metal drums. Napthalene is used in making dyes and explosives.

She was one day out of New York from Bremen with her cargo when she burst into flames. Her skipper, among those rescued, was F. A. Anderson of Norway. Although chartered to the Black Diamond Line, she was of Norwegian build and registry and most of her crew were Norwegians.

Jes' Ramblin'

This week Monroe will be honored by being host to the annual department convention of the American Legion, which with the Auxiliary and the Forty and Eight will all be in session here. It is expected that 2,000 or more will be pouring in to Monroe to participate in the big affair.

A highlight always is the traditional parade, this time with Sheriff Bailey Grant as chairman. There will be numerous bands, national guard vehicles and a drill team of Shriners.

Although final plans are not yet complete, the parade is scheduled to begin at 5:00 p. m. on Saturday, July 26, at Central Grammar School from where it will travel along South Grand street to DeSiard and then east on DeSiard to Five Points.

Legion bands from New Orleans and Lafayette have already indicated that they will march in the parade, as has the Rice City drum and bugle corps from Crowley. Other entrants are expected, and hundreds of Legionnaires will include themselves and their traditional convention antics.

Members of Sheriff Grant's committee planning the parade are; John B. Bailey, vice - chairman; M. L. Peters, chief of police of Monroe; George W. Trousdale and James L. Roberts.

Expansion Program To Develop Complete 'Family' Of Atomic Weapons Is Underway

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission, granted almost three billion dollars in the closing days of the last Congress, is pushing a huge expansion program to develop a complete "family" of atomic weapons.

An AEC spokesman said a site for a new $1,250,500,000 gaseous diffusion plant probably will be selected and announced within the next few weeks. The AEC has indicated it will be located somewhere in the Ohio River Valley.

Expansion probably will be started first at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., plants, the spokesman said.

The supplemental appropriations bill providing $2,286,800,000 for Oak Ridge and 450 million for Paducah.

AEC Chairman Gordon Dean told Congress the purpose of the whole expansion program "is to gain precious time by achieving minimum stockpile objectives established by the Department of Defense, and to achieve them about four and one-half to five years earlier than we would achieve them if we went at our present rate."

Time is the key factor, he said, in developing a family of atomic weapons for use not only by the Air Force but by the Army on the ground and the Navy at sea.

"Some of this new capacity will first be producing weapon material in 1954 — not six years from now," he promised. "Our effort is directed to getting the entire capacity into operation just as soon as we possibly can. To do this we have to proceed at once on all sites."

The AEC has given no hints about where its vast gaseous diffusion plant will be located other than to indicate the Ohio Valley.

(Gaseous diffusion is a process for separating fissionable Uranium 235 from uranium as it occurs in nature. At present this process is the only one known to be in use in the United States.

Site surveys have been made in Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia. And delegations from each of these Ohio Valley states have conferred with AEC officials in efforts to get the big atomic plant built in their areas.

While the AEC decides on the site for the big plant, it will go ahead with preliminary plans for the project so that little time will be lost in getting construction under way once the site is chosen.

The amount provided for expansion in the bill finally passed by Congress and signed by the President was about 100 million dollars

Dixie Delegates Storm Center Of Demo Dispute

LA. DELEGATES VOTE TO SUPPORT SEN. RUSSELL

Decision To Back Georgia Reached During Caucus

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)— Louisiana's delegates to the Democratic convention emerged from a caucus today pledged to support Senator Russell "as long as he is in the race."

This stand was announced to reporters by Democratic State Chairman N. B. Carstarphen who said it was a decision reached unanimously.

He said Russell's stand on the Taft-Hartley Act has been satisfactorily explained to the group by Gov. Robert F. Kennon and Democratic National Committeeman Frank Ellis, who were in a group of Southerners who met earlier in the day with the Georgia senator.

"Russell's position on the Taft-Hartley Act is clear," Kennon told a reporter. "It is the same as it always has been—cut out the bad, leave in the good."

A statement by Russell earlier in the week was interpreted in some Southern states as indicating he favored repeal of the labor act. Some delegates from those states cooled noticeably.

But Kennon said Russell's position is unchanged and satisfactory to him.

The delegation had a long leisurely caucus in its hotel headquarters, starting off with coffee. After deciding to back Russell to the hilt, the group formally chose Kennon chairman and Sherwood R. Loe, of Shreveport, vice chairman.

Ellis was named secretary and member of the convention Credentials Committee.

Henry Sevier, Tallulah, and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Monroe, were named to the Platform Committee and Louis J. Roussel, New Orleans, to the Rules Committee.

Leander Perez, Plaquemines Parish party leader, said there was no discussion of vice presidential possibilities.

Likewise, Carstarphen said the group didn't get down to talking about second choices for the presidential nomination or what the delegation's position would be in event of a draft for Governor Stevenson of Illinois.

Winnsboro Girl Weathers Injury

WINNSBORO, La., July 19 (Special)—A three-year-old Winnsboro girl was released from the hospital yesterday after being treated for injuries sustained when she fell from a moving car.

Injured was Jenny Lind Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Robertson. She was reported to have suffered abrasions of the face and a two inch cut on the back of her head.

The accident occurred as Mrs. Robertson reportedly was turning into a main highway, and the door flew open. Evidently Jenny Lind lost her balance and fell from the moving vehicle.

ANTI-TRUMAN SOUTHERNERS FACE CHALLENGE

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)— In an open challenge to anti-administration Southerners, Averell Harrisman's campaign managers tonight demanded that a lovely pledge be exacted from every delegate to the Democratic National Convention opening Monday.

Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. of New York, chairman of the Harriman campaign committee, told a news conference that his group would seek to require that all delegates pledge their loyalty to the choices of the convention for president and vice-president.

This move threatened to touch off at an early session the same kind of bitter rules fight which marked the Republican National Convention last week.

Such states as Texas and Mississippi have refused to go on record with pre-convention pledges of support if the Democratic ticket and platform are not acceptable to them. Leaders of other Southern states, too, have threatened to walk out.

Roosevelt said that an amendment to the party convention rules will be offered which would:

1. "Insure that the nominee of this convention will be placed on the ballot of each state as Democratic candidates."

2. Insure that Democratic organizations back of the state delegations to the convention will support and work for the Democratic ticket in November.

Roosevelt told newsmen that "we are going to work on all other possible means to insure a united and loyal Democratic party."

Asked whether the Harriman

Pres. Truman Returns To White House

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) — President Truman returned to the White House feeling "fine" today after three days in the hospital for tests after a mild virus infection.

He immediately resumed work in his second - floor study. An aide said he still plans to attend and address the Democratic National Convention in Chicago and later to make a speaking campaign for the party's presidential ticket.

The President contracted his illness last Sunday. After spending the first part of the week in the White House living quarters, he entered the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center Wednesday to undergo a physical checkup.

The last of several laboratory tests was made this morning but the results are still to be determined by the President's physician Maj. Gen. Wallace Graham.

ROW ON SEATING OF ANTI-TRUMAN FORCES FLARES

Delegate Clash Slated To Erupt In Fiery Showdown

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)— A seething row over the seating of anti-Truman Dixie delegates ripped away the calm and outward unity of the Democratic party today and thundered toward a showdown next week on the floor of the Democratic National Convention.

For the time being this flight overshadowed candidates maneuvering for the party presidential nomination.

The delegate clash took over center stage when a contests subcommittee, then the full Democratic National Committee, voted in turn today to let bitterly anti-administration delegations represent Texas and Mississippi temporarily at the convention that opens Monday.

Leaders of the delegations have been refusing to promise solid support in advance for the man the convention nominates for President. They have hinted at bolts if nominee and platform are not to their liking.

Losing pro-Truman delegations from two Southern states angrily battled on, contending the rival slates are stacked with Republicans and "Dixiecrats."

The feud still must be referred by a convention Credentials Committee. But regardless of the outcome there, the final decision is bound to be tossed to the convention itself. A ruckus on the convention floor appeared certain.

There is a possibility of another party-splitting walkout by potential Southern rebels, even before the convention can settle down to adopting a platform and picking a nominee.

Pegged to the outcome of the delegate contests were bids of pro-Truman and anti-administration forces for the power and prestige that will enable one or the other to dominate the convention. Both factions are aware that it was a victory on a side issue involving delegate disputes that gave Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the momentum that carried him to a first-ballot nomination at the Republican convention last week.

The Democratic contest ruckus brought a complete and sudden change of atmosphere to the scene of the party convention.

Major candidates for the party nomination had been jockeying in polite, restrained fashion for spots of advantage in the presidential nominating derby.

All of them—Sen. Estes Kefauver, Sen. Richard Russell, and Sen. Robert S. Kerr, plus Vice-President Barkley and Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman—had been laying down the usual claims of progress and certain victory. Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois quietly kept on playing hide and seek, not saying so much as "maybe" to his admirers.

There had been little of animosity, of charges and countercharges in the rival camps.

But the delegate dispute quickly sent a feeling of tension through convention headquarters at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Otto Passman Assails Opponents In Fiery Talk

Otto E. Passman, candidate for re-election to congress, told assembled groups in Monroe and West Monroe yesterday that his record in congress had been attacked by two of his opponents "in an attempt to cover up their own miserable records."

Congressman Passman, who did not name any names, left no doubt in the minds of the groups that he was referring to State Representative Shady Wall and ex-Congressman Charles E. McKenzie, Sr., as he drew comparisons between his own record and those of his opponents.

"One of these men, a fine man," said Passman, "who has represented you says in advertisements 'Stay on the job,' implying that I don't. I wonder if you realize how inconsistent this is with his record?"

"He represented you for four years during World War II, and I can prove that he was absent from the House of Representatives 34 per cent of the time during that four year period, and was sometimes absent as long as seven weeks at a time," Passman said.

"On the other hand," Passman continued, "I have been your congressman for five years and have been present in the House 98½ per cent of the time, which is the best record set in congress from the south."

Passman, who was apparently referring to McKenzie as he made those statements, continued with an account of the money made available for congressmen's use for himself and "my opponent."

Passman said that $12,500 per year was given to congressmen to be spent for assistants and other

The four missing crewmen leaped 35 feet off the stern of the vessel and Coast Guard cutters and planes scoured the area for them.

Of the 45 survivors, 44 were transferred from the white-hulled Gripsholm to the Coast Guard headquarters here that she expected to land the survivors in New York about 7:30 p.m. EST tonight. One passenger and seven crew members had burns requiring further treatment, the Mackinac said.

The 6-year-old Black Gull carried a cargo valued at 1½ million dollars by her charterers, the Black Diamond Steamship Line. A chief part of her cargo, which included castor oil and machinery, was 500 tons of napthalene in metal drums. Napthalene is used in making dyes and explosives.

She was one day out of New York from Bremen with her cargo when she burst into flames. Her skipper, among those rescued, was F. A. Anderson of Norway. Although chartered to the Black Diamond Line, she was of Norwegian build and registry and most of her crew were Norwegians.

This week Monroe will be honored by being host to the annual department convention of the American Legion, which with the Auxiliary and the Forty and Eight will all be in session here. It is expected that 2,000 or more will be pouring in to Monroe to participate in the big affair.

A highlight always is the traditional parade, this time with Sheriff Bailey Grant as chairman. There will be numerous bands, national guard vehicles and a drill team of Shriners.

Although final plans are not yet complete, the parade is scheduled to begin at 5:00 p. m. on Saturday, July 26, at Central Grammar School from where it will travel along South Grand street to DeSiard and then east on DeSiard to Five Points.

Legion bands from New Orleans and Lafayette have already indicated that they will march in the parade, as has the Rice City drum and bugle corps from Crowley. Other entrants are expected, and hundreds of Legionnaires will include themselves and their traditional convention antics.

Members of Sheriff Grant's committee planning the parade are; John B. Bailey, vice - chairman; M. L. Peters, chief of police of Monroe; George W. Trousdale and James L. Roberts.

Jerome W. Webster Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome W. Webster Sr., of 403 Loop Rd., Monroe, recently was awarded gold bars and silver wings of an air force officer and pilot at Reese A. F. B., Tex.

Dixie Delegates Storm Center Of Demo Dispute

LA. DELEGATES VOTE TO SUPPORT SEN. RUSSELL

Decision To Back Georgia Reached During Caucus

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)— Louisiana's delegates to the Democratic convention emerged from a caucus today pledged to support Senator Russell "as long as he is in the race."

This stand was announced to reporters by Democratic State Chairman N. B. Carstarphen who said it was a decision reached unanimously.

He said Russell's stand on the Taft-Hartley Act has been satisfactorily explained to the group by Gov. Robert F. Kennon and Democratic National Committeeman Frank Ellis, who were in a group of Southerners who met earlier in the day with the Georgia senator.

"Russell's position on the Taft-Hartley Act is clear," Kennon told a reporter. "It is the same as it always has been—cut out the bad, leave in the good."

A statement by Russell earlier in the week was interpreted in some Southern states as indicating he favored repeal of the labor act. Some delegates from those states cooled noticeably.

But Kennon said Russell's position is unchanged and satisfactory to him.

The delegation had a long leisurely caucus in its hotel headquarters, starting off with coffee. After deciding to back Russell to the hilt, the group formally chose Kennon chairman and Sherwood R. Loe, of Shreveport, vice chairman.

Ellis was named secretary and member of the convention Credentials Committee.

Henry Sevier, Tallulah, and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Monroe, were named to the Platform Committee and Louis J. Roussel, New Orleans, to the Rules Committee.

Leander Perez, Plaquemines Parish party leader, said there was no discussion of vice presidential possibilities.

Likewise, Carstarphen said the group didn't get down to talking about second choices for the presidential nomination or what the delegation's position would be in event of a draft for Governor Stevenson of Illinois.

Winnsboro Girl Weathers Injury

WINNSBORO, La., July 19 (Special)—A three-year-old Winnsboro girl was released from the hospital yesterday after being treated for injuries sustained when she fell from a moving car.

Injured was Jenny Lind Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Robertson. She was reported to have suffered abrasions of the face and a two inch cut on the back of her head.

The accident occurred as Mrs. Robertson reportedly was turning into a main highway, and the door flew open. Evidently Jenny Lind lost her balance and fell from the moving vehicle.

ANTI-TRUMAN SOUTHERNERS FACE CHALLENGE

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)— In an open challenge to anti-administration Southerners, Averell Harrisman's campaign managers tonight demanded that a lovely pledge be exacted from every delegate to the Democratic National Convention opening Monday.

Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. of New York, chairman of the Harriman campaign committee, told a news conference that his group would seek to require that all delegates pledge their loyalty to the choices of the convention for president and vice-president.

This move threatened to touch off at an early session the same kind of bitter rules fight which marked the Republican National Convention last week.

Such states as Texas and Mississippi have refused to go on record with pre-convention pledges of support if the Democratic ticket and platform are not acceptable to them. Leaders of other Southern states, too, have threatened to walk out.

Roosevelt said that an amendment to the party convention rules will be offered which would:

1. "Insure that the nominee of this convention will be placed on the ballot of each state as Democratic candidates."

2. Insure that Democratic organizations back of the state delegations to the convention will support and work for the Democratic ticket in November.

Roosevelt told newsmen that "we are going to work on all other possible means to insure a united and loyal Democratic party."

Asked whether the Harriman

Pres. Truman Returns To White House

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) — President Truman returned to the White House feeling "fine" today after three days in the hospital for tests after a mild virus infection.

He immediately resumed work in his second - floor study. An aide said he still plans to attend and address the Democratic National Convention in Chicago and later to make a speaking campaign for the party's presidential ticket.

The President contracted his illness last Sunday. After spending the first part of the week in the White House living quarters, he entered the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center Wednesday to undergo a physical checkup.

The last of several laboratory tests was made this morning but the results are still to be determined by the President's physician Maj. Gen. Wallace Graham.

ROW ON SEATING OF ANTI-TRUMAN FORCES FLARES

Delegate Clash Slated To Erupt In Fiery Showdown

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)— A seething row over the seating of anti-Truman Dixie delegates ripped away the calm and outward unity of the Democratic party today and thundered toward a showdown next week on the floor of the Democratic National Convention.

For the time being this flight overshadowed candidates maneuvering for the party presidential nomination.

The delegate clash took over center stage when a contests subcommittee, then the full Democratic National Committee, voted in turn today to let bitterly anti-administration delegations represent Texas and Mississippi temporarily at the convention that opens Monday.

Leaders of the delegations have been refusing to promise solid support in advance for the man the convention nominates for President. They have hinted at bolts if nominee and platform are not to their liking.

Losing pro-Truman delegations from two Southern states angrily battled on, contending the rival slates are stacked with Republicans and "Dixiecrats."

The feud still must be referred by a convention Credentials Committee. But regardless of the outcome there, the final decision is bound to be tossed to the convention itself. A ruckus on the convention floor appeared certain.

There is a possibility of another party-splitting walkout by potential Southern rebels, even before the convention can settle down to adopting a platform and picking a nominee.

Pegged to the outcome of the delegate contests were bids of pro-Truman and anti-administration forces for the power and prestige that will enable one or the other to dominate the convention. Both factions are aware that it was a victory on a side issue involving delegate disputes that gave Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the momentum that carried him to a first-ballot nomination at the Republican convention last week.

The Democratic contest ruckus brought a complete and sudden change of atmosphere to the scene of the party convention.

Major candidates for the party nomination had been jockeying in polite, restrained fashion for spots of advantage in the presidential nominating derby.

All of them—Sen. Estes Kefauver, Sen. Richard Russell, and Sen. Robert S. Kerr, plus Vice-President Barkley and Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman—had been laying down the usual claims of progress and certain victory. Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois quietly kept on playing hide and seek, not saying so much as "maybe" to his admirers.

There had been little of animosity, of charges and countercharges in the rival camps.

But the delegate dispute quickly sent a feeling of tension through convention headquarters at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Gilbert Man Seriously Injured In Fall Here

A 32-year-old Gilbert man last night was hospitalized at the Saint Francis Sanitarium after he fell from a building while working.

Bernard Dearing, who fell while repairing Riley's Rest Home, suffered a broken neck and a possible back injury.

He was taken to Rogers Clinic by Brown and Young Funeral Home and later transferred to St. Francis.

His helper said that Dearing must have been faint, lost his balance and fell.

Attendants at the hospital said his condition was satisfactory.

Expansion Program To Develop Complete 'Family' Of Atomic Weapons Is Underway

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission, granted almost three billion dollars in the closing days of the last Congress, is pushing a huge expansion program to develop a complete "family" of atomic weapons.

An AEC spokesman said a site for a new $1,259,500,000 gaseous diffusion plant probably will be selected and announced within the next few weeks. The AEC has indicated it will be located somewhere in the Ohio River Valley.

Expansion probably will be started first at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., plants, the spokesman said.

The supplemental appropriations bill providing $2,898,800,000 for Oak Ridge and 459 million for Paducah.

AEC Chairman Gordon Dean told Congress the purpose of the whole expansion program "is to gain precious time by achieving minimum stockpile objectives established by the Department of Defense, and to achieve them about four and one-half to five years earlier than we would achieve them if we went at our present rate."

Time is the key factor, he said, in developing a family of atomic weapons for use not only by the Air Force but by the Army on the ground and the Navy at sea.

"Some of this new capacity will first be producing weapon material in 1954 — not six years from now," he promised. "Our effort is directed to getting the entire capacity into operation just as soon as we possibly can. To do this we have to proceed at once on all sites."

The AEC has given no hints about where its vast gaseous diffusion plant will be located other than to indicate the Ohio Valley.

Gaseous diffusion is a process for separating fissionable Uranium 235 from uranium as it occurs in nature. At present this process is the only one known to be in use in the United States.

Site surveys have been made in Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia. And delegations from each of these Ohio Valley states have conferred with AEC officials in efforts to get the big atomic plant built in their areas.

While the AEC decides on the site for the big plant, it will go ahead with preliminary plans for the project so that little time will be lost in getting construction under way once the site is chosen.

The amount provided for expansion in the bill finally passed by Congress and signed by the President was about 293 million dollars

Otto Passman Assails Opponents In Fiery Talk

Otto E. Passman, candidate for re-election to congress, told assembled groups in Monroe and West Monroe yesterday that his record in congress had been attacked by two of his opponents "in an attempt to cover up their own miserable records."

Congressman Passman, who did not name any names, left no doubt in the minds of the groups that he was referring to State Representative Shady Wall and ex-Congressman Charles E. McKenzie, Sr., as he drew comparisons between his own record and those of his opponents.

"One of these men, a fine man," said Passman, "who has represented you says in advertisements 'Stay on the job,' implying that I don't. I wonder if you realize how inconsistent this is with his record?"

"He represented you for four years during World War II, and I can prove that he was absent from the House of Representatives 34 per cent of the time during that four year period, and was sometimes absent as long as seven weeks at a time," Passman said.

"On the other hand," Passman continued, "I have been your congressman for five years and have been present in the House 98½ per cent of the time, which is the best record set in congress from the south."

Passman, who was apparently referring to McKenzie as he made those statements, continued with an account of the money made available for congressmen's use for himself and "my opponent."

Passman said that $12,500 per year was given to congressmen to be spent for assistants and other

Air Power Imperative

Amid continual rumors that the administration is dragging its feet in boosting airplane production so other branches of the military services will have more money to spend, Gen. Bonner Fellers, retired, writes in Human Events that air power and the atomic bomb will be decisive in the next war. An enemy capable of striking hard without danger of effective retaliation will be an easy victor.

"We need," says Fellers, "a strategic bombing force capable of repeated atomic attacks anywhere over Red territory. We need a small but adequate professional army and our present strength fleet to protect and supply essential bases. We need thousands of intercepters--fighter aircraft--to defend bases and key industrial and population centers against Red bombers. After these requirements are met, and only after they are met, do we dare invest heavily in foreign aid." Until U. S. air power is built up to adequate strength this country will be unable to protect itself, let alone Europe, General Fellers says.

After a decade of building air supremacy, General Fellers contends, this country would have the only really effective war deterrent and could win a war that was thrust upon it. After air power supremacy was achieved, taxes could be reduced because military strength would be an established fact and it would no longer be necessary to spend $50,000,000,000 or more a year.

General Fellers is a little off base there. Aircraft becomes outmoded so rapidly planes must constantly be replaced by later models.

Against the general's main argument is the position of many in the Pentagon that the infantry soldier is all-important and all other services exist to support him. Because Russia leads in potential foot soldiers, that argument contains depressing implications.

Air power is indispensable. Russia should never have been permitted to attain its present relative position in the air.

Socialism Breeds Waste

A group of experts known as the President's materials policy commission has been conducting a long-range economic study of the nation's resources. In the course of a five-volume report the conclusion is reached that the United States is exhausting its resources so rapidly that future security and economic expansion are "seriously" threatened.

There is no question but that rapid population growth and phenomenally high living standards, coupled with a continuing military emergency, are consuming materials of all kinds at a rate that calls for intelligent use and practical conservation of resources. No one is more aware of these hard facts than industries which produce the goods and services that keep the country going. One of the greatest benefits of the competitive system is its relentless push toward fullest utilization of natural resources. A pound of coal, a gallon of oil, a tree from the forest—all are used far more effectively now than ever before.

Ironically, a cause of great and needless waste of both energy and resources is found in the ideological warfare between the individual and the state being waged in our country. Politicians constantly seek to extend the authority of government while private citizens must constantly fight for rights and liberties which are supposed to be guaranteed to them under the Constitution. Government seizure of the steel industry was one example. Another is the long continuing effort of Socialist planners to destroy the right of property ownership by nationalizing the electric industry. The Socialists are actually the biggest stumbling block to such things as real flood control, conservation and maximum development of electric power facilities because these fine objectives are of secondary importance in their book. Socialism, which means making the state the master of the individual, is always first with them. The resultant waste of energy and materials that can be laid directly at their door is incalculable. This is the price we pay for trying to mix regulated private enterprise and socialism. The plain fact is we cannot afford it.

The Story Of Share Ownership

At the invitation of the New York Stock Exchange, the Brookings Institution undertook the first comprehensive analysis of the ownership of private industry and the composition of the share-owning population. The work has now been published, under the title "Share Ownership in the United States."

There are approximately 6,500,000 individual owners of publicly held stock issues. One in every 16 persons in the adult population owns shares in at least one stock issue. And there are 30,800,000 shareholdings in stock issues traded on the organized exchanges and over-the-counter—each holding by an individual or other owner (such as investment and insurance companies, foundations, etc.) counting as one shareholding.

As is to be expected, the level of income has a strong influence on share ownership—but this doesn't mean that you have to be rich to be a stockholder. Of the family units with incomes of $10,000 and above, 55 per cent include one or more share owners. In the $5,000-$10,000 bracket the figure is about 20 per cent, and in the $4,000-$5,000 range it is over seven per cent. And more than 200,000 families with incomes of less than $2,000 own shares in industry.

All of these people, whether they own one share of stock or many, have used part of their savings to buy what has been accurately described as shares in America. They are people who help make America strong and keep it free. It is to be hoped that many millions more will join their ranks in the future.

A Question Of Relativity

A short time ago the Senate Agricultural Committee reported that "the average manufacturing employe today can buy as much round steak and 29 per cent more pork chops with an hour's wages than was possible in 1947-48. It also said, "Today the average worker in manufacturing can buy more of all the important foods at retail prices with an hour's labor than in any earlier peacetime period such as 1947-48, 1935-39, or 1925-29.

"Press reports have given city people an impression that farmers increased their incomes in recent years at the expense of urban consumers. The facts do not support this popular impression."

Since that was released, the wholesale prices of many cuts and grades of livestock and meat have declined, and consumers have been finding more attractive buys. This the American Meat Institute pointed out, is the result of operation of the law of supply and demand--production of cattle by the packers, for example, has been running well ahead of last year.

[illegible] is the answer to those who believe that meat prices are out of all reason. The fact is that the average [illegible] income has increased a trifle more than prices have increased. So it can buy as much or more meat for a [illegible] of the household budget than it could in past [illegible]

[illegible] Department of Agriculture figures [illegible] that 60 per cent of the [illegible] spent during the 1935-39 [illegible] in 1947-48 the price of only [illegible] of meats was [illegible]

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

I'LL SEE IT ON TELEVISION

I was mauled, pushed shoved, stepped on and lied to at the Republican convention in Chicago. I sat in the press gallery and saw as little as the man next to me. I climbed on tables to watch a demonstration but always just at that moment a couple of hundred six-footers also climbed on tables.

In the convention hall old friends and pretty women were pleasantly distracting. The old friends always wanted to know what's happening and as most of them should have had as much information as I could have, I could only ask them "What's happening?" The few very, very bright boys explained it all but it never worked out their way.

In the hotels, I fought to get on the elevators. The girls who ran them were tired and snappy and acted as though they wanted us all to drop dead. Teen-agers in search of free Coca-Cola and children in search of buttons bumped into me, stepped on my toes, spattered my suit. To get to someone for the business my newspapers paid me to do, I literally had to wade through photographers. They squat, sit, crawl and do nearly anything to get a photograph.

I soon enough discovered that I could transact more business on the telephone than by running around from hotel to hotel. So I said to myself after my pulse beat had reached alarming proportions that it is just as efficient to telephone from my Berkshire hill-top as from the 15th floor of the Conrad Hilton Hotel. And I will not have to shut the window to keep out the noise of the street singers whose doggerel pollutes Chicago's air.

I have been to many conventions. I can reconstruct their atmosphere in any nightmare. I am acquainted with many leading men of both parties and they will tell me as much or as little on the telephone as they choose. In fact in two instances, I suggested the bathroom as a suitable place for private conversation with the hope that there would be no intrusion. Every move is watched because maybe "this is it."

TWO-PARTY SOUTH

One of the best things that could happen to the South as a region "two - party" region, a region where the vote is close and the outcome doubtful rather than a region where the vote almost always goes one way.

Thoughtful people know that the condition known as the "Solid South" is definitely to the disadvantage of the Southern region—and they would, have the same opinion no matter what party always got the Southern vote. In other words, such a conclusion is not a partisan conclusion but a purely reasonable conclusion based on what is best for the economic and social development of the South, without any reference to politics whatsoever.

When the South lost its war eighty-seven years ago, the Republican party was in power. It is quite understandable, therefore, both to historians and to students of human nature, why the South since that times has voted Democratic. Except for that now outgrown tradition, however, the South has long since lost any reason for depositing its franchise in a block upon the altar of the Democratic party. And the same reasoning would hold good if the South were a "one-party" Republican region.

In other words, let's forget for just a moment at least the words "Democratic" and "Republican." Let's consider what is best for any region of this nation under our traditional two-party system.

Strong competition is not only the life of trade, it is the life of governmental improvement in a Democratic nation. Two strong political parties vying for support must each strive to outdo the other in supporting and advancing those things which the people might decide are best for themselves. As a result, the law of averages itself should csuse any reasonable people to know that neither one of the parties is going to consistently offer the best program for the country. It simply would not be true to human nature. If it were true, then there would be every argument in the world for a "one-party nation," which we all know would eventually result in corruption and dictatorship.

Getting back to the situation in the South, we know that for eighty-seven years the South has received little recognition from either party—little from the Democratic party

NOTEBOOK

NEW YORK (AP)—For years my wife has been telling me:

"Why don't you dress like Cary Grant? He looks like he had been poured into his suits. You just kind of overflow yours."

Well, Grant came to town the other day after finishing his new picture, "Monkey Business," so I plodded up to his hotel to find out how to be well dressed.

When Grant opened the door it looked fairly easy to dress like him—All he had on was a big bath towel, and one man wears a bath towel pretty much like another.

The film actor explained he was dressed for the heat wave.

"It is an odd thing that New Yorkers, in all these years, haven't found a way to dress to cope with the humidity," he mused. "The Cubans have arrived at a thing—a pleated shirt worn outside the pants. It looks rather well."

When I explained my mission, Grant looked slightly depressed.

"Why don't you ask me something profound?" He said. "I haven't the slightest idea how I get on those best-dressed men lists."

Pressed to give his sartorial views, however, Grant gave thusly:

"They say that an interest in clothing is a sign of insecurity, and perhaps I had a feeling of insecurity in my youth. (Grant once was a carnival stilt walker).

"But I really feel that we owe it to our fellow man to look well. Clothes do affect people's manners. That is why the British dress formally even in the tropics. It keeps up their morale.

"However, I don't think that dignity of carriage should depend on, or go hand in hand, with discomfort. Good clothes should be comfortable as well as dressy."

Grant carries his own theory of comfort so far that he rarely wears a belt and never wears suspenders, garters or undershirts.

He was rather hard to pin down on what actually makes a well-dressed man.

"To look well-dressed you simply have to have a well-dressed look. I don't know myself what looks well and what doesn't.

"Perhaps the most noticeable thing about a man are his collar and tie—and a hat if he wears one. I look like hell in hats though.

"A shined pair of shoes is essential—if you can afford it. The wrong shoes can ruin a man. I have my shoes sent over from England. They cost $43 and they are far better than a $135 pair here.-'

That rather shook me. I didn't think even a pair of George Washington's old shoes would bring $135 today.

I asked Grant if he believed a wife should pick her husband's clothes.

"Some wives should," he said. "But my wife doesn't. She doesn't even pick her own—she wears blue jeans and a shirt. I select a dress for her now and then."

Just then a haberdasher came in and after a brief consultation with him Grant ordered a couple dozen home-made—I mean custom made—shirts.

After that I left, feeling rather depressed about the whole problem of being well-dressed.

Although light is often thought of as including only visible rays, there are invisible rays such as ultra-violet and infra-red which act in the same manner as light and are often called light.

What Others Say

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

GOP UNITY

A considerable minority of editors question whether General Eisenhower can unite, in his support, the factions of the Republican party so bitterly divided in the convention. But a large majority thinks the example already set by Senator Taft and Eisenhower, and the desire of all Republicans for victory in November will result in GOP campaign unity. A principal minority question is whether Governor Dewey's influence will continue old party divisions. But the majority view is that General Eisenhower himself will set the course for Republican unity in the coming election campaign.

Hempstead (N. Y.) Newsday (Ind.): "The GOP convention was a bitter one. . . . But this bitterness has now been wiped out by Sen. Taft's gracious and wholehearted meeting with the new nominee. Taft has pledged his support to Eisenhower. The general, in return, has acknowledged that he must have the votes of those who favor Taft — and, more importantly, must have the support of Taft and his backers in the house and senate. Sen. Bricker's speech announcing the dawn of an era of conciliation made this point in a moving fashion."

Louisville (Ky.) Times (Ind. - Dem.): "Despite the pledges of party solidarity, we find it hard to believe that the little group of stubborn, dedicated men who clung to Taft even at the end will work as hard for Eisenhower as they have worked for the senator who was their prophet and priest. At best these men are likely to give no more than perfunctory performance for the man who defeated Mr. Republican. The most disheartened may not do even that much. This, however, is all guesswork. From a Republican point of view it is gloomy guesswork."

Washington (D. C.) Post (Ind.): "The bitter fight between the Eisenhower and Taft forces both at the convention and before undoubtedly detracts from the value of the nomination. . . . If Senator Taft had won under these circumstances, the schism would probably have foreshadowed his defeat even if other factors did not. But with Eisenhower the nominee, the split is less serious. Senator Taft has many times pledged himself to support the winning ticket. Some Taftites will remain disgruntled, but they will have nowhere to go in November except into the Republican column."

Charlotte (N. C.) News (Ind. - Dem.): "This was more than a struggle between two men. By and large, the bulk of the Taft supporters are in what is known as the Old Guard of the Republican party. . . . They hoped, until the last, that the challenge of the more progressive Republicans would be turned back. Men can patch up differences, but ideas die slowly. Unless the supporters of Taft, especially those in the important industrial and agricultural areas of the great midwest, give Eisenhower more support than they gave Governor Dewey in 1944 and 1948, victory may once again be snatched from the grasp of their party."

Kansas City (Mo.) Times (Ind.): "The campaign for the nomination was a battle. . .But the delegates believed that after all the great issure was the need for a change in the administration at Washington. In the light of this overpowering fact, every candidate had pledged himself in advance to support of the convention nominee. So it may be expected that in accordance with the pledge of the candidates, reaffirmed after the nomination, ranks will close and the nominee will find himself the spearhead of forces united in their determination to win."

Birmingham (Ala.) News (Ind. - Dem.): "Taft's followers in the Republican convention felt bitterly toward Governor Dewey. Rightly or wrongly, they believe that Dewey has been directing the Eisenhower strategy. . .They think he was a nominee who had his own chances, that by standing in Taft's way for the third time he injured a Republican who twice supported him and now should have been allowed to try to do what Dewey couldn't do. . . .The bitterness developed during the campaign and in the convention won't be lessened if Dewey looms large on the Eisenhower board of strategy between now and November."

Chicago Daily News (Ind.): "The fear has been expressed that Eisenhower will be dominated by Gov. Dewey. . .Knowing Eisenhower as we do, and having a few reservations about some of his supporters, we still feel that the general will make his own decisions based upon a complete examination of the facts involved. . .Eisenhower is a generous, friendly man. . .Though the contest with Sen. Taft was bitter to the extreme, Eisenhower and Taft are not the type of men to let conflicts of the past rankle in their breasts. Ike can heal the party's wounds and unite all factions long before November."

CENTRALIA, Ill., (AP)—It took a Mattoon, Ill. couple back to pioneer days to travel 100 miles in a covered wagon. It also took them four days.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Reed had a hunch it would be tough. They hired a truck to take their home furnishings ahead to their new Mt. Carmel, Ill. home. They took the "hard way" because it seemed a good way to take their covered wagon relic and horse with them.

Peter Edson

IN WASHINGTON

CHICAGO —(NEA)— With 16 possible candidates for the Democratic nomination for President, anything can happen at the party's convention here. And it probably will.

By tradition and natural inclination, the Democrats have always put on a better show than the Republicans. The Democrats will have to go some this time, however, if they put on a better performance for drama, humor, suspense and fast action than the Republican vaudeville that is now gone but still not forgotten.

The shadow of the Republican nominee, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, of course, hangs over the Democratic fracas. If Senator Taft had been the GOP nominee, every Democrat from precinct committeeman up would have wanted to take him on. Against General Eisenhower, there may be some reluctance to run.

The 16 Democrats—and there may be others who crawl out of the stockyards woodwork—break down in three main groupus.

Heading the list are the Four Favorites. First is Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who claims from 300 to 400 delegate votes and actually has a little over 250 nailed down. Behind him is Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, with a claim of 300-vote first-ballot strength and a firm count of around 150.

The Nod is Truman's Official Blessing

Behind these two southerners are two northerners who are in the unusual position of hoping that they get The Nod. The Nod, of course, is recognition and an official blessing from President Harry S. Truman.

Up to now Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois has had The Nod held platter. But since he has been so reluctant to grab it and run, there is now considerable belief that The Nod will be given to W. Averell Harriman of New York.

Mr. Harriman has a little over 100 pledged delegate votes, but hopes he can muster 150 by first ballot time. Governor Stevenson has only 54 pledged delegates without ever having announced himself as a candidate, and he makes no claim of having any more. Doesn't want 'em, so he says.

In the group behind the Four Favorites are what might be known as the Seven Favorite Sons. The interesting thing about this Seven Sons group is that together they have 190 pledged delegates' votes.

This isn't enough to give any one of the Four Favorites the nomination. But it would give any candidate a big shove if it could be mustered behind him by the political bosses. It probably can't. Democrats just don't agree on things that easily.

The Democrats, it should be explained, don't count noses the way the Republicans do. This is to make it more confusing.

Almost All States Have Fractional Votes

The Democratic convention will have 1230 votes, with 616 necessary for a choice. But of the 1230 delegates, 886 district delegates will have a full vote apiece while 688 will have a half a vote apiece for a sub-total of 344.

This means that nearly every state will have fractional votes. And the confusion when they start polling big delegations like New York's 80 will really be something fancy.

Of the Seven Favorite Sons, Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma has 38 pledged votes. Vice President Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, 28; Robert J. Bulkley of Ohio, 27; Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, 40; Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, 26; Sen. Brien McMahon of Connecticut, 16, and Governor Dever of Massachusetts, 15.

Finally there are the Five Factions. These are the candidates—willing and unwilling—with splinter strength of from a half of one vote committed, like House Speaker Sam Rayburn, up to the grand total of three pledged to Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois.

Others in this group are Chief Justice Fred Vinson and ex-Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois and Justice Bill Douglas of Illinois.

Last but not least, as the 17th possible starter there is the old maestro himself, President Truman. He says he's not running. But he's going to get a starter of 14 votes, anyway.

Air Power Imperative

Amid continual rumors that the administration is dragging its feet in boosting airplane production so other branches of the military services will have more money to spend, Gen. Bonner Fellers, retired, writes in Human Events that air power and the atomic bomb will be decisive in the next war. An enemy capable of striking hard without danger of effective retaliation will be an easy victor.

"We need," says Fellers, "a strategic bombing force capable of repeated atomic attacks anywhere over Red territory. We need a small but adequate professional army and our present strength fleet to protect and supply essential bases. We need thousands of intercepters--fighter aircraft--to defend bases and key industrial and population centers against Red bombers. After these requirements are met, and only after they are met, do we dare invest heavily in foreign aid." Until U. S. air power is built up to adequate strength this country will be unable to protect itself, let alone Europe, General Fellers says.

After a decade of building air supremacy, General Fellers contends, this country would have the only really effective war deterrent and could win a war that was thrust upon it. After air power supremacy was achieved, taxes could be reduced because military strength would be an established fact and it would no longer be necessary to spend $50,000,000,000 or more a year.

General Fellers is a little off base there. Aircraft becomes outmoded so rapidly planes must constantly be replaced by later models.

Against the general's main argument is the position of many in the Pentagon that the infantry soldier is all-important and all other services exist to support him. Because Russia leads in potential foot soldiers, that argument contains depressing implications.

Air power is indispensable. Russia should never have been permitted to attain its present relative position in the air.

Socialism Breeds Waste

A group of experts known as the President's materials policy commission has been conducting a long-range economic study of the nation's resources. In the course of a five-volume report the conclusion is reached that the United States is exhausting its resources so rapidly that future security and economic expansion are "seriously" threatened.

There is no question but that rapid population growth and phenomenally high living standards, coupled with a continuing military emergency, are consuming materials of all kinds at a rate that calls for intelligent use and practical conservation of resources. No one is more aware of these hard facts than industries which produce the goods and services that keep the country going. One of the greatest benefits of the competitive system is its relentless push toward fullest utilization of natural resources. A pound of coal, a gallon of oil, a tree from the forest—all are used far more effectively now than ever before.

Ironically, a cause of great and needless waste of both energy and resources is found in the ideological warfare between the individual and the state being waged in our country. Politicians constantly seek to extend the authority of government while private citizens must constantly fight for rights and liberties which are supposed to be guaranteed to them under the Constitution. Government seizure of the steel industry was one example. Another is the long continuing effort of Socialist planners to destroy the right of property ownership by nationalizing the electric industry. The Socialists are actually the biggest stumbling block to such things as real flood control, conservation and maximum development of electric power facilities because these fine objectives are of secondary importance in their book. Socialism, which means making the state the master of the individual, is always first with them. The resultant waste of energy and materials that can be laid directly at their door is incalculable. This is the price we pay for trying to mix regulated private enterprise and socialism. The plain fact is we cannot afford it.

The Story Of Share Ownership

At the invitation of the New York Stock Exchange, the Brookings Institution undertook the first comprehensive analysis of the ownership of private industry and the composition of the share-owning population. The work has now been published, under the title "Share Ownership in the United States."

There are approximately 6,500,000 individual owners of publicly held stock issues. One in every 16 persons in the adult population owns shares in at least one stock issue. And there are 30,300,000 shareholdings in stock issues traded on the organized exchanges and over-the-counter—each holding by an individual or other owner (such as investment and insurance companies, foundations, etc.) counting as one shareholding.

As is to be expected, the level of income has a strong influence on share ownership—but this doesn't mean that you have to be rich to be a stockholder. Of the family units with incomes of $10,000 and above, 55 per cent include one or more share owners. In the $5,000-$10,000 bracket the figure is about 20 per cent, and in the $4,000-$5,000 range it is over seven per cent. And more than 200,000 families with incomes of less than $2,000 own shares in industry.

All of these people, whether they own one share of stock or many, have used part of their savings to buy what has been accurately described as shares in America. They are people who help make America strong and keep it free. It is to be hoped that many millions more will join their ranks in the future.

A Question Of Relativity

A short time ago the Senate Agricultural Committee reported that "the average manufacturing employe today can buy as much round steak and 29 per cent more pork chops with an hour's wages than was possible in 1947-48. It also said, "Today the average worker in manufacturing can buy more of all the important foods at retail prices with an hour's labor than in any earlier peacetime period such as 1947-48, 1935-39 or 1925-29.

"Press reports have given city people an impression that farmers increased their incomes in recent years at the expense of urban consumers. The facts do not support this popular impression."

Since that was released, the wholesale prices of many classes and grades of livestock and meat have declined, and consumers have been finding more attractive buys. This as the American Meat Institute pointed out, is the result of the operation of the law of supply and demand--production of beef by the packers, for example, has been running well ahead of last year.

Here is the answer to those who believe that meat prices are out of all reason. The fact is that the average family's income has increased a trifle more than prices have increased. So it can buy as much or more meat for a given percentage of its household budget than it could in past times.

This is borne out by Department of Agriculture figures which show that meat accounted for six per cent of the average consumer's disposable income during the 1930-39 period and five-and-one-half per cent during the 1948-51 period. The only sound way to evaluate the price of any article is in the light of the amount of money we bring home cash pay-day.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

I'LL SEE IT ON TELEVISION

I was mauled, pushed shoved, stepped on and lied to at the Republican convention in Chicago. I sat in the press gallery and saw as little as the man next to me. I climbed on tables to watch a demonstration but always just at that moment a couple of hundred six-footers also climbed on tables.

In the convention hall old friends and pretty women were pleasantly distracting. The old friends always wanted to know what's happening and as most of them should have had as much information as I could have, I could only ask them "What's happening?" The few very, very bright boys explained it all but it never worked out their way.

In the hotels, I fought to get on the elevators. The girls who ran them were tired and snappy and acted as though they wanted us all to drop dead. Teen-agers in search of free Coca-Cola and children in search of buttons bumped into me, stepped on my toes, spattered my suit. To get to someone for the business my newspapers paid me to do, I literally had to wade through photographers. They squat, sit, crawl and do nearly anything to get a photograph.

I soon enough discovered that I could transact more business on the telephone than by running around from hotel to hotel. So I said to myself after my pulse beat had reached alarming proportions that it is just as efficient to telephone from my Berkshire hill-top as from the 15th floor of the Conrad Hilton Hotel. And I will not have to shut the window to keep out the noise of the street singers whose doggerel pollutes Chicago's air.

I have been to many conventions. I can reconstruct their atmosphere in any nightmare. I am acquainted with many leading men of both parties and they will tell me as much or as little on the telephone as they choose. In fact in two instances, I suggested the bathroom as a suitable place for private conversation with the hope that there would be no intrusion. Every move is watched because maybe "this is it."

Now, this television machine intrigues me. It reduces greatness to its proper proportions. It destroys the synthetic build-up. Instead of dramatizing a situation it reduces it to its proper value. It lives without adjectives.

TWO-PARTY SOUTH

One of the best things that could happen to the South as a region "two - party" region, a region where the vote is close and the outcome doubtful rather than a region where the vote almost always goes one way.

Thoughtful people know that the condition known as the "Solid South" is definitely to the disadvantage of the Southern region—and they would have the same opinion no matter what party always got the Southern vote. In other words, such a conclusion is not a partisan conclusion but a purely reasonable conclusion based on what is best for the economic and social development of the South, without any reference to politics whatsoever.

When the South lost its war eighty-seven years ago, the Republican party was in power. It is quite understandable, therefore, both to historians and to students of human nature, why the South since that times has voted Democratic. Except for that now outgrown tradition, however, the South has long since lost any reason for depositing its franchise in a block upon the altar of the Democratic party. And the same reasoning would hold good if the South were a "one-party" Republican region.

In other words, let's forget for just a moment at least the words "Democratic" and "Republican." Let's consider what is best for any region of this nation under our traditional two-party system.

Strong competition is not only the life of trade, it is the life of governmental improvement in a Democratic nation. Two strong political parties vying for support must each strive to outdo the other in supporting and advancing those things which the people might decide are best for themselves. As a result, the law of averages itself should cause any reasonable people to know that neither one of the parties is going to consistently offer the best program for the country. It simply would not be true to human nature. If it were true, then there would be every argument in the world for a "one-party nation," which we all know would eventually result in corruption and dictatorship.

Getting back to the situation in the South, we know that for eighty-seven years the South has received little recognition from either party—little from the Democratic party

NOTEBOOK

NEW YORK (AP)—For years my wife has been telling me:

"Why don't you dress like Cary Grant? He looks like he had been poured into his suits. You just kind of overflow yours."

Well, Grant came to town the other day after finishing his new picture, "Monkey Business," so I plodded up to his hotel to find out how to be well dressed.

When Grant opened the door it looked fairly easy to dress like him—All he had on was a big bath towel, and one man wears a bath towel pretty much like another.

The film actor explained he was dressed for the heat wave.

"It is an odd thing that New Yorkers, in all these years, haven't found a way to dress to cope with the humidity," he mused. "The Cubans have arrived at a thing—a pleated shirt worn outside the pants. It looks rather well."

When I explained my mission, Grant looked slightly depressed.

"Why don't you ask me something profound?" He said. "I haven't the slightest idea how I get on those best-dressed men lists."

Pressed to give his sartorial views, however, Grant gave thusly:

"They say that an interest in clothing is a sign of insecurity, and perhaps I had a feeling of insecurity in my youth. (Grant once was a carnival stilt walker).

"But I really feel that we owe it to our fellow man to look well. Clothes do affect people's manners. That is why the British dress formally even in the tropics. It keeps up their morale.

"However, I don't think that dignity of carriage should depend on, or go hand in hand, with discomfort. Good clothes should be comfortable as well as dressy."

Grant carries his own theory of comfort so far that he rarely wears a belt and never wears suspenders, garters or undershirts.

He was rather hard to pin down on what actually makes a well-dressed man.

"To look well-dressed you simply have to have a well-dressed look. I don't know myself what looks well and what doesn't.

"Perhaps the most noticeable thing about a man are his collar and tie—and a hat if he wears one. I look like hell in hats though.

"A shined pair of shoes is essential—if you can afford it. The wrong shoes can ruin a man. I have my shoes sent over from England. They cost $43 and they are far better than a $135 pair here.-'

That rather shook me. I didn't think even a pair of George Washington's old shoes would bring $135 today.

I asked Grant if he believed a wife should pick her husband's clothes.

"Some wives should," he said. "But my wife doesn't. She doesn't even pick her own—she wears blue jeans and a shirt. I select a dress for her now and then."

Just then a haberdasher came in and after a brief consultation with him Grant ordered a couple dozen home-made—I mean custom made—shirts.

After that I left, feeling rather depressed about the whole problem of being well-dressed.

Although light is often thought of as including only visible rays, there are invisible rays such as ultra-violet and infra-red which act in the same manner as light and are often called light.

What Others Say

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

GOP UNITY

A considerable minority of editors question whether General Eisenhower can unite, in his support, the factions of the Republican party so bitterly divided in the convention. But a large majority thinks the example already set by Senator Taft and Eisenhower, and the desire of all Republicans for victory in November will result in GOP campaign unity. A principal minority question is whether Governor Dewey's influence will continue old party divisions. But the majority view is that General Eisenhower himself will set the course for Republican unity in the coming election campaign.

Hempstead (N. Y.) Newsday (Ind.): "The GOP convention was a bitter one. . . . But this bitterness has now been wiped out by Sen. Taft's gracious and wholehearted meeting with the new nominee. Taft has pledged his support to Eisenhower. The general, in return, has acknowledged that he must have the votes of those who favor Taft — and, more importantly, must have the support of Taft and his backers in the house and senate. Sen. Bricker's speech announcing the dawn of an era of conciliation made this point in a moving fashion."

Louisville (Ky.) Times (Ind. - Dem.): "Despite the pledges of party solidarity, we find it hard to believe that the little group of stubborn, dedicated men who clung to Taft even at the end will work as hard for Eisenhower as they have worked for the senator who was their prophet and priest. At best these men are likely to give no more than perfunctory performance for the man who defeated Mr. Republican. The most disheartened may not do even that much. This, however, is all guesswork. From a Republican point of view it is gloomy guesswork."

Washington (D. C.) Post (Ind.): "The bitter fight between the Eisenhower and Taft forces both at the convention and before undoubtedly detracts from the value of the nomination. . . . If Senator Taft had won under these circumstances, the schism would probably have foreshadowed his defeat even if other factors did not. But with Eisenhower the nominee, the split is less serious. Senator Taft has many times pledged himself to support the winning ticket. Some Taftites will remain disgruntled, but they will have nowhere to go in November except into the Republican column."

Charlotte (N. C.) News (Ind. - Dem.): "This was more than a struggle between two men. By and large, the bulk of the Taft supporters are in what is known as the Old Guard of the Republican party. . . . They hoped, until the last, that the challenge of the more progressive Republicans would be turned back. Men can patch up differences, but ideas die slowly. Unless the supporters of Taft, especially those in the important industrial and agricultural areas of the great midwest, give Eisenhower more support than they gave Governor Dewey in 1944 and 1948, victory may once again be snatched from the grasp of their party."

Kansas City (Mo.) Times (Ind.): "The campaign for the nomination was a battle. . .But the delegates believed that after all the great issure was the need for a change in the administration at Washington. In the light of this overpowering fact, every candidate had pledged himself in advance to support of the convention nominee. So it may be expected that in accordance with the pledge of the candidates, reaffirmed after the nomination, ranks will close and the nominee will find himself the spearhead of forces united in their determination to win."

Birmingham (Ala.) News (Ind. - Dem.): "Taft's followers in the Republican convention felt bitterly toward Governor Dewey. Rightly or wrongly, they believe that Dewey has been directing the Eisenhower strategy. . .They think he was a nominee who had his own chances, that by standing in Taft's way for the third time he injured a Republican who twice supported him and now should have been allowed to try to do what Dewey couldn't do. . . . The bitterness developed during the campaign and in the convention won't be lessened if Dewey looms large on the Eisenhower board of strategy between now and November."

Chicago Daily News (Ind.): "The fear has been expressed that Eisenhower will be dominated by Gov. Dewey. . .Knowing Eisenhower as we do, and having a few reservations about some of his supporters, we still feel that the general will make his own decisions based upon a complete examination of the facts involved. . .Eisenhower is a generous, friendly man. . .Though the contest with Sen. Taft was bitter to the extreme, Eisenhower and Taft are not the type of men to let conflicts of the past rankle in their breasts. Ike can heal the party's wounds and unite all factions long before November."

TRAVEL TOUGH

CENTRALIA, Ill., (AP)—It took a Mattoon, Ill. couple back to pioneer days to travel 100 miles in a covered wagon. It also took them four days.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Reed had a hunch it would be tough. They hired a truck to take their home furnishings ahead to their new Mt. Carmel, Ill. home. They took the "hard way" because it seemed a good way to take their covered wagon relic and horse with them.

Peter Edson

IN WASHINGTON

CHICAGO —(NEA)— With 16 possible candidates for the Democratic nomination for President, anything can happen at the party's convention here. And it probably will.

By tradition and natural inclination, the Democrats have always put on a better show than the Republicans. The Democrats will have to go some this time, however, if they put on a better performance for drama, humor, suspense and fast action than the Republican vaudeville that is now gone but still not forgotten.

The shadow of the Republican nominee, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, of course, hangs over the Democratic fracas. If Senator Taft had been the GOP nominee, every Democrat from precinct committeeman up would have wanted to take him on. Against General Eisenhower, there may be some reluctance to run.

The 16 Democrats—and there may be others who crawl out of the stockyards woodwork—break down in three main groupus.

Heading the list are the Four Favorites. First is Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who claims from 300 to 400 delegate votes and actually has a little over 250 nailed down. Behind him is Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, with a claim of 300-vote first-ballot strength and a firm count of around 150.

The Nod is Truman's Official Blessing

Behind these two southerners are two northerners who are in the unusual position of hoping that they get The Nod. The Nod, of course, is recognition and an official blessing from President Harry S. Truman.

Up to now Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois has had The Nod held platter. But since he has been so reluctant to grab it and run, there is now considerable belief that The Nod will be given to W. Averell Harriman of New York.

Mr. Harriman has a little over 100 pledged delegate votes, but hopes he can muster 150 by first ballot time. Governor Stevenson has only 54 pledged delegates without ever having announced himself as a candidate, and he makes no claim of having any more. Doesn't want 'em, so he says.

In the group behind the Four Favorites are what might be known as the Seven Favorite Sons. The interesting thing about this Seven Sons group is that together they have 190 pledged delegates' votes.

This isn't enough to give any one of the Four Favorites the nomination. But it would give any candidate a big shove if it could be mustered behind him by the political bosses. It probably can't. Democrats just don't agree on things that easily.

The Democrats, it should be explained, don't count noses the way the Republicans do. This is to make it more confusing.

Almost All States Have Fractional Votes

The Democratic convention will have 1230 votes, with 616 necessary for a choice. But of the 1230 delegates, 886 district delegates will have a full vote apiece while 688 will have a half a vote apiece for a sub-total of 344.

This means that nearly every state will have fractional votes. And the confusion when they start polling big delegations like New York's 80 will really be something fancy.

Of the Seven Favorite Sons, Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma has 38 pledged votes. Vice President Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, 28; Robert J. Bulkley of Ohio, 27; Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, 40; Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, 26; Sen. Brien McMahon of Connecticut, 16, and Governor Dever of Massachusetts, 15.

Finally there are the Five Factions. These are the candidates—willing and unwilling—with splinter strength of from a half of one vote committed, like House Speaker Sam Rayburn, up to the grand total of three pledged to Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois.

Others in this group are Chief Justice Fred Vinson and ex-Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois and Justice Bill Douglas of Illinois.

Last but not least, as the 17th possible starter there is the old maestro himself, President Truman. He says he's not running. But he's going to get a starter of 14 votes, anyway.

George E. Sokolsky: THESE DAYS

his thumb and pulled out a plum and said, "What a great guy am I."

So, I thought that I would watch the Democratic convention on television. I would see what the people see. would experience what millions of our people experience.

There may never be another chance to do a national convention just that way. Four years from now, the politicians will either be fed up with their exposure over television or this new instrument will have forced upon them a different, more sane. more decorous procedure.

History shows very few truly gigantic human beings. Most men who loom large in any period disappear in the next. Daniel Webster and Henry Clay are, in historic hindsight, enormous minds and personalities; yet, neither could be President. Small men who filled that office left hardly a mark on history. Zachary Taylor may have been something, but it takes some doing to recall him as President of the United States or Tyler and Buchanan and Van Buren. Yet, for them there were torch-light processions and lofty oratory and all the stuff that makes conventions.

So, O. K. I'll do it that way too. Here I sit, in the detachment of my farm, with nothing to disturb me but the static of a thunderstorm, watching television and talking to Chicago on the telephone. If it works, the bosses can save plenty on expense accounts, and the reader will have an interpretation of the story as he sees it unfold on television and from the reports on the telephone from some of the temporarily great.

Truman Sensing DOWN SOUTH

because it considered the South "safe" and "in the bag" anyway; none from the Republican party because it took the attitude it had no chance in the South and simply said, "What's the use?" The South has been the nation's political stepchild.

It is true, of course, that the Republican party might very well have made inroads in the South long ago if it had ever had sense enough to offer the people of the South a platform to which they could adhere. The changed principles of the Democratic party during the past twenty years, at least, have made it impossible for the South to blindly adhere to the party, regardless of the original causes for doing so.

This situation has offered the Republican party a wonderful opportunity in the South, but it is only now, as the 1952 platform is adopted, that it is showing any glimmers of intelligence along this line. As it was, the Southern delegation in congress during these years simply had to vote its own convictions, going along with their party leadership when they thought it was right and voting with the Republicans when they thought the administration was wrong. As a result, the South has, in effect, been as much Republican as Democratic. And thoughtful people realize that this has been the salvation of the nation during these years.

Should the Republican party now have the wisdom to openly proclaim its allegiance to those traditional Southern principles of individual freedom and local self-government and actively campaign in the South, while the Democratic party continues to support socialistic principles of state control, there would then be no further reason for a States Rights movement in the South and the South could very sensibly become the strong "Two-Party" region which it so greatly needs to be.

UNITED STATES POLL

PRINCETON, N. J., July 19 — Will the man favored by the majority of rank and file Democrats in the country be the one the leaders in the party convention in Chicago decide on as the presidential nominee?

The latest United States Poll survey of Princeton Research Service shows that Estes Kefauver remains the No. 1 choice of rank and file Democrats.

The Tennessee senator is favored by more Democratic voters than the next three candidates combined.

With he Democratic convention opening tomorrow, another southerner, Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, ranks next in popularity among the nation's Democratic voters. Then comes Illinois' Governor Adlai Stevenson and Vice-President Alben Barkley in that order.

A comparison of today's findings with those reported by the United States Poll on June 18, shows that Kefauver has had a 3 per cent drop in popularity during the last month, Russell, a 3 per cent gain; Stevenson, a 3 per cent; Barkley, a 4 per cent drop.

Princeton Research Service staff reporters personally presented a list of men who have been put forward for the Democratic nomination, to an accurate cross-section of the naton's voters who classify themselves as Democrats and asked: "Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Democratic party. Which one would you like to see nominated (named) as the Democratic candidate for president?" these were the results:

Democratic Voters Only, Nationally
Kefauver 41 per cent
Russell, 17 per cent
Stevenson, 13 per cent
Barkley, 9 per cent
Harriman, 5 per cent
F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., 5 per cent
Vinson, 2 per cent
Truman, 2 per cent
Paul Douglas, 2 per cent
Kerr, 1 per cent
McMahon, — *
Don't know 3 per cent
*—Less than one-half per cent

In the United States Poll survey reported on June 18, Kefauver led with 44 per cent; Russell came next with 14 per cent; then were Barkley with 13 per cent; Stevenson with 10 per cent; Harriman with 6 per cent; F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., with 4 per cent; 4 per cent favored other candidates, and 5 per cent expressed no preference.

It must be emphasized that today's survey findings are no indication as to who will get the Democratic nomination in Chicago this week. The choice of candidates is made by delegates to the national convention, not by any vote of the party rank and file.

Among the nation's voters classifying themselves as Independents, Kefauver also is the most popular choice for the Democratic nomination.

Kefauver was named more often by rank and file Independents than the combined vote for the next four candidates: Stevenson, Russell, Barkley, and Paul Douglas. The tally:

Independent Voters Only, Nationwide
Kefauver, 41 per cent
Stevenson, 13 per cent
Russell, 9 per cent
Barkley, 9 per cent
Paul Douglas, 7 per cent
Harriman, 5 per cent
Vinson, 4 per cent
F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., 3 per cent
Kerr, 1 per cent
Truman, — *
McMahon, — *
Don't Know, 8 per cent
*—Less than one-half per cent

In the June 18 report of the United States Poll, Kefauver polled 43 per cent of the Independent vote, followed by Stevenson with 13 per cent; Russell with 10 per cent; Barkley with 9 per cent; Douglas with 6 per cent; Harriman 5 per cent; other candidates 5 per cent; Don't know 9 per cent.

POLICE REPORTS

NEGRO ARRESTED

Monroe city police yesterday arrested Roosevelt Canfield, 27, Negro, Sterlington, on charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors. Canfield was booked at the Monroe city police station at 1:15 p. m. and was being held in the city jail last night. Police said it was his fourth drunken driving offense.

TWO IN FIGHT

A 16 - year - old white youth and a 25-year- old Negro were arrested in West Monroe shortly before 2 p. m. yesterday after a fight that occurred down one block of the main street. THESE DAYS his thumb and pulled out a plum and said, "What a great guy am I."

So, I thought that I would watch the Democratic convention on television. I would see what the people see. would experience what millions of our people experience.

There may never be another chance to do a national convention just that way. Four years from now, the politicians will either be fed up with their exposure over television or this new instrument will have forced upon them a different, more sane. more decorous procedure.

History shows very few truly gigantic human beings. Most men who loom large in any period disappear in the next. Daniel Webster and Henry Clay are, in historic hindsight, enormous minds and personalities; yet, neither could be President. Small men who filled that office left hardly a mark on history. Zachary Taylor may have been something, but it takes some doing to recall him as President of the United States or Tyler and Buchanan and Van Buren. Yet, for them there were torch-light processions and lofty oratory and all the stuff that makes conventions.

So, O. K. I'll do it that way too. Here I sit, in the detachment of my farm, with nothing to disturb me but the static of a thunderstorm, watching television and talking to Chicago on the telephone. If it works, the bosses can save plenty on expense accounts, and the reader will have an interpretation of the story as he sees it unfold on television and from the reports on the telephone from some of the temporarily great.

DOWN SOUTH

because it considered the South "safe" and "in the bag" anyway; none from the Republican party because it took the attitude it had no chance in the South and simply said, "What's the use?" The South has been the nation's political stepchild.

It is true, of course, that the Republican party might very well have made inroads in the South long ago if it had ever had sense enough to offer the people of the South a platform to which they could adhere. The changed principles of the Democratic party during the past twenty years, at least, have made it impossible for the South to blindly adhere to the party, regardless of the original causes for doing so.

This situation has offered the Republican party a wonderful opportunity in the South, but it is only now, as the 1952 platform is adopted, that it is showing any glimmers of intelligence along this line. As it was, the Southern delegation in congress during these years simply had to vote its own convictions, going along with their party leadership when they thought it was right and voting with the Republicans when they thought the administration was wrong. As a result, the South has, in effect, been as much Republican as Democratic. And thoughtful people realize that this has been the salvation of the nation during these years!

Should the Republican party now have the wisdom to openly proclaim its allegiance to those traditional Southern principles of individual freedom and local self-government and actively campaign in the South, while the Democratic party continues to support soialistic principles of state control, there would then be no further reason for a States Rights movement in the South and the South could very sensibly become the strong "Two-Party" region which it so greatly needs to be.

UNITED STATES POLL

PRINCETON, N. J., July 19 — Will the man favored by the majority of rank and file Democrats in the country be the one the leaders in the party convention in Chicago decide on as the presidential nominee?

The latest United States Poll survey of Princeton Research Service shows that Estes Kefauver remains the No. 1 choice of rank and file Democrats.

The Tennessee senator is favored by more Democratic voters than the next three candidates combined.

With he Democratic convention opening tomorrow, another southerner, Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, ranks next in popularity among the nation's Democratic voters. Then comes Illinois' Governor Adlai Stevenson and Vice-President Alben Barkley in that order.

A comparison of today's findings with those reported by the United States Poll on June 18, shows that Kefauver has had a 3 per cent drop in popularity during the last month, Russell, a 3 per cent gain; Stevenson, a 3 per cent; Barkley, a 4 per cent drop.

Princeton Research Service staff reporters personally presented a list of men who have been put forward for the Democratic nomination, to an accurate cross-section of the naton's voters who classify themselves as Democrats and asked: "Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Democratic party. Which one would you like to see nominated (named) as the Democratic candidate for president?" these were the results:

Democratic Voters Only, Nationally

Kefauver 41 per cent
Russell, 17 per cent
Stevenson, 13 per cent
Barkley, 9 per cent
Harriman, 5 per cent
F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., 5 per cent
Vinson, 2 per cent
Truman, 2 per cent
Paul Douglas, 2 per cent
Kerr, 1 per cent
McMahon, — *
Don't know 3 per cent

*—Less than one-half per cent

In the United States Poll survey reported on June 18, Kefauver led with 44 per cent; Russell came next with 14 per cent; then were Barkley with 13 per cent; Stevenson with 10 per cent; Harriman with 6 per cent; F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., with 4 per cent; 4 per cent favored other candidates, and 5 per cent expressed no preference.

It must be emphasized that today's survey findings are no indication as to who will get the Democratic nomination in Chicago this week. The choice of candidates is made by delegates to the national convention, not by any vote of the party rank and file.

Among the nation's voters classifying themselves as Independents, Kefauver also is the most popular choice for the Democratic nomination.

Kefauver was named more often by rank and file Independents than the combined vote for the next four candidates: Stevenson, Russell, Barkley, and Paul Douglas. The tally:

Independent Voters Only, Nationwide

Kefauver, 41 per cent
Stevenson, 13 per cent
Russell, 9 per cent
Barkley, 9 per cent
Paul Douglas, 7 per cent
Harriman, 5 per cent
Vinson, 4 per cent
F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., 3 per cent
Kerr, 1 per cent
Truman, — *
McMahon, — *
Don't Know, 8 per cent

*—Less than one-half per cent

In the June 18 report of the United States Poll, Kefauver polled 43 per cent of the Independent vote, followed by Stevenson with 13 per cent; Russell with 10 per cent; Barkley with 9 per cent; Douglas with 6 per cent; Harriman 5 per cent; other candidates 5 per cent; Don't know 9 per cent.

18 REVIVALS IN FRANKLIN SET

Will Start In Many Churches Today; List Is Given

WINNSBORO, July 19. (Special)—Eighteen Baptist churches in Franklin parish have announced special evangelistic services, most of which will begin July 20 and continue for from one to two weeks.

According to Rev. T. H. Mercer, representative of the Deer Creek Baptist association, in which Franklin parish Baptist churches are included, the meetings are being held as part of a "simultaneous evangelistic crusade" being participated in by more than 100 northeast Louisiana churches.

Most of the churches have scheduled twice - a - day services.

Franklin parish churches which will take part in the simultaneous revivals are:

Winnsboro First Baptist — July 20-27; Dr. C. E. Autrey evangelist; Rev. C. B. Hall pastor. Services will be held in the Winnsboro High school auditorium, where the church is worshipping temporarily during construction of their new building.

West Winnsboro Baptist — July 20 - August 3; Rev. Charles Talley, evangelist; Rev. Raymond Collier pastor.

Wisner Baptist — Beginning July 20; Rev. Welsh Green, evangelist; Rev. John Dent pastor.

Gilbert Baptist — Beginning July 27; Dr. W. L. Holcomb, evangelist; Rev. S. G. Pope, pastor.

Baskin Baptist — Beginning July 20; Rev. H. H. O'Bier, evangelist; Rev. L. Luer Johnson, pastor.

Boeuf River Baptist — August 6-16; Rev. J. E. Swinson, evangelist; Rev. W. E. Buckelew pastor.

North Central Baptist — August 3-8; Rev. J. O. McNair, evangelist; Rev. C. S. Wroten, pastor.

Holly Grove Baptist — Beginning July 20; Rev. L. C. Coats, evangelist; Rev. W. Braswell, pastor.

Fish Bayou Baptist — Beginning July 20; Rev. W. A. Elliott, evangelist; Rev. M. J. Martin, pastor.

Crockett Point Baptist — July 20-28; Rev. John Kitchingham, evangelist; Rev. Chas. L. Moore, pastor.

Lone Pine Baptist — August 3 - 10; Rev. E. N. Weaver, evangelist; Rev. Fred Keys, pastor.

Coax Baptist — Beginning August 10; Rev. B. T. Bishap, evangelist; Rev. Allen Davis, pastor.

Special religious song services are to be held in connection with each of these meetings.

The general public has been extended an invitation to attend the services by all of the churches.

PLASTICS DESIGNER

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. John T. Leach's interest in sewing has resulted in her combining a family with a career as director of design and research for a plastic products company in Akron, O.

She got into the work after friends urged her to present a clothespin apron design to a manufacturer. She was hired and now designs such items as aprons, raincoats, curtains and cosmetic capestoles.

Mrs. Leach leaves a temporary housekeeper in charge of her two young children when she commutes to work.

PHOTOGENIC IS IN THIRD WEEK

Contest Will Close August 18; Many Valuable Prizes Are Offered

The third week of the Miss Photogenic contest began today with more than 50 entries already received by the Larry Robinson studio. The contest will close August 18.

Winner of the contest, sponsored by the Monroe News-Star — World and Larry Robinson Studio, will be given a three - day all-expense paid trip to New Orleans via Delta Airlines, as well as valuable prises donated by local merchants.

The contest is unique in that it is so simple. Any young lady between the ages of 18 and 30, whether married or single, can enter merely by stopping at the Larry Robinson Studio, fifth floor of the Bernhardt building, and having her picture made. The picture will not be given to the contestant but will be turned over to the Monroe News - Star — World which will publish the picture. Not all of the contestants' pictures will appear in the paper due to the large number of entrants.

Larry Robinson has stressed that this is not strictly a beauty contest. The expert photographer says that many women who are not really beautiful are highly photogenic and are the subjects of lovely photographs.

Judge of the contest will be the chief stewardess of Delta Airlines. All contestants are urged to have their photographs made without charge as soon as possible so that the proper attention may be given developing and printing.

Many Monroe merchants have also donated gifts to be presented to Miss Photogenic. The merchants and the gifts which they will give are as follows: Leon's Beauty Salon, shampoo, set and manicure; Silverstein's; nylon slip; Peacock's exquisite pearl necklace; Tem theater, two weeks of free passes; Mary's Flower Shop, corsage; Virginia Pharmacy, box of candy, Cannon's Drug, a Max Factor set; Mangel's, par of niyon hose; Monroe airport, free sight-seeing tour over Monroe; Hollywood restaurant, a free dinner; Larry Robinson studio, life size oil portrait.

EMPEROR GETS BUS

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie has received his American-built luxury bus and is planning his first provincial tour in the vehicle.

The cost of the bus was reported to be $20,000. It has sleeping compartments, a bath, kitchen and dining room.

IT SURE PILES UP—The boss may be away politickin', but the mailman never slows down on his appointed rounds. That's the sad fact realized by Sen. Richard M. Nixon, Republican candidate for the vice presidency. Above, he and his personal secretary, Rose Woods, look over some of the unanswered mail that piled up while the senator was at the GOP Convention in Chicago.

Negro Nurses Urged To Attend Meeting

All licensed practical Negro nurses who are interested in nursing service are urged to be present Thursday, July 24 at 6 p. m. for a meeting at the Martin Temple church for enrollment in extension classes.

The announcement of the classes was made by Lucille Cullipepper.

FOLLOWS BROTHER

BOSTON (AP) — Miss Christine Thompson saw her brother off recently for a visit to their home town in County Galway, Ireland.

Then she went to an Irish Counties Field Day in nearby Brookline where she took a chance of a prize. To her surprise she won.

The prize was a round-trip plane ticket to Ireland. She packed up immediately to try to beat her brother to the Emerald Isle.

BUTLER DELTA HEAD OF SALES

W. Fred Southerland Appointed By Store In Sales Capacity

B. E. "Bonnie" Butler has been named as the active sales manager in charge of the Delta Furniture Company, 133 North Grand. He has been associated with the company for a number of years.

Mr. Butler who has had 19 years of active service in the furniture business here in Monroe resides at 405 Layton. He has one daughter, who is married and living in New Orleans.

The new manager is active in church affairs.

The executives of Delta Furniture further annunced the appointment of W. Fred Southerland in a sales capacity. Southerland, who resides at 107 Kentucky street, was formerly connected with the Louisville Appliance Company. He has two children and is active in church work.

A cordial invitation was extended to all friends of Delta Furniture and citizens of the Twin Cities and northeast Louisiana to visit at the store and become acquainted with Mr. Butler and Mr. Southerland. The sotre is also under going redecoration.

HAS PUSATING MATTRESS

DALLAS (AP) — Parkland Hospital has a pulsating mattress designed to relieve possible bed sores of bulbar polio patients or those having other types of paralysis. It is one of the first to be used in the Southwest.

Pulsation of the mattress eases body pressure areas and forces blood circulation. The mattress is also said to be useful on rocking beds which by use of a rocking motion, allow the patient to breathe easier.

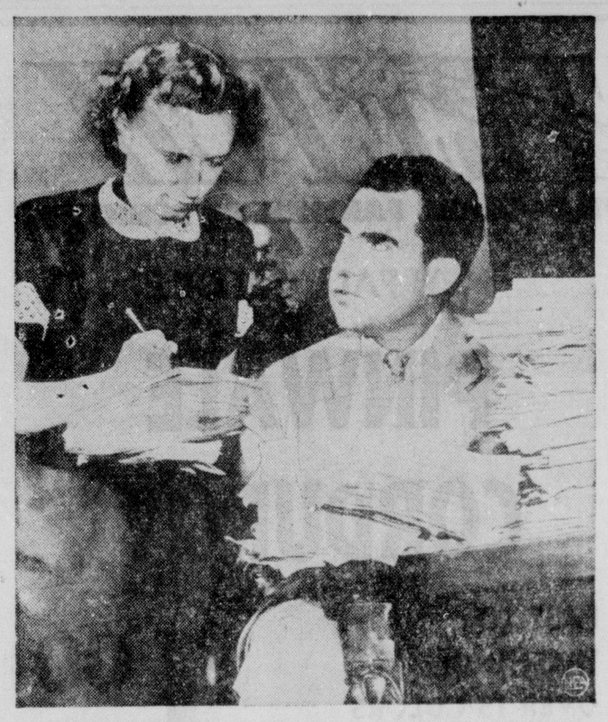
EMPEROR GETS BUS

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie has received his American-built luxury bus and is planning his first provincial tour in the vehicle.

The cost of the bus was reported to be $20,000. It has sleeping compartments, a bath, kitchen and dining room.



IT SURE PILES UP—The boss may be away politickin', but the mailman never slows down on his appointed rounds. That's the sad fact realized by Sen. Richard M. Nixon, Republican candidate for the vice presidency. Above, he and his personal secretary, Rose Woods, look over some of the unanswered mail that piled up while the senator was at the GOP Convention in Chicago.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK AT CHURCH

Will Address Covenant Presbyterian Women At Meeting Tuesday

Mrs. J. M. Sydenstricker, who has been a missionary in Brazil for 33 years, will speak to the women of the Covenant Presbyterian church at their July general meeting on Tuesday. This meeting is usually held the third Tuesday of every month, but was re-scheduled this month for July 22 in order to include this outstanding missionary on the program.

Mrs. Sydenstricker is the former Myrtle Margaret Stosberg of Concordia, Mo. She received the B. S. degree from the University of Missouri; the M. S. from the Polytechnic Institute in Kansas City, and also studied at the Kennedy School of Missions in Hartford, Conn.

On April 18, 1919, she was appointed a missionary and following her marriage on June 26, 1919, to Rev. John Marion Sydenstricker of Lewisburg, W. V., sailed to Brazil on September 10 of that year. She and her husband have been serving at Dourados in the interior state of Mato Grosso., in the territory of Ponta Pora, Brazil, near the Paraguan border. They have three sons.

Through the efforts of the Sydenstrickers the Goldsby King Memorial hospital has been built at Dourados. It is an evangelical hospital, where spirits as well as bodies are healed. Mrs. Sydenstricker says, "There is daily worship in scripture, song, and prayer; and the happy Christian spirit prevails." Every Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Sydenstricker tells Bible stories, using a flannel board. She can tell many stories of outstanding conversions in the hospital. Besides their hospital work, the Sydenstrickers travel up and down the federal agricultural colony telling Bible stories, teaching, and preaching. One of their churches is 50 miles from Dourados. Every Sunday they conduct three services in three different places.

This is the Sydenstrickers' fourth furlough in 33 years. But, even when she is on vacation, Mrs. Sydenstricker is constantly in demand as a speaker. She spoke last week in Shreveport and has several engagements scheduled for next week in Texas.

Since this will be her only appearance in Monroe, all women of the Monroe area are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to hear Mrs. Sydenstricker. The meeting will begin at 2:30 in room 104 of the science building at Northeast Louisiana State College.

At present Mrs. Sydenstricker is visiting her sister, Mrs. D. L. O'Neal, in Ruston.

FERRIDAY GETS NEW BAND HEAD

Val Marshall Of Logansport Named To Lead High School Group

FERRIDAY, July 19 (Special)—Val Marshall, of Logansport, La., formerly of Natchez, Miss., is the new director of the Ferriday High School band.

Marshall, who has had five years experience and is working toward his master degree at Louisiana State University, will fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Forrest F. Griffin, who is now operating a music store in Natchez, Miss.

The local band is rated as one of the outstanding bands in the nation and represented the state at the American Legion convention.

Other appointments include:

Miss Aline Strickland, Kentwood, who will take the place of Miss Fannie Cox in the Clayton elementary school. Miss Strickland taught four years in the Quincy elementary school. She is a graduate of Southeastern Louisiana College at Hammond.

Mrs. Lois Howell, Ferriday, is to teach in the place of Mrs. Betty Nelson in the fourth grade of the Ferriday elementary school.

Miss Nancy Tullos, Varnado, new commercial teacher for Monterey to take the place of J. A. Davidson, who resigned. She is a graduate of Southeastern Louisiana College. A vacancy exists in the lower elementary division of the Ferriday elementary school and in the Clayton elementary school.

WALLACE HEADS ELECTRIC STORE

Appointed Manager Of Sales At Louisville Avenue Place Of Business

G. F. Becker, president of United Electric Service, Inc., recently announced the appointment of Ken I. Wallace as sales manager of the local store, located at 903 Louisville. Wallace succeeds J. H. Votaw, who returned to California to assume management of a family concern.

Wallace has had 20 years of experience in merchandising, appliances and air conditioning at all levels from that of manufacturer to retail salesman. This experience eminently qualifies him for the job as manager of the United Electric store.

His past connections with Servel appliances have resulted in his knowing a number of persons in Monroe and this area Wallace expressed pleasure with his being located in Monroe. He comes here from Dallas, Tex.

In making the announcement of Wallaces appointment, Becker also stated that Billy Neill has been appointed service division manager. Neill is well - known throughout this area, having worked here for a number of years. The appointment of Neill, Becker said, was to strengthen the service division.

STATE POLICE

Nine arrests were made during the past week by members of Troop F of the Louisiana state police, according to a report issued Friday. Four of the arrests were for reckless driving, with two others for speeding and others for improper lights and carrying a concealed weapon.

Wayne A. Hargrave, 21, 2325 East Madison street, Bastrop, was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon, disturbing the peace and resisting arrest.

Charged with speeding were Raymond H. Griffin, 31, Route 1, Kosciusko, Miss., and Edward O. Cast, 23, 1021 28th street, Birmingham, Ala.

Elisha Sanders, 38, route 1, Delhi, was apprehended for improper lights.

John D. Seaman, 28, 1707 Holland avenue, Phenix City, Ala., and James White, 27, Negro, 2829 2nd street, Alexandria, were arrested for reckless driving and Lonnie Williams, 51-year-old Negro, Rayville, for reckless driving, causing an accident, improper brakes and having no drivers license.

Joe Reddick, 42, Rayville, and William A. Kellum, 34, 2601 Mission street, Fort Worth, Tex., were arrested for reckless driving and causing an accident.

SPORTS FAIL IN CLUTCH; INDIANS WIN, 4 TO 1

DICK THOMPSON LIMITS MONROE TO 5 SAFE HITS

Locals Miss Bases-Loaded Chances In 2 Innings

Manager Charley Harrington returned to active duty as skipper of the Monroe Sports last night after being out of action nearly a month as the result of a "beaning" at Greenwood, but the Sports couldn't furnish him with a victory as they fell before the Natchez Indians, 4 to 1, in the first of a two-game stand here. The clubs meet again this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Dick Thompson handcuffed the Sports on five hits but he practically offered them winning chances in the seventh and eighth by loading the bases. The Sports didn't have the necessary power at the plate to take advantage of the two big chances to save a good pitching performance for Johnny Myers.

The Sports loaded the bases with none out in the seventh on a single by Virgil Bivens and free passes to Ray Rogers and Pat Saviano, batting for Myers. They were left stranded. in the eighth Thompson walked Nels Daehn, Rogers and Bivens to fill the bags again with two out. Thompson then turned the mound chores over to Pete Bardin who faced only four batters to finish the game.

Ronald Lurk hurled the last two frames for Monroe, retiring six batters in order. Errors played their part in helping the Indian cause along, and the lone Monroe tally was the result of Natchez miscues.

Among the spectators last night was Pat Monahan, St. Louis Cardinal scout who has been beating the bushes for baseball talent nearly 35 years. If he saw anything worth attention last night, he was keeping his notes to himself.

The Redskins drew first blood in the fourth inning when Hal Walther, hit by a pitched ball, scored all the way from first when Jim Long missed Ray Roger's throw to third after the Monroe outfielder had picked up a single off the bat of Bill Carr. The error permitted Carr to go to second, he stole third and scored on a single by Hank Adkins.

In the sixth inning Bill Brightwell was safe when Jones dropped his hopper. Walther, who had reached base ten successive times against the Sports, eight times on hits, once on a walk and again when hit by a pitched ball, had his string snapped when he flyed out to Daehn in center field. Troy Mitchell singled into center field and went on to second when Daehn threw Brightwell out at the plate. Carr singled along the left field line, scoring Mitchell, and raced on to second when Weber had trouble fielding the ball. A single by Adkins scored Carr.

Monroe broke into the scoring column in the bottom of the sixth when George Andrews was safe as Carr muffed his grounder, went to second on a single by Jesse Van Winkle, advanced on a wild pitch and scored when Mitchell missed a third strike on Daehn that allowed the latter to reach first base.

ROWDY PIERSALL ADVISED TO REST

May Not Rejoin Barons After Suspension Lifted

BOSTON, July 19 (AP)— General Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox today announced rookie Outfielder Jim Piersall will take an indefinite rest on advice of physicians.

Piersall has been in Boston while serving a three-day suspension from the Birmingham, Ala., Barons of the Southern Association.

"After consultation and advice of doctors," Cronin told newsmen, "Jimmy Piersall is going to take a rest."

"The ball club (Red Sox) is interested in Piersall himself, not in where he plays or what position he plays. I'm sorry I cannot elaborate on the subject."

At Piersall's home in suburban Newton, a woman identifying herself as a "baby-sitter" said he had gone to the beach.

Earlier, Piersall said he didn't know whether he was supposed to return to the Southern Association club tomorrow.

Cronin took the Waterbury, Conn., youth for an automobile ride yesterday and Cronin said he gave Piersall "a fatherly talk."

Piersall was suspended following a tiff with a Southern Association umpire in a game with Atlanta. It was the fourth time he's been disciplined since the Red Sox sent him down June 28 because his antics bothered Manager Lou Boudreau and his teammates.

Curtis Brothers Square Off Against Scott, Kelly In Tag Team Bout Here

Match Headlines Wrestling Card At Kallio's Tuesday

"Mighty" Scott and "Irish" Jack Kelly take on the Curtis brothers, Jack and George. in a tag team wrestling match at Gus Kallio's Arena here Tuesday night.

Scott and Kelly, who have been here as partners three times during the past three weeks, took their first win last Tuesday night, beating George Curtis and Rex Mobley in the third fall of a best two-out-of-three match.

George evidently didn't take his licking any too well and returns this time with big brother Jack, a tussler renowned in this area for taking the wind out of the sails of a few of the tough boys.

He has met both Kelly and Scott before and came off winner, but it appears that Scott at least has learned a few tricks since they last met as he now holds the title of world's light heavyweight champion formerly held by Curtis.

He didn't whip Curtis to get it, however. He whipped the man that whipped Curtis, rowdy "Sockeye" McDonald, the ex - lumberjack from Oregon, who took it from Curtis.

Jack and George make a good tag team pair, though, and might still take the other pair, since George is no slouch at wrestling himself. Good in a tag team match at almost any time, he always seems to be in extra good form when his brother is helping him along.

Jack Curtis hasn't appeared here in a good many weeks, but he seemingly hasn't lost any of his old appeal. Kallio said yesterday that a good many fans had inquired as to whether the price would be raised since he was coming back, and he hastened to assure them that it would not.

Always a favorite with the Monroe fans, Curtis puts on a good show, never uses unfair tactics unless the other side starts it off, and manages to win a good 90 per cent of his matches here.

Scott and Kelly, who have shown fans their style of wrestling during the preceding three weeks, will probably put on the same type of show Tuesday night.

Two 10-minute time limit semi-final events will precede the tag team match. The doors will open at Kallio's at 7 o'clock and the curtain will go up at 8:15 o'clock.

Kings Of Little League To Be Settled Aug. 29

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 19 (AP)—The final game of the Little League's World Series will be played here on Friday, Aug. 29, instead of Saturday Aug. 30, Commissioner Carl E. Stotz said today.

The eight regional champions of the Little League, restricted to players eight through 12 years old, start an elimination tourney on Tuesday, Aug. 26. Stotz said the date of the final was changed to avoid the Labor Day weekend traffic.

T-M FINALISTS ARE COE, REED

Bill Carey, Ed Hopkins Bow Out In Semi-Finals

DENVER, July 19 (AP)—Charley Coe, the two - time winner from Oklahoma City, and Buster Reed, Sanger, Tex., scored victories today in the semi-finals of the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

Coe, champion in 1947 and 1949, and Reed, a member of the North Texas State National Collegiate golf champions, will play for the title over 36 holes tomorrow at the 6,711-yard par 70 Lakewood Country Club course.

Coe, who has been off form the past few days, played top flight golf in ousting Bill Carey, Denver, 4 and 3. Coe's putter behaved perfectly. He canned a 15-footer for a birdie 2 on the 184-yard No. 3 and drilled in a 20-footer for a birdie 2 on the 137-yard No. 11.

Reed chipped within three feet of the pin on the 358-yard No. 17 and holed out for a birdie 3 that put him one up on Ed Hopkins, Abilene, Tex. Reed won the match by halving the 18th.

'Flying Finn', Paavo Nurmi, Carries Flame Into Olympic Stadium

HELSINKI, July 19 (AP) — Paavo Nurmi, the original "Flying Finn" who made track history in the 20's, came back to the cinder path today for a brief moment of glory.

A score of years after he was barred from the 1932 games because of alleged professionalism, the bald, thickening businessman ran gracefully around the brick red track of the Olympic Stadium carrying the Olympic torch on the last lap of its journey from Greece.

The identity of the runner to receive the great honor of carrying the torch on the last leg of the journey from Mount Olympus was a deep secret closely guarded by the Finnish organizing committee.

There was no announcement of the identity today either, but the 70,000 wildly-cheering Finns needed no announcement as Nurmi moved around the track with the same long, easy strides he used in breaking every record from 1,500 meters to 20 kilometers from 1921 to 1931. He circled the track once, leaped nimbly over a barrier and passed the flame to the man who was to carry it up the Olympic tower.

Thus Finland, organizing its first Olympics, paid the highest tribute possible to the man who had won six gold medals and three silver medals for Finland during the 1920, 1924 and 1928 games.

Nurmi, now a 55-year-old businessman, says he will take the next two weeks off to sit in an honorary reserved seat and watch the runners assail his old enemy, father time.

Great Circle 1st In Sunset Sprint

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 19 (AP)—Great Circle won the $50,000 Sunset Handicap, getaway day feature at Hollywood Park today.

Great Circle, a 24-to-1 longshot in the betting, won a whipping duel down the stretch with Stormy Cloud. The Yolo stable's black five-year-old, winner of the rich Santa Anita Maturity in 1951, was never worse than third, and took over at the head of the stretch.

Until then, Abe Hirschberg's Admiral Drake, the 6-5 favorite coupled with Moonrush, had things all his own way. Third place went to Calumet farm's speedy mare, Wistful.

Great Circle paid $50.60, $19.70 and $11.80; Stormy Cloud $6.20 and $4.20; Wistful $3.60.

MARK-YE-WELL CLASSIC VICTOR

Armageddon Second In $140,450 Arlington Feature

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—The combination of famed Calumet farm, Trainer Ben Jones, Jockey Eddie Arcaro and the horse, Mark - Ye - Well today was more than enough to win $105,375, the richest purse in 3-year-old racing history.

Over a muddy racing strip at Arlington Park, Jockey Arcaro guided Mark-Ye-Well to a five lengths victory in the Arlington Classic mile.

Closest to Mark-Ye-Well at the finish was the Cain Hoy stables' one - eyed colt, Armageddon; with Sub Fleet, second to Hill Gail in the 1952 Kentucky Derby, third, and an outsider, King Beast, fourth in a field of nine.

Sub Fleet, owned by the Dixiana stable, went to the post a 2-1 favorite.

Armageddon finished with a lead of one and one half lengths over Sub Fleet, which had a margin of two and one half lengths over King Beast.

Following King Beast in the order of finish were Emerald Hills' stables' Blue Dare in fifth place;-Red Top stables' Red Charger sixth; King Ranch's High Scud seventh; Stanley Mickell's Brush Burn eighth, and Mrs. Ethel G. Bandy's Errad's Guide, ninth and last.

Mark -Ye - Well, never before a starter in a stakes event, splashed through the muddy mile in 1:39-1-5.

Mark - Ye - Well returned $8.40, $4, and $2.60. The place and show prices on Armageddon were $4.60 and $3.20, with Sub Fleet paying $2.80 to show.

Plans Complete For K. Of C. Golf

CROWLEY, La. July 18 (Special) — The annual golf tournament sponsored by the Louisiana State Council, Knights of Columbus, will be held at Morgan City Aug. 9-10, State Deputy Emile Reggie, Crowley has announced.

Louisiana's newest major course, at the St. Mary Country Club, will be the site of the tournament, which will be a 27-hole medal play affair. Nine holes of qualifying rounds will be posted Saturday, Aug. 9, and 18 holes will be played the following day.

Dr. William E. Barletta and Warren J. Fortier of the Morgan City K. of C. council have been appointed co-chairmen of the tournament. They announced that trophies will be awarded for the first two places in each flight and for the highest score in each flight.

Trophies will be awarded at a presentation banquet Sunday night. A shrimp-boil is planned for Saturday night.

Reservations are available through Dr. Barletta and Fortier at Morgan City, Reggie said.

Spatafora's Grocery, Three-Way Finance In Softball Finals Here

District Championship To Be Decided This Afternoon

Three-Way Finance moved undefeated through the first day's play in the annual district championship softball tournament here yesterday and will meet once-beaten Spatafora Grocery in one or two games here this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock on the Barkdull Faulk diamond, to decide the title.

Only one game will be needed if Three-Way can win the 2 p. m. assignment today. But, if Spatafora's Grocers come through, a second game will follow immediately to settle the issue in the double elimination tournament.

Three-Way defeated Gay Clothing, 6 to 2, in the first game of the day for the Financiers after Gay had knocked off Spatafora Grocery, 3 to 1. Three-Way moved into the finals today by defeating Red Shield Club, 11 to 2, after the Shielders had knocked off Temple Baptists of Ruston, 9 to 2.

Then in the losers' bracket, Spatafora crushed the Ruston club, 16 to 5, eliminated Gay Clothing, 5 to 4, and brushed aside Red Shield Club, 14 to 3.

The day's work saw Three-Way move into today's schedule needing to play only two games. Spatafora, on the other hand, played four and is in the position of having work two more today if the Grocers can take the district crown.

ALERTED TAKES QUESTIONNAIRE

Favored Combat Boots Home 2nd; Greek Ship 3rd

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—Hampton stable's Alerted closed with a rush in the stretch to win the $25,000 Questionnaire Handicap before 28,878 fans as the one-week meeting of the Empire City Racing Association wound up at Jamaica race track today.

The 4-year-old son of Bull Lea-Hastily Yours, piloted by Conn McCreary, scored by three quarters of a length over Putnam stable's Combat Boots, the favorite, who had another three quarters of a length over Brookmeade stable's Greek Ship.

The time for the mile and an eighth was a moderate 1:44.

Third choice in the wagering, Alerted returned mutuels of $10.60, $4.30 and $3. Combat Boots paid $3.50 and $2.50 and Greek Ship paid $3 to show.

It was the colt's fifth victory in 17 starts and worth $19,750 to Frank Stout, Malden, Mass., auto dealer, who owns the Hampton stable.

The race lost much of its glamor when Charfran stable's Crafty Admiral, a galloping winner in the Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct last week, was a late withdrawal.

Aga Kahn Horse Triumphs Again

ASCOT, England, July 19 (AP)—Tulyar, the stretch-running thoroughbred owned by the Aga Khan, came from behind again today to win the $77,420 King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes and become the greatest money winner for the mile and a half was 2:33 2-5.

Although he rewarded his backers in the crowd at the rate of three to one, Tulyar took down the winner's share of $67,435 and made his owner, already one of the richest men in the world, the most successful race horse owner in Britain this year. His horses have won $191,248, including $168,185 won by Tulyar. The horse's total earnings now stand at $170,231.

Gay Time was second with Worden finishing third.

The finish was an almost exact duplicate of the English Derby, which was won by Tulyar with Gay Time right on his heels. Gay Time went off at odds of 15 to 8 in the field of 25 starters today and Worden was 25 to 1.

Larson Battles Savitt In Finals

INDIANAPOLIS, July 19 (AP)—Top - seeded Dick Savitt, Orange, N. J., and third-ranked Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., outlasted older opponents to win semi - final victories in the Western Tennis Tournament today.

Their victories set up the championship match Sunday as a rematch of the National Clay Courts title duel of Last Sunday. Larsen, a 27 - year -old lefthander, upset 25 - year - old Savitt in that one.

Savitt had a 12-year advantage in age as he beat fourth seeded Gardnar Mulloy, Miami, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Larsen beat 23-year-old Billy Talbert, New York, who was seeded second, 6-2, 3-7, 6-3, 10-8.

Top - seeded Anita Kanter, 19, Santa Monica, Calif., defeated 18-year-old Karol Fargeres, Miami, 7-5, 6-4, for the women's championship. Miss Fargeres was seeded third.

Q—Do American airways have route numbers?

A—Airways over America now have route numbers like highways. Airways running north and south have odd numbers; those running east and west have even numbers.

PALMER CLAIMS CANADIAN TITLE

Turns In Record-Shattering 72-Hole Total Of 263

WINNIPEG, Man., July 19 (AP)—Johnny Palmer, an obliging invader from North Carolina, carried off the Canadian Open golf championship today by shooting a six-under-par 66 for a record medal score of 263 in the 72-hole tournament.

Setting out in brilliant sunshine and finishing in the rain, Palmer wound up 25 strokes under par. His score lopped five strokes off the old Canadian Open record of 268 shot by Bobby Locke of South Africa in 1947 over the par-71 Toronto Scarboro course. Locke was 16 strokes under par.

Two other United States players—Freddy Haas from New Orleans and blonde Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla.—tied for second place with scores of 274. Haas finished with a 66 today and Mayer with 68.

Three Americans shared fourth place with 275s—Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore., and Skee Riege of Tulsa, Okla.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver won the Riverhead Cup as low Canadian professional on his score of 280. He finished in a three-way tie for 12th place in the field.

Palmer, carrying off $3,000 first prize and the Seagram Gold Cup, won by 11 strokes — the largest margin in the Open at least since 1933 when Joe Kirkwood had an eight-stroke bulge on the field. In 1936 Lawson Little also won by an eight-stroke margin.

The score was a personal tournament record for the native of Badin, S. C. His best previous competitive showing over 72 holes was at Tucson, Ariz., in 1949 when he scored 285 and finished second to Skip Alexander.

FLAUNT VICTOR IN LAMPLIGHTER

Long Shot Pays $41.80; Daily Double Is $3,962.60

OCEANPORT, N. J., July 19 (AP) — A crowd of 27,385, already financially groggy from the highest daily double of the summer season, thrilled to a come-from-behind win by another longshot as Arnold Skjeveland's Flaunt, won today's featured Lamplighter Handicap at Monmouth Park.

The three - year - old had started 19 times previously this year without winning and was overlooked by the large gathering to pay $41.80, $17.80 and $10.40 across the board.

The homebred Scobeyville, in an early tangle, came resolutely through the stretch to be second ahead of Candle Wood and Saddle Tramp.

The even money favorite, Golden Gloves, was fifth.

Flaunt ran the mile and a sixteenth in a slow 1:46 3-5 under the determined booting of the lightweight rider, Keith Stuart. His winnings of $18,400 were more than he had won in all his 36 previous starts.

The favorite players earlier watched a pair of outsiders, Violinist ($180.20) and Landlocked ($114.40), team up for a daily double payoff of $3,962.60, a new track and state record. Only 48 tickets were sold on the combination out of a daily double pool of $216,146.

SPORTS FAIL IN CLUTCH; INDIANS WIN, 4 TO 1

DICK THOMPSON LIMITS MONROE TO 5 SAFE HITS

Locals Miss Bases-Loaded Chances In 2 Innings

Manager Charley Harrington returned to active duty as skipper of the Monroe Sports last night after being out of action nearly a month as the result of a "beaning" at Greenwood, but the Sports couldn't furnish him with a victory as they fell before the Natchez Indians, 4 to 1, in the first of a two-game stand here. The clubs meet again this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Dick Thompson handcuffed the Sports on five hits but he practically offered them winning chances in the seventh and eighth by loading the bases. The Sports didn't have the necessary power at the plate to take advantage of the two big chances to save a good pitching performance for Johnny Myers.

The Sports loaded the bases with none out in the seventh on a single by Virgil Bivens and free passes to Ray Rogers and Pat Saviano, batting for Myers. They were left stranded. in the eighth Thompson walked Nels Daehn, Rogers and Bivens to fill the bags again with two out. Thompson then turned the mound chores over to Pete Bardin who faced only four batters to finish the game.

Ronald Lurk hurled the last two frames for Monroe, retiring six batters in order. Errors played their part in helping the Indian cause along, and the lone Monroe tally was the result of Natchez miscues.

Among the spectators last night was Pat Monahan, St. Louis Cardinal scout who has been beating the bushes for baseball talent nearly 35 years. If he saw anything worth attention last night, he was keeping his notes to himself.

The Redskins drew first blood in the fourth inning when Hal Walther, hit by a pitched ball, scored all the way from first when Jim Long missed Ray Roger's throw to third after the Monroe outfielder had picked up a single off the bat of Bill Carr. The error permitted Carr to go to second, he stole third and scored on a single by Hank Adkins.

In the sixth inning Bill Brightwell was safe when Jones dropped his hopper. Walther, who had reached base ten successive times against the Sports, eight times on hits, once on a walk and again when hit by a pitched ball, had his string snapped when he flyed out to Daehn in center field. Troy Mitchell singled into center field and went on to second when Daehn threw Brightwell out at the plate. Carr singled along the left field line, scoring Mitchell, and raced on to second when Weber had trouble fielding the ball. A single by Adkins scored Carr.

Monroe broke into the scoring column in the bottom of the sixth when George Andrews was safe as Carr muffed his grounder, went to second on a single by Jesse Van Winkle, advanced on a wild pitch and scored when Mitchell missed a third strike on Daehn that allowed the latter to reach first base.

Flam In Finals Of Net Tournament In Germany

DUSSELDORF, Germany, July 19 (AP)—Herbie Flam, Beverly Hills, Calif., breezed into the finals of the Dusseldorf International Tennis Tournament today with a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Eric Sturgess, South Africa.

Flam will meet Egypt's Jaroslav Drobny for the title tomorrow. Drobny easily beat Enrico Morea, Argentina, 6-1, 6-0.

OLYMPIAN HEIGHTS—Canada's Alice Whitty opened her mouth and flattened out clearing the high-jump bar at Elaintarhan Sports Ground remaining in tune for the Olympic Games. Russian canoeists Arechenko, fore, and Perevochekov dug paddles into the choppy water at Taivallanti. Texas A. and M.'s Darrow Hooper cocked his arm, rested the shot against his stern jaw, and wound up for prodigious puts in Helsinki. (NEA)

ROWDY PIERSALL ADVISED TO REST

May Not Rejoin Barons After Suspension Lifted

BOSTON, July 19 (AP)— General Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox today announced rookie Outfielder Jim Piersall will take an indefinite rest on advice of physicians.

Piersall has been in Boston while serving a three-day suspension from the Birmingham, Ala., Barons of the Southern Association.

"After consultation and advice of doctors," Cronin told newsmen, "Jimmy Piersall is going to take a rest."

"The ball club (Red Sox) is interested in Piersall himself, not in where he plays or what position he plays. I'm sorry I cannot elaborate on the subject."

At Piersall's home in suburban Newton, a woman identifying herself as a "baby-sitter" said he had gone to the beach.

Earlier, Piersall said he didn't know whether he was supposed to return to the Southern Association club tomorrow.

Cronin took the Waterbury, Conn., youth for an automobile ride yesterday and Cronin said he gave Piersall "a fatherly talk."

Piersall was suspended following a tiff with a Southern Association umpire in a game with Atlanta. It was the fourth time he's been disciplined since the Red Sox sent him down June 28 because his antics bothered Manager Lou Boudreau and his teammates.

Curtis Brothers Square Off Against Scott, Kelly In Tag Team Bout Here

Match Headlines Wrestling Card At Kallio's Tuesday

"Mighty" Scott and "Irish" Jack Kelly take on the Curtis brothers, Jack and George, in a tag team wrestling match at Gus Kallio's Arena here Tuesday night.

Scott and Kelly, who have been here as partners three times during the past three weeks, took their first win last Tuesday night, beating George Curtis and Rex Mobley in the third fall of a best two-out-of-three match.

George evidently didn't take his licking any too well and returns this time with big brother Jack, a tussler renowned in this area for taking the wind out of the sails of a few of the tough boys.

He has met both Kelly and Scott before and came off winner, but it appears that Scott at least has learned a few tricks since they last met as he now holds the title of world's light heavyweight champion formerly held by Curtis.

He didn't whip Curtis to get it, however. He whipped the man that whipped Curtis, rowdy "Sockeye" McDonald, the ex - lumberjack from Oregon, who took it from Curtis.

Jack and George make a good tag team pair, though, and might still take the other pair, since George is no slouch at wrestling himself. Good in a tag team match at almost any time, he always seems to be in extra good form when his brother is helping him along.

Jack Curtis hasn't appeared here in a good many weeks, but he seemingly hasn't lost any of his old appeal. Kallio said yesterday that a good many fans had inquired as to whether the price would be raised since he was coming back, and he hastened to assure them that it would not.

Always a favorite with the Monroe fans, Curtis puts on a good show, never uses unfair tactics unless the other side starts it off, and manages to win a good 90 per cent of his matches here.

Scott and Kelly, who have shown fans their style of wrestling during the preceding three weeks, will probably put on the same type of show Tuesday night.

Two 10-minute time limit semi-final events will precede the tag team match. The doors will open at Kallio's at 7 o'clock and the curtain will go up at 8:15 o'clock.

Kings Of Little League To Be Settled Aug. 29

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 19 (AP)—The final game of the Little League's World Series will be played here on Friday, Aug. 29, instead of Saturday Aug. 30, Commissioner Carl E. Stotz said today.

The eight regional champions of the Little League, restricted to players eight through 12 years old, start an elimination tourney on Tuesday, Aug. 26. Stotz said the date of the final was changed to avoid the Labor Day weekend traffic.

T-M FINALISTS ARE COE, REED

Bill Carey, Ed Hopkins Bow Out In Semi-Finals

DENVER, July 19 (AP)—Charley Coe, the two - time winner from Oklahoma City, and Buster Reed, Sanger, Tex., scored victories today in the semi-finals of the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

Coe, champion in 1947 and 1949, and Reed, a member of the North Texas State National Collegiate golf champions, will play for the title over 36 holes tomorrow at the 6,711-yard par 70 Lakewood Country Club course.

Coe, who has been off form the past few days, played top flight golf in ousting Bill Carey, Denver, 4 and 3. Coe's putter behaved perfectly. He canned a 15-footer for a birdie 2 on the 184-yard No. 3 and drilled in a 20-footer for a birdie 2 on the 137-yard No. 11.

Reed chipped within three feet of the pin on the 358-yard No. 17 and holed out for a birdie 3 that put him one up on Ed Hopkins, Abilene, Tex. Reed won the match by halving the 18th.

'Flying Finn', Paavo Nurmi, Carries Flame Into Olympic Stadium

HELSINKI, July 19 (AP) — Paavo Nurmi, the original "Flying Finn" who made track history in the 20's, came back to the cinder path today for a brief moment of glory.

A score of years after he was barred from the 1932 games because of alleged professionalism, the bald, thickening businessman ran gracefully around the brick red track of the Olympic Stadium carrying the Olympic torch on the last lap of its journey from Greece.

The identity of the runner to receive the great honor of carrying the torch on the last leg of the journey from Mount Olympus was a deep secret closely guarded by the Finnish organizing committee.

There was no announcement of the identity today either, but the 70,000 wildly-cheering Finns needed no announcement as Nurmi moved around the track with the same long, easy strides he used in breaking every record from 1,500 meters to 20 kilometers from 1921 to 1931. He circled the track once, leaped nimbly over a barrier and passed the flame to the man who was to carry it up the Olympic tower.

Thus Finland, organizing its first Olympics, paid the highest tribute possible to the man who had won six gold medals and three silver medals for Finland during the 1920, 1924 and 1928 games.

Nurmi, now a 55-year-old businessman, says he will take the next two weeks off to sit in an honorary reserved seat and watch the runners assail his old enemy, father time.

Great Circle 1st In Sunset Sprint

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 19 (AP)—Great Circle won the $50,000 Sunset Handicap, getaway day feature at Hollywood Park today.

Great Circle, a 24-to-1 longshot in the betting, won a whipping duel down the stretch with Stormy Cloud. The Yolo stable's black five-year-old, winner of the rich Santa Anita Maturity in 1951, was never worse than third, and took over at the head of the stretch.

Until then, Abe Hirschberg's Admiral Drake, the 6-5 favorite coupled with Moonrush, had things all his own way. Third place went to Calumet farm's speedy mare, Wistful.

Great Circle paid $50.60, $19.70 and $11.50; Stormy Cloud $6.20 and $4.20; Wistful $5.60.

Armageddon Second In $140,450 Arlington Feature

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—The combination of famed Calumet farm, Trainer Ben Jones, Jockey Eddie Arcaro and the horse, Mark - Ye - Well today was more than enough to win $105,375, the richest purse in 3-year-old racing history.

Over a muddy racing strip at Arlington Park, Jockey Arcaro guided Mark-Ye-Well to a five lengths victory in the Arlington Classic mile.

Closest to Mark-Ye-Well at the finish was the Cain Hoy stables' one - eyed colt, Armageddon; with Sub Fleet, second to Hill Gail in the 1952 Kentucky Derby, third, and an outsider, King Beast, fourth in a field of nine.

Sub Fleet, owned by the Dixiana stable, went to the post a 2-1 favorite.

Armageddon finished with a lead of one and one half lengths over Sub Fleet, which had a margin of two and one half lengths over King Beast.

Following King Beast in the order of finish were Emerald Hills' stables' Blue Dare in fifth place; Red Top stables' Red Charger sixth; King Ranch's High Scud seventh; Stanley Mickell's Brush Burn eighth, and Mrs. Ethel G. Bandy's Errad's Guide, ninth and last.

Mark -Ye - Well, never before a starter in a stakes event, splashed through the muddy mile in 1:39-1-5.

Mark - Ye - Well returned $8.40, $4, and $2.60. The place and show prices on Armageddon were $4.60 and $3.20, with Sub Fleet paying $2.80 to show.

Plans Complete For K. Of C. Golf

CROWLEY, La. July 18 (Special) — The annual golf tournament sponsored by the Louisiana State Council, Knights of Columbus, will be held at Morgan City Aug. 9-10, State Deputy Emile Reggie, Crowley has announced.

Louisiana's newest major course, at the St. Mary Country Club, will be the site of the tournament, which will be a 27-hole medal play affair. Nine holes of qualifying rounds will be posted Saturday, Aug. 9, and 18 holes will be played the following day.

Dr. William E. Barletta and Warren J. Fortier of the Morgan City K. of C. council have been appointed co-chairmen of the tournament. They announced that trophies will be awarded for the first two places in each flight and for the highest score in each flight.

Trophies will be awarded at a presentation banquet Sunday night. A shrimp-boil is planned for Saturday night.

Reservations are available through Dr. Barletta and Fortier at Morgan City, Reggie said.

District Championship To Be Decided This Afternoon

Three-Way Finance moved undefeated through the first day's play in the annual district championship softball tournament here yesterday and will meet once-beaten Spatafora Grocery in one or two games here this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock on the Barkdull Faulk diamond, to decide the title.

Only one game will be needed if Three-Way can win the 2 p. m. assignment today. But, if Spatafora's Grocers come through, a second game will follow immediately to settle the issue in the double elimination tournament.

Three-Way defeated Gay Clothing, 6 to 2, in the first game of the day for the Financiers after Gay had knocked off Spatafora Grocery, 3 to 1. Three-Way moved into the finals today by defeating Red Shield Club, 11 to 2, after the Shielders had knocked off Temple Baptists of Ruston, 9 to 2.

Then in the losers' bracket, Spatafora crushed the Ruston club, 16 to 5, eliminated Gay Clothing, 5 to 4, and brushed aside Red Shield Club, 14 to 3.

The day's work saw Three-Way move into today's schedule needing to play only two games. Spatafora, on the other hand, played four and is in the position of having work two more today if the Grocers can take the district crown.

ALERTED TAKES QUESTIONNAIRE

Favored Combat Boots Home 2nd; Greek Ship 3rd

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—Hampton stable's Alerted closed with a rush in the stretch to win the $25,000 Questionnaire Handicap before 28,878 fans as the one-week meeting of the Empire City Racing Association wound up at Jamaica race track today.

The 4-year-old son of Bull Lea-Hastily Yours, piloted by Conn McCreary, scored by three quarters of a length over Putnam stable's Combat Boots, the favorite, who had another three quarters of a length over Brookmeade stable's Greek Ship.

The time for the mile and an eighth was a moderate 1:44.

Third choice in the wagering, Alerted returned mutuels of $10.60, $4.30 and $3. Combat Boots paid $3.50 and $2.50 and Greek Ship paid $3 to show.

It was the colt's fifth victory in 17 starts and worth $19,750 to Frank Stout, Malden, Mass., auto dealer, who owns the Hampton stable.

Aga Kahn Horse Triumphs Again

ASCOT, England, July 19 (AP)—Tulyar, the stretch-running thoroughbred owned by the Aga Khan, came from behind again today to win the $77,420 King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes and become the greatest money winnfor the mile and a half was 2:33 2-5.

Although he rewarded his backers in the crowd at the rate of three to one, Tulyar took down the winner's share of $67,425 and made his owner, already one of the richest men in the world, the most successful race horse owner in Britain this year. His horses have won $191,248, including $166,185 won by Tulyar. The horse's total earnings now stand at $170,231.

Gay Time was second with Worden finishing third.

The finish was an almost exact duplicate of the English Derby, which was won by Tulyar with Gay Time right on his heels. Gay Time went off at odds of 15 to 2 in the field of 15 starters today and Worden was 25 to 1.

Larsen Battles Savitt In Finals

INDIANAPOLIS, July 19 (AP)—Top - seeded Dick Savitt, Orange, N. J., and third-ranked Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., outlasted older opponents to win semi - final victories in the Western Tennis Tournament today.

Their victories set up the championship match Sunday as a rematch of the National Clay Courts title duel of Last Sunday. Larsen, a 27 - year -old lefthander, upset 25 - year - old Savitt in that one.

Savitt had a 12-year advantage in age as he beat fourth seeded Gardnar Mulloy, Miami, 6-3, 1-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Larsen beat 33-year-old Billy Talbert, New York, who was seeded second, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3, 10-8.

Top - seeded Anita Kanter, 19, Santa Monica, Calif., defeated 18-year-old Karol Fargeros, Miami, 7-5, 6-4, for the women's championship. Miss Fargeros was seeded third.

Q—Do American airways have route numbers?

A—Airways over America now have route numbers like highways. Airways running north and south have odd numbers; those running east and west have even numbers.

PALMER CLAIMS CANADIAN TITLE

Turns In Record-Shattering 72-Hole Total Of 263

WINNIPEG, Man., July 19 (AP)—Johnny Palmer, an obliging invader from North Carolina, carried off the Canadian Open golf championship today by shooting a six-under-par 66 for a record medal score of 263 in the 72-hole tournament.

Setting out in brilliant sunshine and finishing in the rain, Palmer wound up 25 strokes under par. His score lopped five strokes off the old Canadian Open record of 268 shot by Bobby Locke of South Africa in 1947 over the par-71 Toronto Scarboro course. Locke was 16 strokes under par.

Two other United States players—Freddy Haas from New Orleans and blonde Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla.—tied for second place with scores of 274. Haas finished with a 66 today and Mayer with 68.

Three Americans shared fourth place with 275s—Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore., and Skee Riege of Tulsa, Okla.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver won the Riverhead Cup as low Canadian professional on his score of 280. He finished in a three-way tie for 12th place in the field.

Palmer, carrying off $3,000 first prize and the Seagram Gold Cup, won by 11 strokes — the largest margin in the Open at least since 1933 when Joe Kirkwood had an eight-stroke bulge on the field. In 1936 Lawson Little also won by an eight-stroke margin.

The score was a personal tournament record for the native of Badin, S. C. His best previous competitive showing over 72 holes was at Tucson, Ariz., in 1949 when he scored 265 and finished second to Skip Alexander.

FLAUNT VICTOR IN LAMPLIGHTER

Long Shot Pays $41.80; Daily Double Is $3,962.60

OCEANPORT, N. J., July 19 (AP) — A crowd of 27,385, already financially groggy from the highest daily double of the summer season, thrilled to a come-from-behind win by another longshot as Arnold Skjeveland's Flaunt, won today's featured Lamplighter Handicap at Monmouth Park.

The three - year - old had started 19 times previously this year without winning and was overlooked by the large gathering to pay $41.80, $17.80 and $10.40 across the board.

The homebred Scobeyville, in an early tangle, came resolutely through the stretch to be second ahead of Candle Wood and Saddle Tramp.

The even money favorite, Golden Gloves, was fifth.

Flaunt ran the mile and a sixteenth in a slow 1:46 3-5 under the determined booting of the lightweight rider, Keith Stuart. His winnings of $18,400 were more than he had won in all his 36 previous starts.

The favorite players earlier watched a pair of outsiders, Violinist ($180.20) and Landlocked ($114.40), team up for a daily double payoff of $3,962.60, a new track and state record. Only 48 tickets were sold on the combination out of a daily double pool of $216,146.

Morgan Makes Last Show At New York Winning One

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)— The New York Yankees took advantage of two errors today to beat Chicago, 4-2, and extend the White Sox' losing streak to six games. Service-bound Tom Morgan, who retired after seven innings because of a blister on his right index finger, was credited with the victory in his last appearance of the year in Yankee Stadium.

Plan 'Little League Day' Tuesday As Means Of Retiring Stadium Debt

North Monroe Lions, Esso Dealers Join In Campaign

It's "Little League Day" for the Twin Cities Tuesday as the North Monroe Lions Club sponsors the appearance here of Ray Price and his hillbilly band, a section of Grand Ole Opry, at Legion Memorial Stadium. And, to cap the drive for retirement of the debt incurred in erection of Little League Park, Esso dealers of the Twin Cities are joining one hundred per cent in pledging a percentage of their day's proceeds to the cause.

Little League directors, who have almost completed the miniature park with the help of public donations, welcome the additional support and envision means of completing their project with funds derived from the Tuesday program.

Price and his hillbillies make their appearance at Legion Stadium at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. The North Monroe Lions Club has tickets on advanced sale at Dew Music Company.

Yesterday J. C. Holbrook, chairman of the North Monroe Lions Little League finance group, was the addresse of a letter from C. H. Calhoun and Ted B. Miller, local Esso distributors, who said:

"We are writing this letter to you as spokesmen for the Esso Dealers Organization of the Twin Cities to inform you that they have collectively expressed their desire to wholeheartedly support the program for raising funds in behalf of the Little League Baseball Association on Little League Day this coming Tuesday.

"The entire Esso Dealer Organization would like to contribute one cent for each gallon of motor fuel sold through their outlets on Tuesday. . . . In addition, the employees of the Esso Standard Oil Company in the Twin City area will match dollar for dollar the contribution of each of the Esso dealers in the area."

Cooperating Esso dealers were listed as Saul Adler Garage, Bridge Service Station, F. and J. Esso Servicenter, Hanson's Esso Station, Joseph's Esso Station, Kugler's Esso Station, Scotty's Esso Station, Simmon's Esso Station, Brook's Esso Station, Jimmie McGuire's Esso Servicenter, P. N. Edwards' Esso Servicenter, Feazel's Esso Station, Roussel's Esso Station, Monroe Tire Exchange, McCain-Richards, Inc., and Southside Esso Servicenter.

Little League clubs are pictured in a page advertisement in this newspaper today. Most sponsors will be running pictures of their teams in solo advertising tomorrow afternoon and Tuesday morning.

Palace retained its undefeated status and undisputed first place in the league yesterday by saddling United Gas with a 10-5 defeat. McNabb powered the Palace win with three hits in four times at bat. Murphy, the Palace hurler, gave up only two base hits, one each to Sanders and Aulds. Losing battery was Gallien and Lawson. McKellar was the catcher for Palace.

Jim Altick batted a perfect thousand in four appearances at the plate and Robert Perkins smashed his ninth homer of the year to lead Reed Refrigeration to a 9-6 victory over Olcott-Stone, dumping them into third place. Olcott-Stone collected a total of six base hits, four of which were accounted for by Stovall and Dollar, who got two each. Both teams used two pitchers—Britt and Sparks for Olcott-Stone, Linder and Altick for Reed. McDonald was the catcher for Reed, with Lowery holding down the backstop position for Olcott-Stone.

Lennon Motors shaded KNOE, 5-4, yesterday with Ford and Genusa leading the hitting attack with two safeties each. S. Harper was the leading hitter for KNOE, collecting two of their three hits. King started for Lennon on the mound and was relieved by Webb. Fields was behind the plate. Battery for the losers was S. Harper and Aron.

Marciano Works Five Heats With Sparmates

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y., July 19 (AP)— Rocky Marciano, who boxes Harry Matthews in Yankee Stadium a week from Monday, worked five rounds today and tipped the scales at 186 after the drill.

He boxed two rounds each with Clarence Hinnant of Washington, D. C., a middleweight, and Al Winn, New York light heavyweight. He finished against Tommy Harrison, Los Angeles heavyweight.

Charley Goldman, his trainer, said Marciano would box again tomorrow but would not on Monday.

Matthews, who is doing his training in New York City, took the day off. His weight is down to 188.

TEXAS ALL-STAR BATTLE MONDAY

Starting Pitchers Are Not Definitely Decided

OKLAHOMA City, July 1 (AP)— Either Hal Erickson or Dave Hoskins, both of Dallas, will get the starting pitching assignment for the North team Monday night at the annual Texas League All-Star game, North Manager Dutch Meyer of Dallas announced today.

Texas League park is getting a final polishing - up in preparation for the game with its 38 players representing the two sections of the league. The South leads in past games by a margin of 5-3.

Northern teams hope to reduce the margin this year, chiefly because of good all - around power and pitching. Both Meyer and Harry Craft, of Beaumont, the South's manager, plan to substitute freely. Craft has not announced his opening pitching selection.

The rosters: North — Pitchers: Hal Erickson, Dave Hoskins, Dallas; Joe Landrum, Elroy Face, Jim Melton, Ft. Worth; Tommy Reis, Tulsa; Vern Kennedy, Oklahoma City.

Catchers: Dick Aylward, Dallas; Hobie Landrith, Dallas; Danny Baich, Oklahoma City.

Grid Cards Start Work Tomorrow

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)— The Chicago Cardinals lead the National Football League clubs into training tomorrow as new Coach Joe Kuharich and 35 athletes open camp at Suburban Lake Forest College.

Kuharich ordered only rookies, plus some veteran quarterbacks and centers, to be on hand for first drills.

Other oldtimers will show up later.

North Monroe Lions, Esso Dealers Join In Campaign

It's "Little League Day" for the Twin Cities Tuesday as the North Monroe Lions Club sponsors the appearance here of Ray Price and his hillbilly band, a section of Grand Ole Opry, at Legion Memorial Stadium. And, to cap the drive for retirement of the debt incurred in erection of Little League Park, Esso dealers of the Twin Cities are joining one hundred per cent in pledging a percentage of their day's proceeds to the cause.

Little League directors, who have almost completed the miniature park with the help of public donations, welcome the additional support and envision means of completing their project with funds derived from the Tuesday program.

Price and his hillbillies make their appearance at Legion Stadium at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. The North Monroe Lions Club has tickets on advanced sale at Dew Music Company.

Yesterday J. C. Holbrook, chairman of the North Monroe Lions Little League finance group, was the addresse of a letter from C. H. Calhoun and Ted B. Miller, local Esso distributors, who said:

"We are writing this letter to you as spokesmen for the Esso Dealers Organization of the Twin Cities to inform you that they have collectively expressed their desire to wholeheartedly support the program for raising funds in behalf of the Little League Baseball Association on Little League Day this coming Tuesday.

"The entire Esso Dealer Organization would like to contribute one cent for each gallon of motor fuel sold through their outlets on Tuesday. . . . In addition, the employees of the Esso Standard Oil Company in the Twin City area will match dollar for dollar the contribution of each of the Esso dealers in the area."

Cooperating Esso dealers were listed as Saul Adler Garage, Bridge Service Station, F. and J. Esso Servicenter, Hanson's Esso Station, Joseph's Esso Station, Kugler's Esso Station, Scotty's Esso Station, Simmon's Esso Station, Brook's Esso Station, Jimmie McGuire's Esso Servicenter, P. N. Edwards' Esso Servicenter, Feazel's Esso Station, Roussel's Esso Station, Monroe Tire Exchange, McCain-Richards, Inc., and Southside Esso Servicenter.

Little League clubs are pictured in a page advertisement in this newspaper today. Most sponsors will be running pictures of their teams in solo advertising tomorrow afternoon and Tuesday morning.

Palace retained its undefeated status and undisputed first place in the league yesterday by saddling United Gas with a 10-5 defeat. McNabb powered the Palace win with three hits in four times at bat. Murphy, the Palace hurler, gave up only two base hits, one each to Sanders and Aulds. Losing battery was Gallien and Lawson. McKellar was the catcher for Palace.

Jim Altick batted a perfect thousand in four appearances at the plate and Robert Perkins smashed his ninth homer of the year to lead Reed Refrigeration to a 9-6 victory over Olcott-Stone, dumping them into third place. Olcott-Stone collected a total of six base hits, four of which were accounted for by Stovall and Dollar, who got two each. Both teams used two pitchers—Britt and Sparks for Olcott-Stone, Linder and Altick for Reed. McDonald was the catcher for Reed, with Lowery holding down the backstop position for Olcott-Stone.

Lennon Motors shaded KNOE, 5-4, yesterday with Ford and Genusa leading the hitting attack with two safeties each. S. Harper was the leading hitter for KNOE, collecting two of their three hits. King started for Lennon on the mound and was relieved by Webb. Fields was behind the plate. Battery for the losers was S. Harper and Aron.

Marciano Works Five Heats With Sparmates

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y., July 19 (AP)— Rocky Marciano, who boxes Harry Matthews in Yankee Stadium a week from Monday, worked five rounds today and tipped the scales at 186 after the drill.

He boxed two rounds each with Clarence Hinnant of Washington, D. C., a middleweight, and Al Winn, New York light heavyweight. He finished against Tommy Harrison, Los Angeles heavyweight.

Charley Goldman, his trainer, said Marciano would box again tomorrow but would not on Monday.

Matthews, who is doing his training in New York City, took the day off. His weight is down to 182.

TEXAS ALL-STAR BATTLE MONDAY

Starting Pitchers Are Not Definitely Decided

OKLAHOMA City, July 1 (AP)— Either Hal Erickson or Dave Hoskins, both of Dallas, will get the starting pitching assignment for the North team Monday night at the annual Texas League All-Star game, North Manager Dutch Meyer of Dallas announced today.

Texas League park is getting a final polishing - up in preparation for the game with its 38 players representing the two sections of the league. The South leads in past games by a margin of 5-3.

Northern teams hope to reduce the margin this year, chiefly because of good all - around power and pitching. Both Meyer and Harry Craft, of Beaumont, the South's manager, plan to substitute freely. Craft has not announced his opening pitching selection.

The rosters: North — Pitchers: Hal Erickson, Dave Hoskins, Dallas; Joe Landrum, Elroy Face, Jim Melton, Ft. Worth; Tommy Reis, Tulsa; Vern Kennedy, Oklahoma City.

Catchers: Dick Aylward, Dallas; Hobie Landrith, Dallas; Danny Baich, Oklahoma City.

Infielders: John Temple, Alex Grammas, Tulsa; Joe Damat, Oklahoma City; Wayne Belardi, Bill Hunter, Ft. Worth.

Outfielders: Joe Frazier, Russ Burns, Oklahoma City; Eddie Knoblauch, Harry Scherting, Dallas.

South — Pitchers: Al Papai, Mike Clark, Houston; Bill Black, San Antonio; Joe Gray, Emil Patrick, Beaumont; Joe Budny, Jim Willis, Shreveport.

Catchers: Babe Martin, San Antonio, Mickey Livingston, Shreveport; Dick Landis, Houston.

Infielders: Grant Dunlap, Koe Koppe, Chico Garcia, Shreveport; Charlie Grant, Harry Schwegman, San Antonio.

Outfielders; Jim Greengrass, Al Pilarcik, Beaumont; Joe Szekely, Shreveport; Harry Heslet, San Antonio.

Grid Cards Start Work Tomorrow

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)— The Chicago Cardinals lead the National Football League clubs into training tomorrow as new Coach Joe Kuharich and 35 athletes open camp at Suburban Lake Forest College.

Kuharich ordered only rookies, plus some veteran quarterbacks and centers, to be on hand for first drills.

Other oldtimers will show up later.

GIGANTIC OLYMPIC GAMES STARTING TODAY

RUSSO, AMERICAN ATHLETES CLASH ON 1ST BIG SCALE

Davis, Zatopek, Miss Dumbadze Tagged As Early Stars

HELSINKI, July 19 (AP) — Three great athletes — Walt Davis of the United States, Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia, and Nina Dumbadze of Russia — will take the center of the Olympic stage tomorrow.

The colorful ceremonies finished, the political wrangling postponed, the games of the fifteenth Olympiad move at last into the sports arena. Russian and American athletes meet at last in major competition.

Sunday's track and field program, before a capacity crowd of 70,000 in the main stadium, brings finals in the high jump, in which Davis, the towering Texan, is favored; the women's discus, which everyone thinks Nina Dumbadze will win; and the 10,000 meters, in which Zatopek is defending champion and the class of the field.

Actually, competition has been going on all week in soccer, basketball, and field hockey — but now it is formal, official and important.

Track is the central sport of the first full fledged day of Olympic competition, but preliminary rounds also start in rowing, yachting, and wrestling, in addition to the semi-finals in field hockey and three soccer matches.

The Sunday track and field program will be a stellar one. In addition to the three big final events, there will be preliminaries in the 100 meters, the 400 meter hurdles, and the 800 meters.

The only chance the United States has for winning a first day gold medal is in the high jump. Davis, who towers 6 feet 8 inches, has jumped consistently at 6-9 and better and has narrowly missed a world record on several occasions. The Olympic mark of 6-7 15-16 seems well within his reach.

However, from behind the iron curtain has come a formidable challenger in Ion Soeter of Romania, for whom marks almost as good as Davis' best are claimed and who greatly impressed the Americans in his workouts.

High jumping is a tricky affair, influenced by both weather and temperament, and the United States has two men close behind Davis who might win if he falters —Ken Wiesner of Marquette and Arnold Betton of Drake.

In the 10,000 meters, in which a field of 32 men is due to start, Zatopek is supreme. He is the holder of the Olympic record of 29:59.6, and of the world record at 29:02.6.

Unless Zatopek gets knocked down in the traffic rush he should win the 10,000 going away. Opposition, however, might come from a formidable Russian, Nikifor Popoff, from the great Belgian, Gaston Reiff, or from the Frenchman, Alain Mimoun, Much - improved Curtis Stone is the chief American hopes.

Sunday will bring the first Olympic appearance of a Russian woman who is hailed as a new wonder athlete — Nina Dumbadze. She is tall, well proportioned, and good looking in a healthy sort of way. Besides that, she can throw the discus 30 feet further than any woman in the west.

Trials in the 100 meters may serve to determine whether the United States can continue its domination of this event. McDonald Bailey of Great Britain appears to be the outstanding threat, but the Russians claim a potenial champion in Vladimir Soukharev.

The American trio is Art Bragg of Morgan State, Lindy Remigino of Manhattan, and Dean Smith of Texas. Two rounds of trial heats will be run, with the semi-finals and finals on Monday.

The 800 meters brings another defending Olympic champion to the track — Mal Whitfield of the United States. Following Sunday's trial heats, the semi-finals will be run Monday and the finals on Tuesday. John Barnes of Occidental and Reggie Pearman of New York University are the other U. S. entries. Arthur Wint of Jamaica and Gunther Stinnes of Germany are powerful challengers.

In the 400 meter hurdles, in which two rounds of heats will also be run, Charlie Moore of Cornell looks to be the class of the field. The semi-finals and finals will be on Monday. Lee Yoder of Arkansas and Roland Blackman of the U. S. army are the other Americans and the strongest opposition probably will come from John Holland of New Zealand, Armando Filiput of Italy, and Jurii Litoev of Russia.

In other sports, competition will be mostly in the trial stages, but in rowing the luck of the draw has pitted the powerful American eight from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, against Britain's big shell from the Leander Club — mostly from the unbeaten Cambridge crew of 1951.

Tidwell, Perry Duel Grows Hotter In Race For C. S. L. Batting Title

Jones Holds No. 6 Slot; Daehn, Van Winkle Skidding

By J. P. Friend

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., July 19—(Special) — The two - way duel between Johnny Tidwell and Ray Perry for the batting supremacy of the Cotton States League moved into its third straight week with neither being able to make any appreciable headway.

Official records of the Friend News Service credit the Dodger outfielder with .353 and a six-point advantage over his El Dorado rival. Actually, the Oiler skipper made a two - point gain for the period ending Tuesday night. Eight hits in 23 tries netted a point, while Tidwell was posting a 26-10 for a decimal loss.

The classy Greenwood outfielder has just about dominated the batting parade, leading in doubles, 26; runs batted in, 73; total bases, 166, and is tied with John Paul Jones, Monroe first sacker and star of the annual blue chip classic at Greenville Monday night, with 107 base hits apiece.

Natchez' first sacker, Don Allen, did not keep pace, skidding to .336 on 24-7. Greenville initial bag guardian, Bob Churchill, and Ken Cluley, Meridian, are deadlocked at .318 for fourth. Jones maintained his .317 gait for the No. 6 spot. Then comes Troy Mitchell, Natchez skipper, 313; Al Moore, Greenville, .310; Nels Daehn, Monroe, .308, and Hillis Layne, Pine Bluff boss, .308 for the Big 10 group. Joe Guidice, Meridian, with .305, and Don Petchow, who was sold this week by Greenville to El Dorado, .303. are the only other batters within the select .300 circle. Jess Van Winkle, Monroe (.299); Pel Austin, El Dorado (297); and Bill Brightwell, Natchez, .294, were expelled from the group last week for lack of home work.

Competition is keen in the specialized departments, except in the scoring where Gene Pompelia, Meridian (.281) holds forth with 78 tallies. George Wegeruk, Pine Bluff, has 10 triples, one more than Tidwell and Jones. Perry, Dolf Regelsky, Meridian (.268) and Roxie Humberson, El Dorado (.264) are in a three-way tie for slugging laurels, each having blasted nine home runs. Marty Devlin, Greenwood (.248) stole seven sacks while Bill Carr, Natchez (.244) speedster, was held to a pair, to take over the thievery phase with 33 to his credit, three more than the Indian shortfielder.

Like "old man river" in song and fiction, Meridian's brilliant Bobby Harrison continues on and on along the victory trail to astound the experts who predicted there would be a levelling off long before this. The Newton, Miss., marvel whipped Natchez and Greenwood in four days to extend his phenominal winning string to 18 games, as compared to a single loss, and easily rates the top berth among the hurling brigade. Darvin (The Chrisco Kid) Chrisco, Monroe ace was called home to the illness in his family at Dodson, Tex., and has been unable to change his 10-2 second place record. Jim Hogan, nifty Hot Springs lefty who was elevated to the helm of the Hot Springs Bathers, no doubt due to his fine mound work, netted two of three decisions last week for an impressive 12-3 chart. John Foriza, Greenwood strikeout ace, also bagged a couple, No. 13 and 14 (only 5 losses), and fanned 19 more batters to strengthen his grip on the whiff lead at 172. John Mikulin, Natchez southpaw - trouble shooter, lost his sixth but came back to bag No. 16. George Bielik, El Dorado prize rookie, comes next with 12-5, a gain of two since the records were last posted, followed by Ottis Jacobs, Monroe, who was credited with the all - star victory (which does not count in his season record); Laverne Schneider, P.B., 13-6; Pete Bardin, (Nat) 12-6; Joe Kopach (Meridian) 12-7); Bill Jamieson, Pine Bluff, and Dick Thompson, Natchez, 10-6 each.

Cuba Promises $40,000 Egg For Gavilan Match

HAVANA, Cuba, July 19 (AP)—The Presidential Palace said tonight that the Havana government would put up $40,000 to help stage a welterweight title fight between Champion Kid Gavilan and Billy Graham here next October.

Gavilan, pride of Cuba, visited President Batista at the palace last night with his manager, Fernando Balido. Balido said outside help would be necessary to meet Grahams demand for $20,000 of the purse.

Gavilan defended his title against the New Yorker on Aug. 29, 1951, winning a 15-round decision in Madison Square Garden.

MOORE STAMPED TOP CHALLENGER

St. Louis Boxer Rated High As Heavyweight, Light-Heavy

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—The National Boxing Association today blasted titleholders for giving Archie Moore the "cold shoulder" and named him as the number three challenger in the heavyweight division.

In announcing its quarterly ratings, the N. B. A. placed Moore of St. Louis, a legitimate light heavyweight, right behind the number one and two challengers, Rocky Marciano, Mass., and Ezzard Charles of Ohio.

The new rating is in addition to Moore's billing as the "sole logical contender" in the light heavyweight group.

For years, Moore, a 36-year-old veteran of nearly 200 boxing matches, has been rated as the number one challenger in the light heavyweight group. He has been bypassed continuously by the champions. Since 1949, Moore, who packs dynamite in both hands, has knocked out 24 opponents and won eleven other bouts by decisions.

The N. B. A. accused the big men of evading Moore, saying "Moore has received nothing but the cold shoulder. He has asked no quarter and given none."

In an effort to pry loose a title shot for Moore, the association declared:

"While he is a legitimate light heavyweight he has been forced to box heavyweights. He has defeated highly rated Clarence Henry and knocked out Bob Dunlap and other big fellows."

Another controversial boxer, Harry (Kid) Matthews, who meets Marciano in Yankee Stadium on July 28, was rated fifth among the outstanding boxers in the heavyweight division.

In still another double billing, Randy Turpin, England, was named the number one challenger in the middleweight division and number two challenger in the light heavyweight division.

New York's Billy Graham was named as the number one challenger to the welterweight throne now held by Cuban Champion Kid Gavilan. Up - coming Chuck Davey, Mich., was named as the fifth logical contender.

Featherweight Ray Famechon, France, was named as the logical contender to the title now held by Sandy Saddler, New York, who is in the army. Tommy Collins, Mass., is right behind Famechon.

And for the first time in many years two Americans were given honorable mention in the flyweight division. They are Buddy Baggett of Texas and Keeny Teran of California. The title is held by Yoshiro Shirai of Japan.

Kiner Gaining Ground In Chase For Homers

PITTSBURGH, July 19 (AP)—Pittsburgh slugger Ralph Kiner, closing in on the National League's home run leaders, has hit four in the last four days — his 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th homers on July 16, 17, 18, and 19. Hank Sauer of Chicago leads with 23.

SELECT U. S. CUP RIVALS FOR JAPS

New Group, Loaded With Experience, Represents States

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—The United States Davis Cup team, a new group this time but loaded with experience, isn't expected to have much difficulty whipping Japan in the first round at Cincinnati next Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Nor is it looking for trouble against any of the other American zone entries.

But it may be up to the navy and Tony Trabert to decide what will happen when America gets down to serious tennis business in the inter-zone final and the challenge round next winter.

Bill Talbert, the team captain; Gardnar Mulloy, another veteran; Vic Seixas and Art Larsen were named as the United States team to oppose Japan. This quartet looks plenty strong enough to dispose of the Japanese team, which includes two of the three players who lost all five matches in the first round at Louisville last year.

Representing Japan will be Fumiteru Nakano, 37-year-old veteran; Jiro Kumamaru, a singles player last year, and Atsushi Miyagi, youthful newcomer from Waseda University.

After confirming the American selections, Lt. Col, James H. Bishop of Culver, Ind., chairman of the selection committee, admitted he would feel better about future prospects if he was sure the navy would give Trabert leave for about six weeks to play in Australia next winter.

"Naturally any team with Frank Sedgman on it must be favored, Col. Bishop said. "But we're going to be hard to lick if the navy allows us the use of Trabert. Seixas and Trabert in the single could upset anybody. Don't forget that Tony took two sets from Sedgman last year at Forest Hills."

Trabert, a seaman on the aircraft carrier Coral Sea, played in a couple of tournaments in Europe early this summer but was refused leave to play at Wimbledon. He paired with Ted Schroeder on the losing American doubles team in last year's challenge round against Australia.

Seixas, Clark To Tangle In Pennsylvania Finals

HAVERFORD, Pa., July 1 (AP)—After an hour and twenty minutes delay because of a series of heavy showers the nation's No. 1 tennis player, Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, turned back Hal Burrow, Charlottesville, Va., 6-4, 6-4, 6-3 to gain the finals of the 53rd men's Pennsylvania state tennis championship at Merion Cricket Club today.

Seixas will meet Straight Clark second seeded player from Pasadena, Calif., as he did in 1951, in the finals here tomorrow.

Earlier, the U. S. and Wimbledon champion, Maureen Connolly, San Diego, Calif., won her third straight Pennsylvania and eastern states title to wind up play in the women's division.

High jumping is a tricky affair, influenced by both weather and temperament, and the United States has two men close behind Davis who might win if he falters —Ken Wiesner of Marquette and Arnold Betton of Drake.

In the 10,000 meters, in which a field of 52 men is due to start, Zatopek is supreme. He is the holder of the Olympic record of 29:59.6, and of the world record at 29:02.6.

Unless Zatopek gets knocked down in the traffic rush he should win the 10,000 going away. Opposition, however, might come from a formidable Russian, Nikifor Popoff, from the great Belgian, Gaston Reiff, or from the Frenchman, Alain Mimoun. Much - improved Curtis Stone is the chief American hopes.

Sunday will bring the first Olympic appearance of a Russian woman who is hailed as a new wonder athlete — Nina Dumbadze. She is tall, well proportioned, and good looking in a healthy sort of way. Besides that, she can throw the discus 30 feet further than any woman in the west.

Trials in the 100 meters may serve to determine whether the United States can continue its domination of this event. McDonald Bailey of Great Britain appears to be the outstanding threat, but the Russians claim a potenial champion in Vladimir Soukharev.

The American trio is Art Bragg of Morgan State, Lindy Remigino of Manhattan, and Dean Smith of Texas. Two rounds of trial heats will be run, with the semi-finals and finals on Monday.

The 800 meters brings another defending Olympic champion to the track — Mal Whitfield of the United States. Following Sunday's trial heats, the semi-finals will be run Monday and the finals on Tuesday. John Barnes of Occidental and Reggie Pearman of New York University are the other U. S. entries. Arthur Wint of Jamaica and Gunther Stinnes of Germany are powerful challengers.

In the 400 meter hurdles, in which two rounds of heats will also be run, Charlie Moore of Cornell looks to be the class of the field. The semi-finals and finals will be on Monday. Lee Yoder of Arkansas and Roland Blackman of the U. S. army are the other Americans and the strongest opposition probably will come from John Holland of New Zealand, Armando Filiput of Italy, and Jurii Litoev of Russia.

In other sports, competition will be mostly in the trial stages, but in rowing the luck of the draw has pitted the powerful American eight from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, against Britain's big shell from the Leander Club — mostly from the unbeaten Cambridge crew of 1951.

Tidwell, Perry Duel Grows Hotter In Race For C. S. L. Batting Title

By J. P. Friend

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., July 19—(Special) — The two - way duel between Johnny Tidwell and Ray Perry for the batting supremacy of the Cotton States League moved into its third straight week with neither being able to make any appreciable headway.

Official records of the Friend News Service credit the Dodger outfielder with .353 and a six-point advantage over his El Dorado rival. Actually, the Oiler skipper made a two - point gain for the period ending Tuesday night. Eight hits in 23 tries netted a point, while Tidwell was posting a 26-10 for a decimal loss.

The classy Greenwood outfielder has just about dominated the batting parade, leading in doubles, 26; runs batted in, 73; total bases, 166, and is tied with John Paul Jones, Monroe first sacker and star of the annual blue chip classic at Greenville Monday night, with 107 base hits apiece.

Natchez' first sacker, Don Allen, did not keep pace, skidding to .336 on 24-7. Greenville initial bag guardian, Bob Churchill, and Ken Cluley, Meridian, are deadlocked at .318 for fourth. Jones maintained his .317 gait for the No. 6 spot. Then comes Troy Mitchell, Natchez skipper, 313; Al Moore, Greenville, .310; Nels Daehn, Monroe, .308, and Hillis Layne, Pine Bluff boss, .308 for the Big 10 group. Joe Guidice, Meridian, with .305, and Don Petchow, who was sold this week by Greenville to El Dorado, .303. are the only other batters within the select .300 circle. Jess Van Winkle, Monroe (.299); Pel Austin, El Dorado (297); and Bill Brightwell, Natchez, .294, were expelled from the group last week for lack of home work.

Competition is keen in the specialized departments, except in the scoring where Gene Pompelia, Meridian (.281) holds forth with 78 tallies. George Wegeruk, Pine Bluff, has 10 triples, one more than Tidwell and Jones. Perry, Dolf Regelsky, Meridian (.268) and Roxie Humberson, El Dorado (.264) are in a three-way tie for slugging laurels, each having blasted nine home runs. Marty Devlin, Greenwood (.248) stole seven sacks while Bill Carr, Natchez (.244) speedster, was held to a pair, to take over the thievery phase with 33 to his credit, three more than the Indian shortfielder.

Like "old man river" in song and fiction, Meridian's brilliant Bobby Harrison continues on and on along the victory trail to astound the experts who predicted there would be a levelling off long before this. The Newton, Miss., marvel whipped Natchez and Greenwood in four days to extend his phenominal winning string to 18 games, as compared to a single loss, and easily rates the top berth among the hurling brigade. Darvin (The Chrisco Kid) Chrisco, Monroe ace was called home to the illness in his family at Dodson, Tex., and has been unable to change his 10-2 second place record. Jim Hogan, nifty Hot Springs lefty who was elevated to the helm of the Hot Springs Bathers, no doubt due to his fine mound work, netted two of three decisions last week for an impressive 12-3 chart. John Forizs, Greenwood strikeout ace, also bagged a couple, No. 13 and 14 (only 5 losses), and fanned 19 more batters to strengthen his grip on the whiff lead at 172. John Miskulin, Natchez southpaw - trouble shooter, lost his sixth but came back to bag No. 16. George Bielik, El Dorado prize rookie, comes next with 12-5, a gain of two since the records were last posted, followed by Ottis Jacobs, Monroe, who was credited with the all - star victory (which does not count in his season record); Laverne Schneider, P.B., 13-6; Pete Bardin, (Nat) 12-6; Joe Kopach (Meridian) 12-7); Bill Jamieson, Pine Bluff, and Dick Thompson, Natchez, 10-6 each.

Cuba Promises $40,000 Egg For Gavilan Match

HAVANA, Cuba, July 19 (AP)—The Presidential Palace said tonight that the Havana government would put up $40,000 to help stage a welterweight title fight between Champion Kid Gavilan and Billy Graham here next October.

Gavilan, pride of Cuba, visited President Batista at the palace last night with his manager, Fernando Balido. Balido said outside help would be necessary to meet Grahams demand for $20,000 of the purse.

Gavilan defended his title against the New Yorker on Aug. 29, 1951, winning a 15-round decision in Madison Square Garden.

MOORE STAMPED TOP CHALLENGER

St. Louis Boxer Rated High As Heavyweight, Light-Heavy

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—The National Boxing Association today blasted titleholders for giving Archie Moore the "cold shoulder" and named him as the number three challenger in the heavyweight division.

In announcing its quarterly ratings, the N. B. A. placed Moore of St. Louis, a legitimate light heavyweight, right behind the number one and two challengers, Rocky Marciano, Mass., and Ezzard Charles of Ohio.

The new rating is in addition to Moore's billing as the "sole logical contender" in the light heavyweight group.

For years, Moore, a 36-year-old veteran of nearly 200 boxing matches, has been rated as the number one challenger in the light heavyweight group. He has been bypassed continuously by the champions. Since 1949, Moore, who packs dynamite in both hands, has knocked out 24 opponents and won eleven other bouts by decisions.

The N. B. A. accused the big men of evading Moore, saying "Moore has received nothing but the cold shoulder. He has asked no quarter and given none."

In an effort to pry loose a title shot for Moore, the association declared:

"While he is a legitimate light heavyweight he has been forced to box heavyweights. He has defeated highly rated Clarence Henry and knocked out Bob Dunlap and other big fellows."

Another controversial boxer, Harry (Kid) Matthews, who meets Marciano in Yankee Stadium on July 28, was rated fifth among the outstanding boxers in the heavyweight division.

In still another double billing, Randy Turpin, England, was named the number one challenger in the middleweight division and number two challenger in the light heavyweight division.

New York's Billy Graham was named as the number one challenger to the welterweight throne now held by Cuban Champion Kid Gavilan. Up - coming Chuck Davey, Mich., was named as the fifth logical contender.

Featherweight Ray Famechon, France, was named as the logical contender to the title now held by Sandy Saddler, New York, who is in the army. Tommy Collins, Mass., is right behind Famechon.

And for the first time in many years two Americans were given honorable mention in the flyweight division. They are Buddy Baggett of Texas and Keeny Teran of California. The title is held by Yoshiro Shirai of Japan.

Kiner Gaining Ground In Chase For Homers

PITTSBURGH, July 19 (AP)—Pittsburgh slugger Ralph Kiner, closing in on the National League's home run leaders, has hit four in the last four days — his 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th homers on July 16, 17, 18, and 19. Hank Sauer of Chicago leads with 23.

SELECT U. S. CUP RIVALS FOR JAPS

New Group, Loaded With Experience, Represents States

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—The United States Davis Cup team, a new group this time but loaded with experience, isn't expected to have much difficulty whipping Japan in the first round at Cincinnati next Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Nor is it looking for trouble against any of the other American zone entries.

But it may be up to the navy and Tony Trabert to decide what will happen when America gets down to serious tennis business in the inter-zone final and the challenge round next winter.

Bill Talbert, the team captain; Gardnar Mulloy, another veteran; Vic Seixas and Art Larsen were named as the United States team to oppose Japan. This quartet looks plenty strong enough to dispose of the Japanese team, which includes two of the three players who lost all five matches in the first round at Louisville last year.

Representing Japan will be Fumiteru Nakano, 37-year-old veteran; Jiro Kumamaru, a singles player last year, and Atsushi Miyagi, youthful newcomer from Waseda University.

After confirming the American selections, Lt. Col, James H. Bishop of Culver, Ind., chairman of the selection committee, admitted he would feel better about future prospects if he was sure the navy would give Trabert leave for about six weeks to play in Australia next winter.

"Naturally any team with Frank Sedgman on it must be favored," Col. Bishop said. "But we're going to be hard to lick if the navy allows us the use of Trabert. Seixas and Trabert in the singles could upset anybody. Don't forget that Tony took two sets from Sedgman last year at Forest Hills."

Trabert, a seaman on the aircraft carrier Coral Sea, played in a couple of tournaments in Europe early this summer but was refused leave to play at Wimbledon. He paired with Ted Schroeder on the losing American doubles team in last year's challenge round against Australia.

Seixas, Clark To Tangle In Pennsylvania Finals

HAVERFORD, Pa., July 1 (AP)—After an hour and twenty minutes delay because of a series of heavy showers the nation's No. 1 tennis player, Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, turned back Hal Burrows, Charlottesville, Va., 6-4, 6-4, 6-3, to gain the finals of the 53rd men's Pennsylvania state tennis championship at Merion Cricket Club today.

Seixas will meet Straight Clark, second seeded player from Pasadena, Calif., as he did in 1951, in the finals here tomorrow.

Earlier, the U. S. and Wimbledon champion, Maureen Connolly, San Diego, Calif., won her third straight Pennsylvania and eastern states title to wind up play in the women's division.

OTTO PASSMAN

items and that the way the money spent was left to the "honor" of the congressmen.

He said that he returned over $8,000 of the money provided for him in this manner and compared it with the record of his opponent. He charged that his opponent, within a short time, had hired his sister-in-law, his brother-in - law, and his wife on the money given him by congress and that he paid out "$13,831.47" to members of his own family from the money.

Passman left the subject of his opponent's "attacks" for a few minutes but shortly began comparing his record with that of his other opponent. This time, apparently, it was Shady Wall.

Passman said that his opponent had told the people that if he (the opponent) was elected to congress he would remain on the job, but that his record as a state representative proved that in a 60-day period while the house was in session he did not vote on 225 bills.

Congressman Passman pointed out that during his five years in congress he himself had missed voting only 57 bills in comparison with the number missed by his opponent. He added that his opponent dodged "all controversial bills in Baton Rouge."

"You just miss one bill in congress," Passman said, "and you will lose favor and will not be able to do anything for the people of this district."

"You must stand up and be counted," Passman said, "before you can do anything for the people."

Passman confined most of the rest of his speech, which lasted slightly over 30 minutes, to an account of his past record as a congressman. He pointed out that he had been instrumental in "getting flood control out of politics" and bringing money into this area for flood control work. He cited his various positions on committees in congress, the appropriations committee, and others and his work in Korea.

He told the groups that he voted for the Taft-Hartley Act but had voted against President Truman forcing the steel workers back to work for an 80-day period. He also attacked Truman for his action in firing General MacArthur and said that he had requested Truman to resign from office.

He added that he had managed to secure for the people of the fifth district a system of flood control, pensions, and soil conservation measures, and promised that no one would lose their pension checks because they did not vote for him.

Passman concluded his speech with the statement that he was running for "a man-sized job, and a boy cannot hold it down."

All too infrequently there is discovered in our midst a man or woman who possesses as a gift of the gods unusual talent as an artist. There are many who paint a little for diversion, but a real born artist is not to be found every day.

It was with unusual interest that we had attention called to E. C. Morris, Jr., native of West Monroe, graduate of the Monroe Colored High school, and one who has degrees from well known colleges and universities, among the number being the Pittsburgh, Pa. Art Institute, Scott Carbee and the University of Boston.

But degrees do not always indicate that their possessors have real innate talent in any direction, yet in the case of Morris there is talent in abundance.

Some of his unusually skilled commercial art specimens were brought to the News-Star—World the past week and instantly a throng of amazed persons gathered to inspect and admire work so superior that it appeared that it could not in anyway be improved upon.

A number of firms are said to have offered posts to Morris and he can, we understand, get on the staff of art colleges, but he is not rushing to make any connection.

His art cannot be too highly commended.

short of the AEC request for $3,191,000,000, but the AEC said they will permit it to go ahead full-scale anyway.

In addition to the construction funds provided in the bill, the AEC got $88,094,000 for increased operating expenses.

The development program calls for 411 million dollars for expansion of facilities at the Hanford, Wash., plant and 171 million for additional facilities at the Savannah River, S. C., atomic centers.

Work on these additions will probably get under way sometime after new construction is started at Paducah and Oak Ridge, the AEC said.

The remainder of the atomic expansion program calls for about 11¼ million dollars for expansion of plant capacity to supply additional fissionable materials to the atomic centers. It also includes about four millions for expansion of "fabrication facilities," a phrase which the AEC did not explain; five millions for additional community facilities at existng plants and 9½ millons for construction requirements in the base program.

Mo., to be with her husband, drove up to the south entrance to the White House at 9:30 a. m. EST to be greeted by several members of the staff and more than a dozen reporters and cameramen.

The president stepped jauntily from the limousine, helped the first lady to alight, and then quipped to the small gathering:

"Well, are you fellows trying to take the limelight off the Chicago conventon?"

He said he was glad to be back and added he was feeling "fine." He posed for several minutes for the photographers telling them to take their time as that was all he had been doing all week. Asked later what he meant, he replied:

"I've had nothing to do but loaf."

Press Secretary Joseph Short told newsmen that "this little illness" would certainly not interfere with Truman's plans to go to the Chicago convention after the presidential nomination has been made. Nor would it prevent the "whistle stop" campaign the President plans to make for the Democratic ticket this fall, Short said.

70 House Members Attest To Shady Wall's Record

Shady R. Wall, candidate for congressman from the fifth congressional district of Louisiana, issued a resolution signed by over 70 members of the state house of representatives which counterattacked a recent charge that Wall had not been punctual with his duties in Baton Rouge.

Wall is a state representative from Ouachita parish and was an unsuccessful candidate for the congressional post two years ago. However, he was re-elected to the state lawmaking body.

Predicting victory, Wall has opened an extensive campaign and has scheduled appearances in almost every city and town in northeast Louisiana.

In issuing the resolution signed by his colleagues in Baton Rouge, Wall stated, "I do not intend to cast a reflection upon my opponent, but I believe the resolution conclusively proves that the charge made against me was grossly untrue."

Incumbent Otto E. Passman, recently stated that Wall had neglected his duty in that he did not participate in major legislation and that he had been absent at a number of important legislative decisions.

Signers of the resolution in Wall's behalf included the chairmen of all major house committees and 12 of the house members from the fifth district.

Also signing the resolution was Edwin F. Hunter, former representative from Caddo parish and campaign manager for Gov. Robert Kennon during the last election. Hunter also served as Kennon's executive assistant during the legislative rush and drew up some of the governor's major bills.

The resolution is as follows:

"WHEREAS, statements have recently appeared in the public press unjustly attacking the attendance record in the House of Representatives of our esteemed colleague Shady R. Wall, on the basis of the number of recorded absences on record votes; and

"WHEREAS, such statements tend to mislead the public by implying that the absence of a member at roll call necessarily indicates shirking by such member of his duty to his constituents; and

"WHEREAS, as a matter of fact Mr. Wall has been in constant attendance except for one day for which he was granted a leave of absence during the present session of the legislature, has consistently appeared at committee meetings and has performed his duty in a conscientious manner; and

"WHEREAS, the recorded absences of Mr. Wall as well as of many other members of this House are for the most part the result of conflicting appointments on legislative business which make attendance on roll call at such times impossible, and such statements are, therefore, an unjust reflection on Mr. Wall's record; and

"WHEREAS, such statements would, if not contradicted, constitute an equally unjust reflection upon the record of the overwhelming majority of the hard working members of this House: and the undersigned therefore, desire to record the true facts without in any manner taking issue in any political campaign in which Mr. Wall may be involved:

"NOW THEREFORE, we the undersigned members of the House of Representatives of the State of Louisiana do hereby attest that in our opinion the attendance record of the Honorable Shady R. Wall in the present Session of the Legislature is in accordance with the highest standards of conscientiousness and devotion to duty and one which would deserve commendation were it not the patent duty of every public official to so conduct himself.

"We further certify that this statement should in no way be construed as a political endorsement of Mr. Wall or as taking sides in any campaign for political office."

decide whether to adopt an oath-of-allegiance resolution binding all delegations to support the party nominee. Aside from Texas and Mississippi, a resolution like that wouldn't be particularly palatable in other parts of the South — Virginia, for example.

Presidential hopefuls, Kefauver and Harriman, were showing signs of teaming up informally to put the resolution across, to overturn the National Committee's decision and seat pro-administration delegations from Mississippi and Texas.

Kefauver turned out a blistering statement declaring that the delegations led by Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas and Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi — the ones the National Committee voted to seat —"are not Democrats."

"They do not recognize the first principle of democracy," Kefauver said. "That principle is that people can live together under majority rule. These people do not believe in majority rule."

The Tennessee senator said that the leaders of the two factions "may revolt" and deny the people of Mississippi and Texas a chance to vote for the nominee they want.

The fight is for democracy, Kefauver said, and "I shall wage it as long as necessary."

And from Harriman headquarters came a statement along similar lines from Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. He said the contests are a test of party loyalty, that "the issue is one of principle not of politics."

Harriman himself is trying for the nomination as a down the line supporter of the "New Deal" and "Fair Deal." Reports are popping up at various points on the convention scene that President Truman will offer his support to Harriman on the first ballot.

A member of the Truman Cabinet who didn't want his name used told a reporter that he personally expects Truman's vote — to be cast by a Missouri alternate — to go to Harriman at the outset. If Harriman doesn't run too well on subsequent ballots, the Cabinet member said, he expects Truman backing to shift to Vice-President Barkley.

The President still is planning to visit the convention. But the word from the White House and here at the center of things was that he won't turn up until after the presidential candidate is named. The Chief Executive is billed for a speech.

To CIO President Philip Murray, President Truman looks like the "ideal candidate." But the labor chieftain told a news conference he had no information to indicate the President might be placed in nomination.

Leaders of organized labor have been working quietly toward an understanding that might pool the delegates they control behind Harriman or Kefauver. What labor leaders want is a combination that is friendly to union aims and strong foe of the New Deal-Fair Deal programs.

SHADY WALL TAKES ISSUE WITH PASSMAN

Ouachita Parish Representative Shady Wall, candidate for Congress, last night lashed out at Congressman Otto Passman on two counts.

Attacking Passman for approving the present site chosen for reactivation of Selman field, Wall said, "I am for an air base in this vicinity, but do not approve of the present proposed location for two reasons.

"The first is for reasons of safety. To cite an example of how dangerous an air base located near the city limits can be I refer you to the tragic history of an airport located practically in the city limits in Elizabeth, New Jersey."

"So many bombers crashed, killing such a large number of people that the Air Force was compelled to condemn the base. We face the same situation here."

The second point brought out by Representative Wall was the recent cut in Selman Field appropriations which he said represented the difference between a permanent and a temporary base.

Wall said that if the present base was demolished to build the Army base it would be necessary to float a bond issue to erect a municipal base.

Wall asserted that Passman arranged a trip each year before the Congressional session, adding that two years ago he traveled to Korea. Upon his return, Wall said, Passman reported that everything was in good shape. After his return war broke out, he said.

This time, Wall continued, Passman again said everything was in good shape — then the outburst from the prisoners on Koje Island occurred.

"Passman says he goes overseas to represent your sons, and he represents the generals with whom he was photographed with while over there."

"If I am elected congressman, I will not dictate local politics," Wall said in listing his platform projects.

Wall further stated that he would raise tax exemptions, and make medical expenses deductible.

Wall also said that he would work for more progressive farm legislation and a better drainage and flood control program.

not changed his position in the slightest . . . ."

They said in a statement that Russell "still supports the objectives of the act and will continue to do so and is in no sense for its repeal."

Others besides the Floridians at the meeting included Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, Gov. Hugh L. White of Mississippi, Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas and Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana, Sen. Byrd of Virginia, Earl Long of Louisiana and former Gov. Cameron Morrison of North Carolina.

Sen. Stennis of Mississippi also was present but said he came on other business.

Byrd was asked by newsmen if there was a chance that Virginia's uninstructed delegation to the national convention might decide to switch to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, as their choice to head the state Democratic ticket.

Byrd replied that "all I can say is that I'm in a Democratic convention at this time."

Virginia has set up machinery to hold another convention after the Chicago nominee is named, and could act as it chose then.

Russell told reporters later that "I hope and believe the Virginia delegation will vote for me."

Russell issued a statement denouncing reports that, after voting originally for the Taft-Hartley Act, he changed his position recently as the result of talks with John L. Lewis, leader of the United Mine Workers.

The Minneapolis Star said yesterday that Russell switched his stand after two meetings with Lewis.

ANTI-TRUMAN

group had the support of President Truman in this move, Roosevelt said, "you'll have to ask the President."

A short time before Roosevelt's news conference, it was learned authoritatively that the Harriman forces were in telephone conversation with the White House in an effort to gain Truman's support of their plans for a party loyalty pledge.

The Harriman group, which Roosevelt said is supported in this issue by a "number of other states" besides New York, is opposed to the seating of party "regular" slates of delegates from Texas and Mississippi. These delegations, headed by the governors of the respective states, are anti-Truman. The Harriman group favors seating of opposing slates known as "loyalist" because they side with the Truman administration.

Roosevelt said a move would be made to amend either the temporary or permanent rules, depending on whether the permanent rules were adopted before the Credentials Committee of the convention makes its report on contested delegates.

"We want a showdown before the permanent seating of these delegatins," the son of the late President Roosevelt told reporters.

Roosevelt termed meaningless a declaration by the party' National Committee that the "honorable course of every delegate is to support the decisions of the convention."

Roosevelt indicated that Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the latter candidate for the presidential nomination, favored the loyalty pledge.

Democratic Feud On Civil Rights Issue Flares Again

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—Democratic feuding over civil rights boiled over in public again today, and worried party leaders grasped for some formula to avoid another North-South split such as occurred in 1948.

Two Northern senators, William Benton of Connecticut and Herbert H. Lehman of New York, ignored indications that many Dixie Democrats might be willing to compromise on the civil rights relations plank.

At public hearings by the platform drafters, Benton and Lehman called for:

1. "A ringing declaration for civil rights."

2. Action by the convention to ask the Senate to rewrite its rules. The idea would be to shut off filibusters—endless debate which Southern senators have used in the past to kill civil rights legislation.

Even Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who as Platform Committee chairman had been counted on to try for a compromise, appeared to get into the row.

If the convention which opens Monday is going to go on record as urging a change of Senate rules, McCormack said, "we also have a difficult situation in the House."

McCormack, floor leader of the House, noted that the House Rules Committee, which decides what bills are to be called up for action, can bottle up legislation indefinitely and sometimes has done so. Republicans and Southern Democrats dominate the Rules Committee.

McCormack said a discarded House rule which allowed committee chairmen to call up their bills on certain days, if the Rules Committee had pigeonholed them for 21 days or more, might be added to any Senate anti-filibuster plank such as Benton and Lehman advocated.

Lehman, a Platform Committee member, denied the contention of Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, a presidential candidate, that the Lehman proposal to combat filibusters would be gag rule.

It now takes the votes of 64 senators—two-thirds of the full membership of 96—to shut off debate and force a vote. This process, called cloture, has not been invoked successfully for years.

Benton and Lehman want to change this rule so that two-thirds of those present and voting—which might be far fewer than 64—could shut off debate within four days, or only a simple majority—49 if all are present—could end it after 15 days of debate.

There are indications that the whole issue may be fought out on the convention floor.

A dissent came from Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, who is backing Russell for the presidential nomination.

Sparkman said the platform group is "running far afield" if it gets involved in the mechanics of legislation. He said its job is to tell the public about party principles.

Archibald S. Alexander, who is campaigning for a U. S. Senate seat in New Jersey, declared the Democratic party "must not compromise" on the civil rights issue. He also urged "liberalization of the Senate cloture rule so as to permit a vote, after adequate debate, on civil rights and other vital issues."

Formal drafting of the platform will not begin until early next week. Public hearings will continue through Monday before a 21-member preliminary drafting group. The full committee, to be named Monday, will have two voting members from each state and territory.

WATCH LOST 30 YEARS

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP)— Farmer William Buescher tells this ticking good yarn about his watch.

Thirty years ago he was fixing fence on his Steeleville farm and lost his 17-jewel pocket watch. This summer he was working in the same fence corner and found the watch. Its leather strap fell apart as he picked it up. But after the timepiece was cleaned and polished, he said it was in good running condition.

items and that the way the money spent was left to the "honor" of the congressmen.

He said that he returned over $8,000 of the money provided for him in this manner and compared it with the record of his opponent. He charged that his opponent, within a short time, had hired his sister-in-law, his brother-in - law, and his wife on the money given him by congress and that he paid out "$13,831.47" to members of his own family from the money.

Passman left the subject of his opponent's "attacks" for a few minutes but shortly began comparing his record with that of his other opponent. This time, apparently, it was Shady Wall.

Passman said that his opponent had told the people that if he (the opponent) was elected to congress he would remain on the job, but that his record as a state representative proved that in a 60-day period while the house was in session he did not vote on 225 bills.

Congressman Passman pointed out that during his five years in congress he himself had missed voting only 57 bills in comparison with the number missed by his opponent. He added that his opponent dodged "all controversial bills in Baton Rouge."

"You just miss one bill in congress," Passman said, "and you will lose favor and will not be able to do anything for the people of this district."

"You must stand up and be counted," Passman said, "before you can do anything for the people."

Passman confined most of the rest of his speech, which lasted slightly over 30 minutes, to an account of his past record as a congressman. He pointed out that he had been instrumental in "getting flood control out of politics" and bringing money into this area for flood control work. He cited his various positions on committees in congress, the appropriations committee, and others and his work in Korea.

He told the groups that he voted for the Taft-Hartley Act but had voted against President Truman forcing the steel workers back to work for an 80-day period. He also attacked Truman for his action in firing General MacArthur and said that he had requested Truman to resign from office.

He added that he had managed to secure for the people of the fifth district a system of flood control, pensions, and soil conservation measures, and promised that no one would lose their pension checks because they did not vote for him.

Passman concluded his speech with the statement that he was running for "a man-sized job, and a boy cannot hold it down."

All too infrequently there is discovered in our midst a man or woman who possesses as a gift of the gods unusual talent as an artist. There are many who paint a little for diversion, but a real born artist is not to be found every day.

It was with unusual interest that we had attention called to E. C. Morris, Jr., native of West Monroe, graduate of the Monroe Colored High school, and one who has degrees from well known colleges and universities, among the number being the Pittsburgh, Pa. Art Institute, Scott Carbee and the University of Boston.

But degrees do not always indicate that their possessors have real innate talent in any direction, yet in the case of Morris there is talent in abundance.

Some of his unusually skilled commercial art specimens were brought to the News-Star—World the past week and instantly a throng of amazed persons gathered to inspect and admire work so superior that it appeared that it could not in anyway be improved upon.

A number of firms are said to have offered posts to Morris and he can, we understand, get on the staff of art colleges, but he is not rushing to make any connection.

His art cannot be too highly commended.

short of the AEC request for $3,191,000,000, but the AEC said they will permit it to go ahead full-scale anyway.

In addition to the construction funds provided in the bill, the AEC got $88,094,000 for increased operating expenses.

The development program calls for 411 million dollars for expansion of facilities at the Hanford, Wash., plant and 171 million for additional facilities at the Savannah River, S. C., atomic centers.

Work on these additions will probably get under way sometime after new construction is started at Paducah and Oak Ridge, the AEC said.

The remainder of the atomic expansion program calls for about 11½ million dollars for expansion of plant capacity to supply additional fissionable materials to the atomic centers. It also includes about four millions for expansion of "fabrication facilities," a phrase wihch the AEC did not explain; five millions for additional community facilities at existng plants and 94½ milons for construction requirements in the base program.

The president stepped jauntily from the limousine, helped the first lady to alight, and then quipped to the small gathering:

"Well, are you fellows trying to take the limelight off the Chicago conventon?"

He said he was glad to be back and added he was feeling "fine." He posed for several minutes for the photographers telling them to take their time as that was all he had been doing all week. Asked later what he meant, he replied:

"I've had nothing to do but loaf."

Press Secretary Joseph Short told newsmen that "this little illness" would certainly not interfere with Truman's plans to go to the Chicago convention after the presidential nomination has been made. Nor would it prevent the "whistle stop" campaign the President plans to make for the Democratic ticket this fall, Short said.

70 House Members Attest To Shady Wall's Record

Shady R. Wall, candidate for congressman from the fifth congressional district of Louisiana, issued a resolution signed by over 70 members of the state house of representatives which counterattacked a recent charge that Wall had not been punctual with his duties in Baton Rouge.

Wall is a state representative from Ouachita parish and was an unsuccessful candidate for the congressional post two years ago. However, he was re-elected to the state lawmaking body.

Predicting victory, Wall has opened an extensive campaign and has scheduled appearances in almost every city and town in northeast Louisiana.

In issuing the resolution signed by his colleagues in Baton Rouge, Wall stated, "I do not intend to cast a reflection upon my opponent, but I believe the resolution conclusively proves that the charge made against me was grossly untrue."

Incumbent Otto E. Passman, recently stated that Wall had neglected his duty in that he did not participate in major legislation and that he had been absent at a number of important legislative decisions.

Signers of the resolution in Wall's behalf inciuded the chairmen of all major house committees and 12 of the house members from the fifth district.

Also signing the resolution was Edwin F. Hunter, former representative from Caddo parish and campaign manager for Gov. Robert Kennon during the last election. Hunter also served as Kennon's executive assistant during the legislative rush and drew up some of the governor's major bills.

The resolution is as follows:

"WHEREAS, statements have recently appeared in the public press unjustly attacking the attendance record in the House of Representatives of our esteemed colleague Shady R. Wall, on the basis of the number of recorded absences on record votes; and

"WHEREAS, such statements tend to mislead the public by implying that the absence of a member at roll call necessarily indicates shirking by such member of his duty to his constituents; and

"WHEREAS, as a matter of fact Mr. Wall has been in constant attendance except for one day for which he was granted a leave of absence during the present session of the legislature, has consistently appeared at committee meetings and has performed his duty in a conscientious manner; and

"WHEREAS, the recorded absences of Mr. Wall as well as of many other members of this House are for the most part the result of conflicting appointments on legislative business which make attendance on roll call at such times impossible, and such statements are, therefore, an unjust reflection on Mr. Wall's record; and

"WHEREAS, such statements would, if not contradicted, constitute an equally unjust reflection upon the record of the overwhelming majority of the hard working members of this House; and the undersigned therefore, desire to record the true facts without in any manner taking issue in any political campaign in which Mr. Wall may be involved:

"NOW THEREFORE, we the undersigned members of the House of Representatives of the State of Louisiana do hereby attest that in our opinion the attendance record of the Honorable Shady R. Wall in the present Session of the Legislature is in accordance with the highest standards of conscientiousness and devotion to duty and one which would deserve commendation were it not the patent duty of every public official to so conduct himself.

"We further certify that this statement should in no way be construed as a political endorsement of Mr. Wall or as taking sides in any campaign for political office."

ROW ON SEATING

decide whether to adopt an oath-of-allegiance resolution binding all delegations to support the party nominee. Aside from Texas and Mississippi, a resolution like that wouldn't be particularly palatable in other parts of the South — Virginia, for example.

Presidential hopefuls, Kefauver and Harriman, were showing signs of teaming up informally to put the resolution across, to overturn the National Committee's decision and seat pro-administration delegations from Mississippi and Texas.

Kefauver turned out a blistering statement declaring that the delegations led by Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas and Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi — the ones the National Committee voted to seat —"are not Democrats."

"They do not recognize the first principle of democracy," Kefauver said. "That principle is that people can live together under majority rule. These people do not believe in majority rule."

The Tennessee senator said that the leaders of the two factions "may revolt" and deny the people of Mississippi and Texas a chance to vote for the nominee they want.

The fight is for democracy, Kefauver said, and "I shall wage it as long as necessary."

And from Harriman headquarters came a statement along similar lines from Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. He said the contests are a test of party loyalty, that "the issue is one of principle not of politics."

Harriman himself is trying for the nomination as a down the line supporter of the "New Deal" and "Fair Deal." Reports are popping up at various points on the convention scene that President Truman will offer his support to Harriman on the first ballot.

A member of the Truman Cabinet who didn't want his name used told a reporter that he personally expects Truman's vote — to be cast by a Missouri alternate — to go to Harriman at the outset. If Harriman doesn't run too well on subsequent ballots, the Cabinet member said, he expects Truman backing to shift to Vice-President Barkley.

The President still is planning to visit the convention. But the word from the White House and here at the center of things was that he won't turn up until after the presidential candidate is named. The Chief Executive is billed for a speech.

To CIO President Philip Murray, President Truman looks like the "ideal candidate." But the labor chieftain told a news conference he had no information to indicate the President might be placed in nomination.

Leaders of organized labor have been working quietly toward an understanding that might pool the delegates they control behind Harriman or Kefauver. What labor leaders want is a combination that is friendly to union aims and strong foe of the New Deal-Fair Deal programs.

At public hearings by the platform drafters, Benton and Lehman called for:

1. "A ringing declaration for civil rights."

2. Action by the convention to ask the Senate to rewrite its rules. The idea would be to shut off filibusters—endless debate which Southern senators have used in the past to kill civil rights legislation.

Even Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who as Platform Committee chairman had been counted on to try for a compromise, appeared to get into the row.

If the convention which opens Monday is going to go on record as urging a change of Senate rules, McCormack said, "we also have a difficult situation in the House."

McCormack, floor leader of the House, noted that the House Rules Committee, which decides what bills are to be called up for action, can bottle up legislation indefinitely and sometimes has done so. Republicans and Southern Democrats dominate the Rules Committee.

McCormack said a discarded House rule which allowed committee chairmen to call up their bills on certain days, if the Rules Committee had pigeonholed them for 21 days or more, might be added to any Senate anti-filibuster plank such as Benton and Lehman advocated.

Lehman, a Platform Committee member, denied the contention of Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, a presidential candidate, that the Lehman proposal to combat filibusters would be gag rule.

It now takes the votes of 64 senators—two-thirds of the full membership of 96—to shut off debate and force a vote. This process, called cloture, has not been invoked successfully for years.

Benton and Lehman want to change this rule so that two-thirds of those present and voting—which might be far fewer than 64—could shut off debate within four days, or only a simple majority—49 if all are present—could end it after 15 days of debate.

There are indications that the whole issue may be fought out on the convention floor.

A dissent came from Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, who is backing Russell for the presidential nomination.

Sparkman said the platform group is "running far afield" if it gets involved in the mechanics of legislation. He said its job is to tell the public about party principles.

Archibald S. Alexander, who is campaigning for a U. S. Senate seat in New Jersey, declared the Democratic party "must not compromise" on the civil rights issue. He also urged "liberalization of the Senate cloture rule so as to permit a vote, after adequate debate, on civil rights and other vital issues."

Formal drafting of the platform will not begin until early next week. Public hearings will continue through Monday before a 21-member preliminary drafting group. The full committee, to be named Monday, will have two voting members from each state and territory.

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP)— Farmer William Buescher tells this ticking good yarn about his watch.

Thirty years ago he was fixing fence on his Steeleville farm and lost his 17-jewel pocket watch. This summer he was working in the same fence corner and found the watch. Its leather strap fell apart as he picked it up. But after the timepiece was cleaned and polished, he said it was in good running condition.

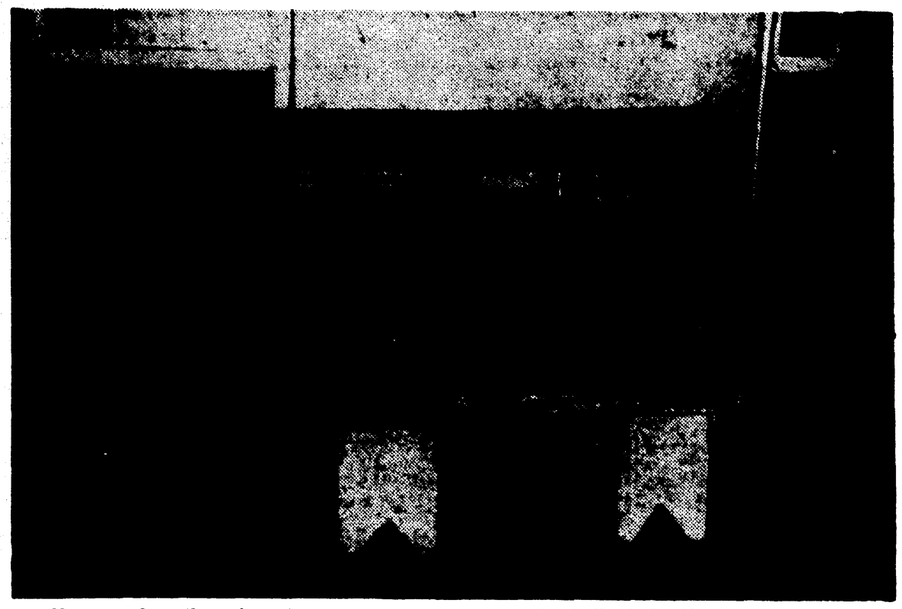
LOUISIANA STATE PENITENTIARY



Newsmen from throughout the state are shown above examining the cells in the new hospital at Angola, state penitentiary, after making a complete tour of the 18,000 acre penal farm at the request of Claude Harrison, director of state institutions. The bottom picture, showing a dice table drawn under neath a wooden table in the recreation hall of the Negro men's camp, is a perfect example of what's going on at Angola. A new reform program for the institution has recently been established by two veterans of the federal prison service who are on active duty at Angola. Better Conditions In Sight At Bleak Prison At Angola

BY YVONNE BRETT

A dawn is in view for the bleakness of Angola, Louisiana state penitentiary.

Two veterans of the federal prison service, Reed Cozart, superintendent of Angola, and Sam Anderson, warden, have set as their goal the reconstruction of the medieval system found existing at the penal institution when they assumed their duties on June 17.

During their short period of service the immediate evidence of the new administration is a better spirit among the prisoners. Remarks from some of the most bitter inmates, who only a few months ago testified before the citizens committee with a bitter hatred of all things, shows the hope which they hold for a new and better day for Angola.

The comment on the future of the institution in regard to its inmates by Warden Anderson was "you can train a man to be brutal just as you can get him to act like a human being if you treat him like one." The prisoners have been mistreated a long time, said Anderson, and in the short time Ive been here the response has been gratifying, to say the least.

All newsmen from throughout the state, who toured the institution, agreed that the most immediate visible effects of the new administration were the cleaner tables in the dining hall, better food in some of the camps, and the rebuilt building at Camp F for Negro men.

The dilapidated buildings, which slap one in the face while touring the 18,000 acre penal farm, are still in the same condition, although a little cleaner.

The over - crowded situation in the camps, which finds more than 300 men still sleeping in inadequate quarters where double deck beds are jammed one to another, is still an appalling problem along with the inadequate plumbing facilities.

The new hospital, built under the last state administration, has been opened and is also being used as a receiving station. Some 125 men are being treated at the new hospital which is still being plagued by dirt which sloughs off from a nearby hill and occasionally gets into the building itself.

Warden Anderson has reinstituted the disciplinary board which passes on punishment meted out to prisoners. The board is composed of two security employes and two non - security employes with the warden as the fifth member. Also active is an assignment committee which is composed of the farm superintendent, the business manager, the camp captain and the record clerk. This group will assign jobs to the prisoners.

The new warden further stated that he was opposed to the practice of working the prisoners 18 hours a day, which has been the practice in the past.

In an overall picture of the state penitentiary the new warden and the superintendent listed the reforms which they plan to establish. Both explained that these were only the basic plans and more extensive ones would be put into effect after the basic work had been laid.

The reforms include the elimination of the present camp system in favor of a three class system that would divide prisoners according to the amount of security they need and the extent of their willingness to cooperate.

The present program of camps includes camps for first offenders, both Negro and white, and camps for second offenders, including both races. White and Negro women are housed, in separate quarters, but in the same camp. The buildings which are used to house the prisoners are ancient and do not meet the demands of the large number of inmates, thereby encouraging gangs, sex degeneration, and other evils of over-crowding.

The second point of the program is a classification system that will screen prisoners to put them in jobs where they will be most useful and have the best opportunity for rehabilitation.

At the present time a man is brought to the institution, his name, age, address and crime recorded and no other classification. He is then placed in either the first or second offenders camp and then is usually assigned to work on the farm. In the past, the office jobs, inmate guards and other choice positions have gone to men who could use political influence.

The third reform is an extensive recreation and educational program to augment the rehabilitation plans. Until the citizens committee made its investigation of Angola there had been no recreation or educational program, but since that time the inmates have been given a slight amount of recreation.

Putting the prison on a self - sustaining basis as far as farm produce, laundry, maintenance and operations are concerned is the fourth plan. In recent years the legislature has had to appropriate huge sums to the institution whose records were in the red each year.

The fifth point is the gradual elimination of striped uniforms in favor of dungarees and other work clothes. The sixth point is a crackdown on gambling and limiting the amount of money prisoners may have in their possession. The unwritten rules of the camps make the inmate who has in his possession the largest sum of money the leader of the camp and thereby the ruler. Anderson and Cozart state that this can be eliminated by limiting the amount of money to inmates.

Still found in use were solitary cells in the new hospital, consisting of a bunk, wash basin and toilet and completely enclosed so as to not let any rays of light penetrate. One man was found confined in the solitary cell with a wounded foot. He had made an attempt to escape the prison.

The dungeons or sweat boxes at a Negro camp are still standing, though prisoners and officials state that they are not being used and are to be destroyed in the near future. The "Red Hats, solitary cells for whites, are still in use and had several prisoners confined within its bounds.

Warden's Anderson's theory on punishment of inmates is "that in the future we will have no use for the solitary cells since after the reform program is on a sound basis we can punish a man by removing a privilege. At the present time the men have no privileges.

Angola has made its first step in the direction of reform and the hopes for the future are bright. Men who are confined within the boundaries of the 18,000 acre farm express hope that they will be able to pay their debts to society as "human beings.

Selman Field Bill Public Law No. 534

Congressman Otto E. Passman said Saturday that the authorization bill for the construction of Selman Field was classified as Public Law 534. The appropriation bill for the field was numbered as Public Law 8370.

Passman stated that he had had numerous inquiries in the past weeks as to public laws on these bills.

SAFETY DRIVER LAST TEST NEAR

Will Be Given At Offices Of News-Star—World On July 28

The final test to name the Safety Driver of the Twin Cities safety campaign will be given at the offices of the Monroe News-Star — World July 28 at 8:30 p. m.

The 18 - week campaign, in which the Phantom Drivers picked a driver from both Monroe and West Monroe each week and named that person as the Safety Driver of the Week, ended a few weeks ago after successfully making the public safety conscious.

All persons who were named as weekly Safety Drivers will take the test to name the Safety Driver who will receive an all - expense paid vacation to Nassau via Delta airlines.

All weekly Safety Drivers are asked to report to the News-Star—World office shortly before 8 o'clock so that all may begin the test at the same time.

TEETH STOLEN

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—A man told police recently his car had been stolen and he pleaded for quick recovery. He said he could get along without the car for a few days but he had to have his false teeth. They were in the glove compartment.

WHO SAYS
"There's Nothing New Under The Sun?"

We don't — because we've installed a new John Bean VISUALINER in our Steering Service Department. It's the first machine we ever saw that can make driving safer by harnessing beams of light. Checks the wheel alignment on an automobile quick-as-flash and even projects a picture on a screen so that you can SEE FOR YOURSELF if your car needs attention.

DON'T TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT!

Drive in and let the VISUALINER show YOU why your car is steering hard. After all, seeing is believing, so see for yourself if your car is right for safe, economical, high-speed driving.

Ogden High School Teacher Tries Out Plan That Works

WINNSBORO, July 19 (Special) — Mrs. Tymia Williams, fourth grade eacher at Ogden High School, located seven miles west of Winnsboro, last year instituted and directed a social studies project which was planned and worked out by the fourth grade class. This is something new in teaching and really kept the children interested.

Last September for the first time, these little people were introduced to geography — maps, globes, etc. They were as interested in maps as they were in puzzles. Then they wanted to draw maps. Before long a very interesting project was beginning to take shape in the minds of the class. One day one of the children suggested that they draw maps of the different continents and make a globe. They started their map drawing but before long they decided that it would not be easy to make their maps fit a round object. They decided that they needed a table on which to place their home-made maps of the world, and have a material that would not bend. They presented their plans to the principal who very willingly helped them obtain the things they needed, a table four feet by six feet and a piece of masonite to make their maps. Masonite was used because it would withstand water and dampness without warping.

While they were waiting on their table to be made, they began to work on their maps. They drew the seven continents and traced them on the piece of masonite. The vocational department was asked to cut them out. During the time this was being done, the table was varnished and covered with aqua-colored paper to represent water. One morning when the weather was damp, the crepe paper was quite wavy. One of the children of the class explained to the class that the waves in the paper represented stormy weather on the sea.

Now they were ready to put the continents in their proper places. In order to do this it was necessary to have the equator, Arctic Circle, tropic of Cancer, tropic of Capricon, Anarctic circle, frigid zone, north temperature zone and the south frigid zone. These were added to the project and labeled. A blue cord was used to represent the equator and a white cord for the other lines. Now the wall map was needed to decide the proper location of the continents. After the continents were arranged in their proper places, these young adventurers were ready to start their imaginary journey around the world.

They left Monroe and visited Iceland, Norway, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Greece, the Sahara, the Congo and Australia. During their visit to each country it was necessary to learn about the climate, food, clothes, homes, schools, means of transportation, exports and imports, and compare them with our own country. They visited these countries with the Golden Rule always in mind.

One morning a number of animals from Cracker Jack boxes had found their way into the project. Of course these had to have a home and a name. This called for much reading, writing, spelling and created a great deal of interest.

Into the project was correlated reading, writing, spelling, language, geography, art and some arithmetic. It called for much reading to learn about each country. Stories, sentences, and compositions involved writing, spelling and language. Art was needed in making and designing booklets, constructing homes and arranging displays. Spelling meant more to the children because they were learning words that they needed and were using.

Arthmetic was used in measuring the table, figuring the price of the paper used on the table, placing the different lines on the table, finding the number of hours flying time between Monroe and Australia, and many other ways.

This piece of work is for from perfect but it means much to these children because it is their own work. They have watched it grow from a dream into a reality. If you think that school is all play and no work because it is not carried on as it was when you were in school then you are urged to visit this fourth grade class and let them show you why they are more eager to get to school than you were when you were in the fourth grade.

This year Mrs. Williams will same project in a more advanced form.

SAYS "SNOWMAN" EXISTS

SINGAPORE (AP)—A Calcutta - born naturopathetic physician now in Singapore believes in the existence of the "Abominable Snowman" — a monster said to inhabit the Himalayas.

E. P. McCarthy - Heyzer, who did research work in Calcutta before coming here, claims to have seen, in company of other witnesses, the "tremendous" footprints of the Snowman.

A light year is the distance which light travels in a year at the rate of about 186,000 miles a second.

4,650 Persons Patients At State Mental Institution

Former Inhumane Treatment Of Unruly Is No Longer Permitted

By YVONNE BRETT

The state mental hospital at Jackson is treating 4,650 patients at the present time.

The people of Louisiana, who have never visited the mental hospital would be both surprised and shocked to see the vast plant maintained by the state.

The old and the new are entwined at Jackson. New buildings of the latest design are mixed with buildings built in 1847 when the institution was founded.

One main factor prevails throughout the colony — that of cleanliness. The dormitories, dining rooms, kitchens, recreation parlors, dairy, laundry and administration building are all spotless whether new or old.

Dr. E. M. Robards, who has been in service with the hospital 21 years and recently was appointed superintendent, states that the hospital has a long path to travel in attaining the position of properly treating patients but that the atrocities which existed there years ago are in the past.

"The institution is operated strictly on a humane basis and cruel treatment of unruly patients is no longer tolerated," Robards said.

There has also been a gradual and progressive improvement both in the type of therapy and in the physical structure of the hospital.

The medical staff consists of 10 physicians and psychiatrists, 11 trained nurses and three psychologists. There are also two dietitians and approximately 735 employes.

There is an average of 1,500 to 1,800 electric shock treatments given on the various services per month, and 2,725 hydro - therapy given, approximately 2,000 to 3,000 treatments for other specific diseases. Dr. Robards stated that during recent months new medical equipment had been acquired and that future plans includes the purchase of still more.

Recreational therapy at the hospital is one of the most complete and best operated recreational therapy departments in the south. In a large complete building, devoted entirely to recreational therapy, patients have two dance nights a week, during the day all patients, who do not have to be confined to their dormitories due to the seriousness of their illness, can play ping pong, cards, and other games. A well equipped library, consisting of more than 10,000 books is also located on the grounds along with a hobby shop.

The recreational department has other activities of outdoor nature, such as baseball, softball and at the criminal buildings, which are separated from the rest of the colony, there is an individual recreational park.

All patients who are able to participate in work at the hospital are encouraged to do so. Patients are found working in the kitchen, laundry, on the grounds, at the dairy and on the farm.

The hospital maintains a rather large dairy unit with a certified herd and furnishes over half of the milk used by the hospital. The hospital used 36,800 gallons of milk per month which gives one and a fourth quarts per patient per day.

The farm colonies have a rather intensive program, which necessarily has to be in order to supply considerably in excess of a ton of vegetables per day. Other food stuff for the hospital is furnished by other state institutions.

Average cost per capita per day per patient is $1.35.

There is a dire need at the present for new buildings and increased medical personnel. These necessities are expected to be fulfilled in the future, but as Dr. Robards states "the operation of the hospital can be competent even though the facilities be lacking."

BOSTON (AP)—Miss Jane Frances Murphy, highest - ranking senior and valedictorian at Mt. St. Joseph Academy, can take her pick of 10 colleges at which to matriculate.

She has won scholarships at Chestnut Hill College, Trinity College, Regis College, Mt. St. Agnes College, St. Rose College, College of Notre Dame, Maywood College, Immaculate College, Our Lady of the Elnis and Emmanuel College.

Ogden High School Teacher Tries Out Plan That Works

WINNSBORO, July 19 (Special) — Mrs. Tymia Williams, fourth grade eacher at Ogden High School, located seven miles west of Winnsboro. last year instituted and directed a social studies project which was planned and worked out by the fourth grade class. This is something new in teaching and really kept the children interested.

Last September for the first time, these little people were introduced to geography — maps, globes, etc. They were as interested in maps as they were in puzzles. Then they wanted to draw maps. Before long a very interesting project was beginning to take shape in the minds of the class. One day one of the children suggested that they draw maps of the different continents and make a globe. They started their map drawing but before long they decided that it would not be easy to make their maps fit a round object. They decided that they needed a table on which to place their home-made maps of the world, and have a material that would not bend. They presented their plans to the principal who very willingly helped them obtain the things they needed, a table four feet by six feet and a piece of masonite to make their maps. Masonite was used because it would withstand water and dampness without warping.

While they were waiting on their table to be made, they began to work on their maps. They drew the seven continents and traced them on the piece of masonite. The vocational department was asked to cut them out. During the time this was being done, the table was varnished and covered with aqua-colored paper to represent water. One morning when the weather was damp, the crepe paper was quite wavy. One of the children of the class explained to the class that the waves in the paper represented stormy weather on the sea.

Now they were ready to put the continents in their proper places. In order to do this it was necessary to have the equator, Arctic Circle, tropic of Cancer, tropic of Capricon, Anarctic circle, frigid zone, north temperature zone and the south frigid zone. These were added to the project and labeled. A blue cord was used to represent the equator and a white cord for the other lines. Now the wall map was needed to decide the proper location of the continents. After the continents were arranged in their proper places, these young adventurers were ready to start their imaginary journey around the world.

They left Monroe and visited Iceland, Norway, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Greece, the Sahara, the Congo and Australia. During their visit to each country it was necessary to learn about the climate, food, clothes, homes, schools, means of transportation, exports and imports, and compare them with our own country. They visited these countries with the Golden Rule always in mind.

One morning a number of animals from Cracker Jack boxes had found their way into the project. Of course these had to have a home and a name. This called for much reading, writing, spelling and created a great deal of interest.

Into the project was correlated reading, writing, spelling, language, geography, art and some arithmetic. It called for much reading to learn about each country. Stories, sentences, and compositions involved writing, spelling and language. Art was needed in making and designing booklets, constructing homes and arranging displays. Spelling meant more to the children because they were learning words that they needed and were using.

Arthmetic was used in measuring the table, figuring the price of the paper used on the table, placing the different lines on the table, finding the number of hours flying time between Monroe and Australia, and many other ways.

This piece of work is for from perfect but it means much to these children because it is their own work. They have watched it grow from a dream into a reality. If you think that school is all play and no work because it is not carried on as it was when you were in school then you are urged to visit this fourth grade class and let them show you why they are more eager to get to school than you were when you were in the fourth grade.

This year Mrs. Williams will same project in a more advanced form.

SAYS "SNOWMAN" EXISTS

SINGAPORE (AP)—A Calcutta - born naturopathetic physician now in Singapore believes in the existence of the "Abominable Snowman' — a monster said to inhabit the Himalayas.

E. P. McCarthy - Heyzer, who did research work in Calcutta before coming here, claims to have seen, in company of other witnesses, the "tremendous" footprints of the Snowman.

4,650 Persons Patients At State Mental Institution

Former Inhumane Treatment Of Unruly Is No Longer Permitted

By YVONNE BRETT

The state mental hospital at Jackson is treating 4,650 patients at the present time.

The people of Louisiana, who have never visited the mental hospital would be both surprised and shocked to see the vast plant maintained by the state.

The old and the new are entwined at Jackson. New buildings of the latest design are mixed with buildings built in 1847 when the institution was founded.

One main factor prevails throughout the colony — that of cleanliness. The dormitories, dining rooms, kitchens, recreation parlors, dairy, laundry and administration building are all spotless whether new or old.

Dr. E. M. Robards, who has been in service with the hospital 21 years and recently was appointed superintendent, states that the hospital has a long path to travel in attaining the position of properly treating patients but that the atrocities which existed there years ago are in the past.

"The institution is operated strictly on a humane basis and cruel treatment of unruly patients is no longer tolerated," Robards said.

There has also been a gradual and progressive improvement both in the type of therapy and in the physical structure of the hospital.

The medical staff consists of 10 physicians and psychiatrists, 11 trained nurses and three psychologists. There are also two dietitians and approximately 735 employes.

There is an average of 1,500 to 1,800 electric shock treatments given on the various services per month, and 2,725 hydro - therapy given, approximately 2,000 to 3,000 treatments for other specific diseases. Dr. Robards stated that during recent months new medical equipment had been acquired and that future plans includes the purchase of still more.

Recreational therapy at the hospital is one of the most complete and best operated recreational therapy departments in the south. In a large complete building, devoted entirely to recreational therapy, patients have two dance nights a week, during the day all patients, who do not have to be confined to their dormitories due to the seriousness of their illness, can play ping pong, cards, and other games. A well equipped library, consisting of more than 10,000 books is also located on the grounds along with a hobby shop.

The recreational department has other activities of outdoor nature, such as baseball, softball and at the criminal buildings, which are separated from the rest of the colony, there is an individual recreational park.

All patients who are able to participate in work at the hospital are encouraged to do so. Patients are found working in the kitchen, laundry, on the grounds, at the dairy and on the farm.

The hospital maintains a rather large dairy unit with a certified herd and furnishes over half of the milk used by the hospital. The hospital used 36,800 gallons of milk per month which gives one and a fourth quarts per patient per day.

The farm colonies have a rather intensive program, which necessarily has to be in order to supply considerably in excess of a ton of vegetables per day. Other food stuff for the hospital is furnished by other state institutions.

Average cost per capita per day per patient is $1.35.

There is a dire need at the present for new buildings and increased medical personnel. These necessities are expected to be fulfilled in the future, but as Dr. Robards states "the operation of the hospital can be competent even though the facilities be lacking."

BOSTON (AP)—Miss Jane Frances Murphy, highest - ranking senior and valedictorian at Mt. St. Joseph Academy, can take her pick of 10 colleges at which to matriculate.

She has won scholarships at Chestnut Hill College, Trinity College, Regis College, Mt. St. Agnes College, St. Rose College, College of Notre Dame, Marywood College, Immaculate College, Our Lady of the Elnis and Emmanuel College.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Summer is usually a slack season in the publishing world and it is difficult for libraries to keep up with requests for new books for their patrons. However, last week a number of new titles were added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

For the mystery readers there are two new titles "Campaign Train" by the Gordons and "The Black Dream" by Constance and Gwenyth Little. "Campaign Train" is the thrilling story of a group of people on a presidential campaign tour. It is especially apropos this year. "The Black Dream" by Constance and Gwenyth Little is the story of murder in a boarding house and all of the peculiar people who live there and are mixed up in the death of the cook.

A very interesting biography which reads like a novel is "Theodore and the Emperor" by Harold Lamb. This is the story of life in the eastern Roman empire and the strange story of the peasant and the circus girl who rose to rule this empire. Mr. Lamb is a skillful writer and he gives a colorful and fascinating picture of this age and the personalities who controlled the destinies of many men and women.

Historical novels are popular with a great many readers. There are four new ones of this type. "They Had a Glory" by Davenport Steward sheds a warm light on the first settlers of Kentucky, people who came there seeking a better life for their children. It is the human story of people who were brave and afraid, cruel and kind, merciful and merciless as well as the tender love story of a courageous man and an equally courageous woman who found themselves and each other on the trail leading into "The dark and bloody ground"

"The Cumberland Rifles" by Noel B. Gerson is a story of the lost state of Franklin, which is now known as Tennessee. This is the exciting story of a beautiful woman loved by two men and of the intrigue and danger in which they were engaged. It is also a story of a little - known period in our country's history and is informative as well as interesting.

Thomas B. Costain is one of the most scholarly as well as interesting novelists of the present day. His latest book "The Silver Chalice," is a story of what happened to the cup used by Christ at the Last Supper with his disciples. This is a story of spectacular beauty, power and spiritual insight, one to be read and reread for many years.

"The Quiet Life of Mrs. General Lane" by Victoria Case is a story of the growth of America and the part that one man played in it. It is also the story of his wife Polly. She was only twelve years when she fled an Indian massacre to float down the Ohio river alone in an open boat. She was taken in by a pioneer Kentucky family and raised as their daughter. She married Joe Lane for love, but did not know that he was a man of destiny who allowed nothing to interfere with his plans to change the map of Indiana. This is a vital interesting story and one that is well worth reading.

If you prefer reading stories with a modern setting, you will surely want to read "Indian Summer" by Robert Sylvester and "The Early Frost" by Clare Jaynes.

"The Early Frost" is the story of a child of a broken home who fought against a world she did not understand. This is the story of her last year in boarding school and her pathetic attempts to mingle with the other girls. Clare Jaynes has written a story that speaks eloquently for all the lonely children of divorce. The hero of Indian summer is a man whom many of you will feel that you know, or think you know. He is middle-aged, self-made, successful and comfortably married. Mellowed by a heart break carefully concealed, he is tough, honest and aware — a man in whom simplicity and sophistication are gracefully combined, a thoroughly nice guy. This is the story of what happened to when he met and fell in love a younger woman. You may t you know what Frank Linken cided to do. But do you?

Ask for these books at branch of the Ouachita Pa Public Library.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Summer is usually a slack season in the publishing world and it is difficult for libraries to keep up with requests for new books for their patrons. However, last week a number of new titles were added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

For the mystery readers there are two new titles "Campaign Train" by the Gordons and "The Black Dream" by Constance and Gwenyth Little. "Campaign Train" is the thrilling story of a group of people on a presidential campaign tour. It is especially apropos this year. "The Black Dream" by Constance and Gwenyth Little is the story of murder in a boarding house and all of the peculiar people who live there and are mixed up in the death of the cook.

A very interesting biography which reads like a novel is "Theodore and the Emperor" by Harold Lamb. This is the story of life in the eastern Roman empire and the strange story of the peasant and the circus girl who rose to rule this empire. Mr. Lamb is a skilful writer and he gives a colorful and fascinating picture of this age and the personalities who controlled the destinies of many men and women.

Historical novels are popular with a great many readers. There are four new ones of this type. "They Had a Glory" by Davenport Steward sheds a warm light on the first settlers of Kentucky, people who came there seeking a better life for their children. It is the human story of people who were brave and afraid, cruel and kind, merciful and merciless as well as the tender love story of a courageous man and an equally courageous woman who found themselves and each other on the trail leading into "The dark and bloody ground"

"The Cumberland Rifles" by Noel B. Gerson is a story of the lost state of Franklin, which is now known as Tennessee. This is the exciting story of a beautiful woman loved by two men and of the intrigue and danger in which they were engaged. It is also a story of a little - known period in our country's history and is informative as well as interesting.

Thomas B. Costain is one of the most scholarly as well as interesting novelists of the present day. His latest book "The Silver Chalice," is a story of what happened to the cup used by Christ at the Last Supper with his disciples. This is a story of spectacular beauty, power and spiritual insight, one to be read and reread for many years.

"The Quiet Life of Mrs. General Lane" by Victoria Case is a story of the growth of America and the part that one man played in it. It is also the story of his wife Polly. She was only twelve years when she fled an Indian massacre to float down the Ohio river alone in an open boat. She was taken in by a pioneer Kentucky family and raised as their daughter. She married Joe Lane for love, but did not know that he was a man of destiny who allowed nothing to interfere with his plans to change the map of Indiana. This is a vital interesting story and one that is well worth reading.

If you prefer reading stories with a modern setting, you will surely want to read "Indian Summer" by Robert Sylvester and "The Early Frost" by Clare Jaynes.

"The Early Frost" is the story of a child of a broken home who fought against a world she did not understand. This is the story of her last year in boarding school and her pathetic attempts to mingle with the other girls. Clare Jaynes has written a story that speaks eloquently for all the lonely children of divorce. The hero of Indian summer is a man whom many of you will feel that you know, or think you know. He is middle-aged, self-made, successful and comfortably married. Mellowed by a heart break carefully concealed, he is tough, honest and aware — a man in whom simplicity and sophistication are gracefully combined, a thoroughly nice guy. This is the story of what happened to him when he met and fell in love with a younger woman. You may think you know what Frank Linken decided to do. But do you?

Ask for these books at your branch of the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

THE HOME SHIFT With Mildred Swift

Since we've had such nice rains this week—you can now turn off the hose. Isn't it a relief not having to remember to run change the hose every few hours? Those other short, heavy showers we had, hardly soaked through the mulch.

Mid-Summer Beauty

Have you ever seen anything more beautiful than the crepe myrtles in bloom in the Twin Cities? The colors run from white to pastel pink, deep pink, watermelon red and lavender. My favorite is the new pastel pink, but its beauty is dimmed if it is planted too close to the deeper shades of pink. Some gardeners don't like the lavender but planted with the white, it takes on a deeper shade (or looks that way) and the two are beautiful together.

If you'll keep the withered blooms cut on your crepe myrtles, they'll bloom over a longer period of time. This helps to keep them pruned, too. You can let your plants grow into trees or keep them back in shrub shape. The trees are gorgeous in the background in screen plantings. I even like the grayish rough trunks in the winter when all the leaves and blooms are gone. Eva Haynes says she likes the bare trees, too.

Garden Rakings

After your hydrangeas have finished blooming, prune them. Next year's blossoms are produced on this year's growth. They'll probably need only the dead blossoms and stems cut as the plant only grows to a height of about five feet. This shrub likes plenty of compost and mulch for acid and to keep their roots damp. The addition of aluminum sulphate helps to keep the blossoms blue, lime keeps them pink. Don't get impatient, though, because it usually takes two years for the plant to make the change.

If you want to see a gorgeous lawn (and gorgeous is the only word to completely describe it) drive by Mrs. M. Hatcher's yard, 4300 Lee avenue. She has a complete sod of centipede. Our department has done no research on this grass, so I was glad to get some first hand information from Mrs. Hatcher. She says, "Centipede requires a rich soil and here in the south, it should be planted in the winter. You can get a stand with summer planting if you sprig in the shade or keep the grass shaded until it gets off to a good start. The grass requires lots of water to get started, but then takes the draught without any trouble."

Everywhere around the Twin Cities I see dead tips on bearded Iris foliage. Cut this off, shaping the plants like fans as you cut. Mrs. Gates says this is to make room for the bloom buds. Iris is dormant now and can be transplanted. Cut the tops as suggested. Work a handful of bone meal in the soil and plant the rhizoime shallow. If you plant Iris deep you get no blooms.

I'm real flattered—Eunice Forman says husband George reads this column before he reads the news. But then George is a born gardner and likes to read about plants. You can tell by his yard (which is only a year old) that he's a good gardner. Drive by 1102 North McGuire and see what can be done in a short time—"with plenty of work," says George.

Just Plain Cute

The trickiest table cloth for the patio was made by Tony Veazy. She used solid yellow denim, one width down the center, a half width sewed on each side. In these lengthwise seams, 18 inches part, she sewed short tabs made of the denim with a celluloid ring in the end. Through these tabs she pulled red bandana handkerchiefs for napkins. Isn't that a novel idea: Inexpensive too.

Time's Up

It's time to sign off, but before I go—please call 3-2251 for your freezing bulletin. You may not be able to reach me when you start preparing the food and—please do not call me at eleven at night for blanching time for peas. I may not give you the correct instructions when half asleep.

Miss Charlene Kaplan Is Bride Of Louis Daniel Smith

Impressive Ceremony Solemnized In Home Of The Bride's Parents

The wedding of Charlene Kaplan and Louis Daniel Smith took place on June 25 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Kaplan, on Auburn Avenue, with only the members of the immediate families present.

Preceding the ceremony, Polly Jean Phelps, a lifelong friend of the bride, sang "Through the Years" and "Because." She was accompanied by Mrs. Sol Snyder, an aunt of the bride.

Mrs. Gerald Orken, sister of the bride entered the flower-banked drawing room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Her gown was of blue organza which accentuated her beautiful brunette coloring. Her bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and pink carnations enhanced her loveliness.

The bride was exquisite in a bouffant gown of white satin with a bertha of rose-point lace, the long sleeves and back of the gown fastened by hundreds of tiny satin covered buttons. She carried a prayerbook which belonged to the grandmother of her aunt, Mrs. David Snyder. Hanging from it were white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The old luck charm of something blue was carried out by a hidden blue ribbon.

Entering on the arm of her father, Charlene joined the groom. Mr. Sam Smith acted as best man for his son.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Rabbi Hirsch. Mr. Max Kaplan, grandfather of the bride, chanted an ancient Jewish prayer of blessing for the newly married couple.

In the dining-room, decorated with white peonies, the family toasted the couple with champagne. The lace covered and flower adorned bride's table with its huge two-tiered wedding cake was presided over by Mrs. David Snyder, Mrs. Sol Snyder and Mrs. Bernie Wilenzick. Salted and sugared almonds, turkey sandwiches and dainty cakes were faultlessly served by white clad attendants.

Mrs. David Kaplan, mother of the bride, was gowned in flesh colored chiffon. Mrs. Sam Smith, mother of the groom, wore an exquisite gown of rose-biege silk shantung with matching accessories.

The bride's going away costume was a burgundy suit with the blouse and coat lining of white. The purse, shoes, gloves and hat were of black.

The bride was graduated from Neville High School and Newcomb College.

The groom was graduated from Neville High School and Louisiana State University, where he received his B. A. and LL. B. degrees.

After their honeymoon in Acapulco Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smith will be at home to their friends in Monroe at 303 Auburn, until the completion of their home on Pargoud Boulevard.

Out-of-town relatives attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Abe Goldberg, Louisville, Ky.; Dr. and Mrs. Harry Goldberg, Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Max Goldberg, Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Florette Michael, Athens, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Casper, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Ben Mosesman, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Morris Mosesman, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Frank Fife, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. David Bernstein, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hammel and son, Mr. Phillip Hammel, Kenosha, Wis.; Dr. and Mrs. Louis Smith, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Connell, Belcher, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Harris and son, Andy Harris, Shreveport, La.; Mrs. Sam Wiener, Jr., Shreveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Moses Smith, Ruston, La.

THE HOME SHIFT With Mildred Swift

Since we've had such nice rains this week—you can now turn off the hose. Isn't it a relief not having to remember to run change the hose every few hours? Those other short, heavy showers we had, hardly soaked through the mulch.

Mid-Summer Beauty

Have you ever seen anything more beautiful than the crepe myrtles in bloom in the Twin Cities? The colors run from white to pastel pink, deep pink, watermelon red and lavender. My favorite is the new pastel pink, but its beauty is dimmed if it is planted too close to the deeper shades of pink. Miss Charlene Kaplan Is Bride Of Louis Daniel Smith

Impressive Ceremony Solemnized In Home Of The Bride's Parents

The wedding of Charlene Kaplan and Louis Daniel Smith took place on June 25 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Kaplan, on Auburn Avenue, with only the members of the immediate families present.

Preceding the ceremony, Polly Jean Phelps, a lifelong friend of the bride, sang "Through the Years" and "Because." She was accompanied by Mrs. Sol Snyder, an aunt of the bride.

Mrs. Gerald Orken, sister of the bride entered the flower-banked drawing room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Her gown was of blue organza which accentuated her beautiful brunette coloring. Her bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and pink carnations enhanced her loveliness.

The bride was exquisite in a bouffant gown of white satin with a bertha of rose-point lace, the long sleeves and back of the gown fastened by hundreds of tiny satin covered buttons. She carried a prayerbook which belonged to the grandmother of her aunt, Mrs. David Snyder. Hanging from it were white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The old luck charm of something blue was carried out by a hidden blue ribbon.

Entering on the arm of her father, Charlene joined the groom. Mr. Sam Smith acted as best man for his son.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Rabbi Hirsch. Mr. Max Kaplan, grandfather of the bride, chanted an ancient Jewish prayer of blessing for the newly married couple.

In the dining-room, decorated with white peonies, the family toasted the couple with champagne. The lace covered and flower adorned bride's table with its huge two-tiered wedding cake was presided over by Mrs. David Snyder, Mrs. Sol Snyder and Mrs. Bernie Wilenzick. Salted and sugared almonds, turkey sandwiches and dainty cakes were faultlessly served by white clad attendants.

Mrs. David Kaplan, mother of the bride, was gowned in flesh colored chiffon. Mrs. Sam Smith, mother of the groom, wore an exquisite gown of rose-biege silk shantung with matching accessories.

The bride's going away costume was a burgundy suit with the blouse and coat lining of white. The purse, shoes, gloves and hat were of black.

The bride was graduated from Neville High School and Newcomb College.

The groom was graduated from Neville High School and Louisiana State University, where he received his B. A. and LL. B. degrees.

After their honeymoon in Acapulco Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smith will be at home to their friends in Monroe at 303 Auburn, until the completion of their home on Pargoud Boulevard.

Out-of-town relatives attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Abe Goldberg, Louisville, Ky.; Dr. and Mrs. Harry Goldberg, Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Max Goldberg, Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Florette Michael, Athens, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Casper, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Ben Mosesman, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Morris Mosesman, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Frank Fife, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. David Bernstein, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hammel and son, Mr. Phillip Hammel, Kenosha, Wis.; Dr. and Mrs. Louis Smith, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Connell, Belcher, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Harris and son, Andy Harris, Shreveport, La.; Mrs. Sam Wiener, Jr., Shreveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Moses Smith, Ruston, La.

MISS ALICE MAE COLLIE IS BRIDE OF JOHN CALVIN HOWARD

The New Hope Baptist Church of Ruston was the scene for the marriage of Miss Alice Mae Collie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Collie of Ruston and Mr. John Calvin Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Howard of Choudrant: Rev. D. B. Tullos officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Providing the setting was an arch entwined with ivy against a background of burning white tapers and greenery. Flanking the arch were tall baskets of white gladioli and fern.

Prior to the ceremony Miss Elaine Lolly played a program of prenuptial music and accompanied Mr. Charles Littleton who sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly". At the conclusion of the ceremony he sang "The Lord's Prayer'. The traditional marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn marked the processional and recessional.

The candles were lighted by Mr. Prentice Ambrose and Mr. Benjamin Rea while "Claire de Lune" was softly played.

Preceding the bride to the altar and serving as her matron-of-honor was her sister, Mrs. R. A. Stephenson of Augusta, Ga. She was wearing a gown of pink organdy over taffeta designed with a sweetheart neckline and full gathered skirt. Mrs. M. D. McBee of Shreveport and Miss Florence Collie, sister of the bride, serving as bridesmaids were also gowned in pastel shades of blue and green organdy over taffeta fashioned identically to that of Mrs. Stephenson's. They carried matching nosegays of Marguarite daisies.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a gown of white embroidered organdy over taffeta fashioned with a scalloped sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves that tapered to points over her hands. The tight fitting bodice was joined to the bouffant skirt edged with a dust ruffle of Swiss organdy. Her tiered veil of nylon tulle fell from a cap of embroidered organdy. The bride's only ornaments were a double string pearl necklace and matching earrings, a gift of the groom. She carried a white Bible topped by a single orchid with white satin streamers.

Mr. Donald Hammons, of Choudrant, served the groom as best man. Mr. Prentice Ambrose and Mr. Benjamin Rea, both of Ruston, served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Collie chose a navy and white printed nylon dress with navy accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Howard, chose a light blue nylon dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, overlaid with a sheer organdy cloth, was centered with crystal candelabra holding white tapers, at the base of which lay the bride's bouquet. At one end of the table was placed the three - tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom and encircled by pink althea and ivy which trailed along the table to encircle the crystal punch bowl at the opposite end.

Miss Josephine Colvin served the cake and Miss Betty Brown presided at the punch bowl. Miss Martha Jean Green asked the guests to sign the bride's book.

For their wedding trip to the Ozarks, the bride was wearing a pastel blue suit trimmed in white pique with white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. Howard is a graduate of Choudrant High school and La. Tech. Mr. Howard is a graduate of Ruston High school and is employed by the Louisiana Power and Light company.

Upon their return, the bride and groom will be at home in Delhi.

Tallulah Methodist Church Is Setting For Impressive Double-Ring Ceremony

A wedding of beauty and charming simplicity was solemnized at the Methodist Church in Tallulah on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, when Miss Christine Medlin, daughter of Mrs. C. M. Medlin and the late Mr. Medlin became the bride of Frederick William Drane, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Drane of Forest, La.

The Rev. Alton A. McKnight read the impressive double-ring ceremony in the presence of a gathering of friends and relatives of the young couple. Tall white floor baskets filled with daisies and feathery greenery and masses of nandina foliage at the base formed the decorations within the chancel.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Vernon Thompson, rendered a program of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Sallie Joe Foster, who sang, "Through the Years" and at the close, "The Lord's Prayer". The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

The bride had as her only attendant, her sister, Mrs. Fay Howell, of Bastrop, who wore a pastel blue eyelet batiste dress with white embroidery trim and white shaped bouquet of blue maline and daisies and wore a matching headdress.The flower girl, little Donna Rodwig of New Orleans, wore an orchid colored dress with white organdy pinafore, and carried a basket of daisy petals which she dropped in the path of the bride.

Escorted to the altar by her uncle, Dr. J. Roy Medlin, who gave her in marriage, the bride was lovely in her street length wedding dress of white, fashioned with a redingote of all over embroidery with cord belt, made by her own clever fingers. Her headdress was of white maline and daisies and she carried a fan shaped bouquet of daisies and maline tied with tiny white satin ribbon.

The bridegroom had as his best man, William Mobley of Baton Rouge and the ushers were Odis D. Jackson of Oak Grove, brother-in-law of the bride and Erle Read, Jr., Tallulah.

Following the wedding Dr. and Mrs. J. Roy Medlin were hosts at a reception at their home on LaSalle street. Beautiful arrangements of white blossoms were placed at vantage point through out the reception rooms and above the bride's table hung a cluster of white and silver wedding bells. After greeting the hosts and members of the wedding party the guests were served from the beautifully appointed table with its handmade lace cover and centered with the bride's bouquet. At one end stood the punch bowl where Misses Shirley and Mickey Drane sisters of the bridegroom, alternated at the service and at the other end was placed the handsomely embossed three-tiered cake served by Mrs. Robert Burrough of Baton Rouge and Mrs. John D. Calhoun of Ruston. Dainty and delicious sandwiches, nuts and mints were also served. Miss Adell Drane, sister of the groom, presided at the bride's book.

Assisting in the courtesies at the reception and with the decorations at the church were Mrs. Frank Thomas, Mrs. Robert E. Brown, Mrs. John S. Holloway, Mrs. R. R. Spigener Mrs. G. L. Garrison, Mrs. G. M. Fuller, Mrs. Thelma Gilbert and Mrs. A. F. Graves.

When the couple left for their wedding trip the bride was wearing a powder blue linen worn with white bolero and white accessories. After spending two weeks at Hot Springs and other points in Arkansas they will reside in Forest where Mr. Drane is engaged in agriculture work.

The bride is a graduate of the Tallulah High school and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute where she received her degree in the school of home economics. She has been a member of the faculty of the Forest High School, Mr. Drane is a graduate of the Forest High School and for several years has been a member of the Merchant Marines.

Out - of - town guests at the wedding were W. E. Drane, Misses Adell, Shirley and Mickey Drane of Forest, Mr. and Mrs. Odis D. Jackson, Oak Grove, Mrs. Lacey M. Parkman, Eudora, Ark., Mrs. O. M. Old Songs Are Back As Unusual Noises

Disc-Makers Wax Rich On Revivals With Howls Anr Echoes

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — "Gee, that song takes me back."

About the only people who don't get that reaction once in a while when they listen to popular music these days are people born in 1951. If you're any older, you're almost certain to hear an old melody sandwiched in between the commercials on every disc jockey show.

That's because we're right smack in the middle of an era of song revivals.

For proof of the trend, look at the latest list of record hits as compiled by Cash-Box, a magazine of the juke box industry.

Of the top 25 most-played juke box records, six are songs that have been exhumed—"Tiger Rag," "Broken-Hearted," "Charmaine," "Undecided." "Garden in the Rain," and "Anytime."

Of the top 50 best-selling records, 12 are old-timers—the above-named six plus "Perfidia," "Chinatown," "Tenderly," "Jealousy," "Babalu," and "Temptation."

The reason behind the interest in decrepit ditties is obscure.

"We are in a 'sound phase' in the record industry," says a top recording official. "There's a passion for unique sound effects— like the harpsichord behind Rosemary Clooney's record of 'Come on-a My House.' That turned a strictly ordinary song into a hit.

There are other top records that rely on unusual noises. One of the biggest recording stars of the moment is Johnny Ray, who howls into voice boxes and echo chambers to get his effects.

Les Paul and Mary Ford—whose big hits like "How High the Moon" and "All the World is Waiting for the Sunrise" were revivals—play around with echoes. Harpist Bobby Maxwell—currently represented by "Chinatown"—uses a triple recording to get unusual effects.

"All this preoccupation with sounds," the record man continues, "means that the song is secondary. The song wrter is less important than the sound engineer. Whether this is the basic cause or not, the new songs are simply not as good as the old ones."

That's one opinion. Another man says the recent movies on lives of song writers, like the current story of Gus Kahn, "I'll See You In My Dreams," automatically brings back the songs warbled in the film. In this instance, Doris Day's record of the title song is coming on fast.

Another theory fixes the cause as the revival of the "Miller-type" band, pattered after Glenn Miller's highly successful orchestra of the late '30s and early '40s.

"All of a sudden," says this theorist, "the bands all want to play like Miller played. And the only arrangements they can get are the stock arrangements made for Miller—things like 'At Last' and 'Kalamazoo.' So you go to a nightclub and all you hear are 'At Last' and 'Kalamazoo.'"

The folk song trend, at its peak about a year ago, made people conscious of old melodies, too. It's slackened a bit, but Gordon Macrae's new record is an ancient folk-song, "900 Miles," and is looked on as a coming hit.

There are many other songs bombarding the air waves. Some of the money-makers are "Always," "A Kiss to Build a Dream On," "I Hear a Rhapsody," "Sleepy Time Down South," "Down Yonder"—and there's even a fancy new recording by Johnny Long of "Down By the Old Mill Stream."

Even the new songs are often dressed-up oldies. You'll be hearing a lot of "Hambone"—it's a new tune, with lyrics lifted right out of old folk songs. And "A Guy Is a Guy," a big-budget Doris Day record, is based, music and words, on an old sea chanty.

So music, maestro, please, and why not? They're digging that one up, too.

First Methodist Church In St. Petersburg, Fla., Is Setting For Impressive Service

The Gilbert Memorial Chapel of the First Methodist Church of St. Petersburg, Fla., was the setting Wednesday, July 9th at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the wedding of Miss Clarada Blanche Cocking, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil R. Cocking, of St. Petersburg, and Second Lt. Harry Alan Pribble, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Pribble, of this city.

The bridal couple exchanged the vows of the impressive ceremony before an altar which was decorated with potted palms and standards of white gladioli. Dr. Robert Allen officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Percy Ware, at the organ, played several selections of nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of imported Swiss embroidered organdy over taffeta with a fitted bodice and an off-the- shoulder scalloped neckline filled in with a yoke of nylon tulle. The full skirt flowed into a chapel train and had a front panel of pleated plain organdy. Her veil of English illusion fell from a bonnet of pleated organdy.

Miss Cynthis Faneuf, maid of honor, was gowned in nile green nylon embroidered with white daisies, and had a nosegay corsage. Miss Elysabeth Stedman, bridesmaid, wore a nile green nylon gown, embroidered with white daisies, with a nosegay corsage.

Mr. R. R. Pribble served his son as best man and usher was John Ellis.

Reception

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Fellowship room of the church. A white crocheted tablecloth covered the bride's table, which was centered and decorated with white gladioli. Assistants were the Misses Jean Northrup, Sally Greenland and Judy Schleman.

Mrs. Cocking, mother of the bride, was wearing a navy and white printed sheer dress, with matching accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. Pribble, chose for the occasion, a champagne lace dress with matching accessories.

Out-of-town guests were parents of the groom, Mrs. H. L. Burk, aunt of the bride, of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown of Tampa, Fla.

For their wedding trip the bridal couple will tour through the states of Florida and Louisiana and then to the Great Smokies. The bride wore for her traveling outfit a beige nylon sheer dress, with white accessories, and an orchid corsage. After July 23, the couple will reside in Quantico, Va.

A native of Tampa, the bride graduated from S. P. H. S., and attended Huntington College, Montgomery, Ala.

The groom graduated from Neville High School and Northeast Junior College of Louisiana State University. June 6 he graduated from the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., and will be stationed at Quantico, Va., for the next five months in the Marine Corps.

Win One Class Meets

The July meeting of the Win One Sunday school class of the Olla Baptist Church was held recently in the home of Mrs. Ted Nethery. The devotional, "What is a Christian" was given by Mrs. Evelyn Brockner and followed by prayer by Mrs. Hollie Sims.

After playing several games, Mrs. Nethery served refreshments to the following: Mrs. Hallie Sims, Mildred Dale, Nila Mae Swanson, Evelyn Brockner, Elizabeth Cockerman, Louise Tullos, Merle Blake, Margaret Morrison, Vona McDougal, Florence Wooly, Laverne Ingram, Mildred Thompson, and Thelma Brown.

WOMEN OF NORTHSIDE METHODIST CHURCH MEET TO FORM W. S. C. S.

An enthusiastic group of women of the Northside Methodist Church gathered in the home of Mrs. John S. Brown Tuesday morning at ten o'clock July 15, to make the inaugural plans for the formation of a Woman's Society of Christian Service.

The meeting was opened with a reading from Holy Scripture and a prayer following which Dr. Benjamin R. Oliphint, pastor, spoke in an inspiring manner on the role women played in the life and ministry of Jesus, beginning with the Anunciation and the voicing of the Magnificat and concluding with the scene at the tomb. Those feminine characteristics such as gentleness, faithfulness, humility, devotion and sacrificial service which were manifested in the daily life of Christ were held up for emulation in the lives of modern women. A striking contrast was made between the condition and status of women in the United States and war - torn countries of Europe and Asia and the parallel made in the challenge and opportunity for service.

Mrs. W. D. McGee was elected temporary chairman and Mrs. G. M. Mott, temporary secretary. Upon taking the chair Mrs. McGee called for discussion by the entire group of plans for permanent organization. August 12th was chosen as the date of the next meeting at which time a report is to be made by the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. A. S. Gunter, A. J. Speer and Mrs. Joe Powell. This group will present a slate of officers for the WSCS, circle and study leaders for the three circles. Election of officers will follow at the same meeting, and material for the program of work will be ready for distribution. Volunteer visitation teams were given names of women to be visited during the month.

Committees were appointed to be responsible for some of the details of the outdoor Sunday school and church services on August 3rd. An old - fashioned "dinner-on-the ground" will be served to all members and friends of the congregation, plans for which were made with eagerness.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Brown to Dr. and Mrs. Oliphint, Mrs. Aileen Guthrie, Mrs. H. Hagaman, Mrs. Thomas Henry, Mrs. J. G. Guthrie, Mrs. John Sholars, Mrs. E. A. Walters, Mrs. Thomas Pitt, Mrs. G. M. Mott, Mrs. Joe Powell, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. A. J. Speer, Mrs. Shelby Hill, Mrs. W. D. McGee Jr., Mrs. Charles Brown Mrs. Hewitt Johnson, Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mrs. Slade Brown, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. John Hart and Mrs. L. D. Ritter.

Y-Teen Group In Lake Providence Enjoys Wiener Roast

Jere Land and cousin Shearon Regenold gave pleasure to a coterie of friends in the Y-teen group when they entertained on Thursday evening of the past week, at a wiener roast at state park on Tensas bayou. To prepare and serve the refreshments were mothers of the hostesses, Mrs. Ford Land and Mrs. Fred S. Regenold.

Miss Dorothy Pomeroy Engaged To Bill Hodge

August Wedding Formally Announced At Lovely Luncheon Given In Ruston

Formal announcement of the engagement of Dorothy Alice Pomeroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Webb Pomeroy and, Bill Hodge, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hodge, was made at a luncheon July 15, given by her aunts, Mrs. L. R. Pomeroy, Mrs. Eleanor Shirley, Mrs. H. R. Templeton and Mrs. G. W. Pomeroy at the latter's home in Ruston. Little Pamela Pomeroy and Janet Templeton assisted.

The bride - elect wore a pink nylon dress with silver chiffon insets. Her accesories were of black patent. The hostesses' gift-corsage was of split white carnations and rosebuds.

Arrangements of pink, yellow and white garden flowers were placed in the living room and reception hall.

To center the dining room table Mrs. W. E. Conger of Arcadia designed a tower arrangement of white phlox, butterfly lilies and caladium leaves with magnolias at the base. Facing the honoree three bisque cupids mounted on tiered styrafoam supported white wedding bells proclaiming "Dottie and Bill, Aug. 20" - white satin hearts tied with green and white ribbons were similarly inscribed and advantageausly placed.

The buffet depicted the wedding procession with beautifully dressed dolls.

Individual tables were laid with white linen and centered with bisque cupids. Places were marked by silver bell place cards and tiny white umbrellas carrying the announcement.

COLOR TV RESEARCH

NEW YORK (AP)—Although it has been 23 years since the first demonstration of color television in this country, tinted pictures continue in active research. That early showing was made June 27, 1929, at the Bell telephone laboratories in New York over wire from one end of a room to another.

Soft Autumn Daytimes

A new softness of both line and fabric is evident in daytime dresses for Fall. Pure silk taffeta in taupe (left) makes an afternoon dress by Mollie Parnis. Slim skirt is marked by deep back pleat; bodice is simple and fitted. Sleeves and rounded collar have Victorian touches of black silk velvet and ball fringe. Ben Reig's yellow wool dress (right) has wide skirt in soft folds, a high, narrow collar and long sleeves with notched cuffs.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK —(NEA)— The new soft silhouette of the daytime dress for Fall marks it clearly as very different from its 1951 counterpart. Last year's look was crisp. This year, softness is apparent in both fabric and line.

Waistlines wander from high to low. The empire silhouette appears in the collections of most top designers but the middy turns up in collections more generally priced. And throughout, the corselet midriff is gaining in fashion importance.

The natural waistline, however, is never neglected. Empire or middy, it is clearly defined. The waistless look of the Twenties has no place in 1952.

Skirts have much back fullness. Whether handled as inserts, side panels, side gores, pleating or tucking, all of it starts below the hipline and is always soft. This makes for a smooth hipline and a generally slim effect even in skirts with a great deal of fullness.

The draped neckline is all-important in daytime dresses. In variations, there are soft rolled collars, fichus of self-fabric and cowl drapery. Jewelry necklines are back, harmonizing with the softer lines and fabrics.

Sleeves show a graduating fullness, from a dropped shoulder to a tight cuff. There are more wrist-length sleeves, more sleeve length and more cover-up generally, in sleeves.

Black dominates in these daytime dresses. It's shown in light woolens and crepes, in satins and taffetas that are soft, never crinkly. It also appears in silk barathea and silk faille.

For the newly-important ensemble, the black dress becomes allied with color. Then come the browns, in a whole range, and gray. The vivid colors — red, green and royal or sapphire blue — are stressed in dresses as well as in suits and coats.

August 12th was chosen as the date of the next meeting at which time a report is to be made by the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. A. S. Gunter, A. J. Speer and Mrs. Joe Powell. This group will present a slate of officers for the WSCS, circle and study leaders for the three circles. Election of officers will follow at the same meeting, and material for the program of work will be ready for distribution. Volunteer visitation teams were given names of women to be visited during the month.

Committees were appointed to be responsible for some of the details of the outdoor Sunday school and church services on August 3rd. An old - fashioned "dinner-on-the ground" will be served to all members and friends of the congregation, plans for which were made with eagerness.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Brown to Dr. and Mrs. Oliphint, Mrs. Aileen Guthrie, Mrs. H. Hagaman, Mrs. Thomas Henry, Mrs. J. G. Guthrie, Mrs. John Sholars, Mrs. E. A. Walters, Mrs. Thomas Pitt, Mrs. G. M. Mott, Mrs. Joe Powell, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. A. J. Speer, Mrs. Shelby Hill, Mrs. W. D. McGee Jr., Mrs. Charles Brown Mrs. Hewitt Johnson, Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mrs. Slade Brown, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. John Hart and Mrs. L. D. Ritter.

Miss Dorothy Pomeroy Engaged To Bill Hodge

August Wedding Formally Announced At Lovely Luncheon Given In Ruston

Formal announcement of the engagement of Dorothy Alice Pomeroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Webb Pomeroy and, Bill Hodge, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hodge, was made at a luncheon July 15, given by her aunts, Mrs. L. R. Pomeroy, Mrs. Eleanor Shirley, Mrs. H. R. Templeton and Mrs. G. W. Pomeroy at the latter's home in Ruston. Little Pamela Pomeroy and Janet Templeton assisted.

The bride - elect wore a pink nylon dress with silver chiffon insets. Her accesories were of black patent. The hostesses' gift-corsage was of split white carnations and rosebuds.

Arrangements of pink, yellow and white garden flowers were placed in the living room and reception hall.

To center the dining room table Mrs. W. E. Conger of Arcadia designed a tower arrangement of white phlox, butterfly lilies and caladium leaves with magnolias at the base. Facing the honoree three bisque cupids mounted on tiered styrafoam supported white wedding bells proclaiming "Dottie and Bill, Aug. 20" - white satin hearts tied with green and white ribbons were similarly inscribed and advantageausly placed.

The buffet depicted the wedding procession with beautifully dressed dolls.

Individual tables were laid with white linen and centered with bisque cupids. Places were marked by silver bell place cards and tiny white umbrellas carrying the announcement.

COLOR TV RESEARCH

NEW YORK (AP)—Although it has been 23 years since the first demonstration of color television in this country, tinted pictures continue in active research. That early showing was made June 27, 1929, at the Bell telephone laboratories in New York over wire from one end of a room to another.

Soft Autumn Daytimes

A new softness of both line and fabric is evident in daytime dresses for Fall. Pure silk taffeta in taupe (left) makes an afternoon dress by Mollie Parnis. Slim skirt is marked by deep back pleat; bodice is simple and fitted. Sleeves and rounded collar have Victorian touches of black silk velvet and ball fringe. Ben Reig's yellow wool dress (right) has wide skirt in soft folds, a high, narrow collar and long sleeves with notched cuffs.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK —(NEA)— The new soft silhouette of the daytime dress for Fall marks it clearly as very different from its 1951 counterpart. Last year's look was crisp. This year, softness is apparent in both fabric and line.

Waistlines wander from high to low. The empire silhouette appears in the collections of most top designers but the middy turns up in collections more generally priced. And throughout, the corselet midriff is gaining in fashion importance.

The natural waistline, however, is never neglected. Empire or middy, it is clearly defined. The waistless look of the Twenties has no place in 1952.

Skirts have much back fullness. Whether handled as inserts, side panels, side gores, pleating or tucking, all of it starts below the hipline and is always soft. This makes for a smooth hipline and a generally slim effect even in skirts with a great deal of fullness.

The draped neckline is all-important in daytime dresses. In variations, there are soft rolled collars, fichus of self-fabric and cowl drapery. Jewelry necklines are back, harmonizing with the softer lines and fabrics.

Sleeves show a graduating fullness, from a dropped shoulder to a tight cuff. There are more wrist-length sleeves, more sleeve length and more cover-up generally, in sleeves.

Black dominates in these daytime dresses. It's shown in light woolens and crepes, in satins and taffetas that are soft, never crinkly. It also appears in silk barathea and silk faille.

For the newly-important ensemble, the black dress becomes allied with color. Then come the browns, in a whole range, and gray. The vivid colors — red, green and royal or sapphire blue — are stressel in dresses as well as in suits and coats.

Woman Junk Collector Held In Chicken Theft

Sara Sapp, 59, a woman junk collector in West Monroe, was in the city jail Saturday charged with theft in the disappearance of three chickens from Caldwell Brothers Grocery at the intersection of Natchitoches and Commerce streets.

Police said the Negro woman allegedly latched on to three chickens in the rear of the grocery store and was later apprehended with the chickens in a feed sack. Her bond was fixed at $100, police said.

Her address was listed as 111 Grape street, West Monroe. She was identified as the woman often seen pulling a small wagon around West Monroe.

Changing Face For New One By 'Secret' Foundation Process

By Anita Colby

Day to lay a good foundation: Today we'll take up the secret process of changing your old face for a new one. And this is a secret process—a private experiment, not a parlor trick. It's strictly for the boudoir, where you do as much practicing as any magician has to. Don't think a quick flick of the wrist—a sleight-of-hand—will fool your public. You will work and study and experiment, and finally perfect the type, usages and application of—foundation.

Study your face as critically as if you were going to buy it. Decide what changes you'd like made in it. Is your skin too pink? Does your forehead bulge? Is your nose shiny—does it turn up? Is your upper lip too long, your chin too small?

Fix this in your mind—with foundation you can change: The color, texture, and seeming contours of your face.

Feel your face with your fingertips, feeling for texture, surface smoothness. (And you should be baby smooth by now.) Press into the bones, and into the hollows. In the ideal face, bones are where highlights should be — like high cheekbones; hollows, where natural shadows fall. But maybe you are round as an apple—no shadows? Perhaps your jaw is more prominent than your cheekbones? I'm going to show you how to create the illusion of perfect skin, lovely coloring, and the ideal oval face, with foundation.

Three Kinds Of Foundation

Exactly what is foundaton? The preparation you use before powder, the basis of all make-up. Depending on what you want it to do, you will buy yours in one of these three forms: liquid, creams or pastes, dry cake.

I myself use the simplest, basic theory in foundations: a pure emulsified lotion, soothing, softening, milky in the bottle, colorless when on the skin. There are many similar types on the cosmetic market — and excellent surgical or medicated lotions in case you have disturbed skin.

Select the proper type—for dry skins: creamy pastes or liquids—clear or colored: for oily skins: astringent-based liquids, dry cake, or vanishing creamy type, colored or not: for combinations: use an astringent on olly areas, under a creamy base. Now do you see: Why a foundation?

It gives your skin smoother, softer texture—adds the depth to make-up which, combined with powder, gives the look of "bloom" —or transparency. It helps to cover small blemishes and wrinkles. It holds make-up much longer than your own skin, and much more evenly, without turning powder yellow as your own skin oils may.

General Rules For Color

The general rule, for skin that needs a little covering up, is:

Buy foundation in the same color family as your skin, but just a shade darker. This provides better coverage for small imperfections, plus creating that "depth" under a lighter powder.

However, if you are fair—a clear glowing alabaster — match your skin exactly, or use colorless foundation. A darker tone makes this skin look muddy.

Also if you are sallow, yellow—use a pinker foundation.

If you are ruddy, florid, lean to a beige tone.

If you are dead white, "blue with cold"—peach and ivory.

In other words, buy your ideal skin color, correcting your own with the color you lack. Here's where you mix your own basic palette.

In addition to improving texture and color by using two or three tones you can create the illusion of a perfect oval face by working on these basic principles:

Lighter foundation used on any feature brings it forward—emphasizes it.

Darker foundation used on any feature pushes it back—minimizes it. Therefore, you buy a smaller amount of lighter, and of darker, if you want to really change the seeming contours of your face.

How To Apply Foundation

1. Spot face and neck with little supply dots of foundation. Put a good-size blob at base of throat (about size of a quarter) . . . little less on cheeks and forehead (nickel) and small dabs on nose and chin (dime).

2. Now blend and smooth it out, always stroking gently with first two fingers, always up and out. Under eyes use only first finger, very gently. You must learn to treat this skin always with extreme care.

If you get too much on the first time—if it looks heavy or mask-like—practice until you apply it like an expert. The merest film of foundation that will add a natural bloom, not an artificial caked effect, is what we're after.

You Can Be Your Own Masseuse

Right now, let's study up on the surest technique for correcting any of your body contours that are "contouring" the wrong way.

I want you to learn to do it for yourself, at home. If you have special spots that need slimming, this is one of your best weapons. The best time for your private massage is after a warm evening bath. Using baby oil or any rich creams, to make hands glide on your skin. Work on your bed so you can fall right to sleep afterward.

Legs and feet: "Stripping" is the massage for fatty ankles, or tired legs. For rest purposes cream first, starting with the toes. Work cream into balls of feet, along the tendon of each toe and into heel. Now pinch the back of ankle with thumb and finger on either side of the Achilles tendon, and pull up in parallel lines, clear into the calf, digging hard into muscles. Repeat as often as you can, feeling the muscles slide under your pressure.

"Wringing"—you work with both hands, one going east, the other west, just like wringing out clothes. Squeeze and twist all the way from ankle to knee. If it's fat you're after, do it with the leg in air—blood runs out of it and you get right at the fatty tissue.

Thighs and hips: "Kneading"—grab deep into flesh at side of thigh with fingers close together, and push against them with heel of hand, just like kneading dough, using both hands. Now alternate pressure of hands — push with right, pull with left, hard as you can.

Floorwork—Lie on back, knees bent halfway up, turn body so hip bulge receives impact, and bounce up and down. Turn to pound worst bulges, but avoid banging base of spine.

"One-spot roll"—Lie with knees taut, feet straight out, and roll body back and forth. Clear around until you pass your hipbone, then push back with elbows for the other side. (This is fine for the small-sized bedroom situation.)

Waist, abdomen, diaphragm: "Wringing" and "Kneading" for all these sections.

"Creeping": Sink heel of hand into flesh, feel ahead with fingers, pull up to fingers, and so progress all across area. Keep hands moving ahead — don't concentrate pinching in one spot and bruise yourself.

Upper arm: "Stripping" and "Wringing" with one hand, using the counterforce of thumb against fingers sunk into flesh to get the twist.

Williams' Pharmacy Looted By Burglars

Williams' Pharmacy, at 1215 Cypress street in West Monroe, was burglarized Friday night. No arrests in connection with the case had been made Saturday.

West Monroe Police Chief Jeff W. Caldwell said the drug store was entered through a window on the north side. He said the store was looted for $23 in cash and several cartons of cigarettes.

Investigation into the theft was still underway Saturday.

The time of the burglary had not been established except for the fact that it happened sometime during the night. The police did not say whether or not they had determined if one or more persons were involved.

Caldwell said the north side window screen was ripped open and the window raised.

TECH PREXY IN INSPECTION TRIP

Visits Biggs Air Force Base To Observe Tech Cadets

RUSTON, July 19 (Special)—E. L. Ropp, president of Louisiana Tech, visited Biggs Air Force Base at El Paso, Tex., recently to observe the work of the 36 Tech cadets in the air force ROTC summer encampment now in its fourth and final week.

Also visiting the base was Dr. James G. Gee, president of East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce, Tex.

Base officials honored them with a luncheon at the Officers Club. Col. F. Macomber, deputy commander of the 97th bomb wing, made a brief welcoming address.

The air force cadets are being indoctrinated into air force communications, armament and supply, as well as continuing their regular B-50 flying missions. An entire mission constitutes their training, from briefing through to the intelligence critique following the flight.

They have already seen an array of tactical and support aircraft set up to augment their classroom training. In their college work they are taught air operations with particular stress being placed upon the strategic bombing concept. For most of them this was their first opportunity to see first hand the aircraft about which they studied.

Williams' Pharmacy, at 1215 Cypress street in West Monroe, was burglarized Friday night. No arrests in connection with the case had been made Saturday.

West Monroe Police Chief Jeff W. Caldwell said the drug store was entered through a window on the north side. He said the store was looted for $23 in cash and several cartons of cigarettes.

Investigation into the theft was still underway Saturday.

The time of the burglary had not been established except for the fact that it happened sometime during the night. The police did not say whether or not they had determined if one or more persons were involved.

Caldwell said the north side window screen was ripped open and the window raised.

TECH PREXY IN INSPECTION TRIP

Visits Biggs Air Force Base To Observe Tech Cadets

RUSTON, July 19 (Special)—R. L. Ropp, president of Louisiana Tech, visited Biggs Air Force Base at El Paso, Tex., recently to observe the work of the 36 Tech cadets in the air force ROTC summer encampment now in its fourth and final week.

Also visiting the base was Dr. James G. Gee, president of East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce, Tex.

Base officials honored them with a luncheon at the Officers Club. Col. F. Macomber, deputy commander of the 97th bomb wing, made a brief welcoming address.

The air force cadets are being indoctrinated into air force communications, armament and supply, as well as continuing their regular B-50 flying missions. An entire mission constitutes their training, from briefing through to the intelligence critique following the flight.

They have already seen an array of tactical and support aircraft set up to augment their classroom training. In their college work they are taught air operations with particular stress being placed upon the strategic bombing concept. For most of them this was their first opportunity to see first hand the aircraft about which they studied.

RE-ELECT LEGION OFFICERS

TALLULAH, July 19 (Special)—Officers re-elected at a recent meeting of the American Legion post here were James R. Wallace, commander; Herbert Massey, first vice commander; J. C. Crawford, second vice commander; W. H. Harvey, adjutant; Gaines Byram, finance offcer; R. G. Waugh, chaplain; C. Ramagos and Guss Willett, sergeant at arms, Henry C. Sevier Jr., historian.

Create Illusion Of Youthful Glow

Beauty Magic In News

There is an unusual make-up preparation now on the market that is designed to keep the mature woman looking young. Touch the cream to those aging facial lines (above and center left) and they seem to disappear entirely.

This amazing beauty aid does not interfere with your regular make-up application. Apply mascara (center right) and your final powdering (right) just as you always do for a finished look of smooth and glowing perfection.

By ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

Beauty, in case you haven't ever thought about it, is actually a matter of lights and shadows.

There are four areas — around the mouth and nose, under the eyes and at the temples — of any girl or woman's face where the bone structure falls away and where the muscle cells are least evident. These are the areas that sink into shadows and discoloration.

Up to this time, you've probably treated such regions with resignation and as much make-up base as seemed reasonable. Now, however, with an amazing new preparation it is possible to "wash out" shadows and fine lines and "lift" your own face in doing it. And all this can be accomplished in just 45 seconds.

The fascinating part of this product is that it does not physically lift your skin. The entire theory behind it is in illusion — illusion through the absence of shadows and presence of light.

This preparation is a cream so finely milled it is almost without substance. In fact, it has absolutely nothing to do with the rest of your make-up. You might well consider it a beauty disguise that almost isn't there.

To use the cream, you merely "follow the hollow." Place the cushion of one finger in water to moisten it, then dip the tion. Work from the bottom of your chin to the corner of your mouth; from the mouth corner up to the nostril and around the ridge of the nostril. Then apply it under your eyes going from outer to inner corners; and at the temples going from a point just inside the end of the brow line, up and out over the temples.

The cream should be applied over your foundation because it acts as a "gripper," and also goes through make-up. After you have finished with the finger application, blend it with the rubber sponge that comes right with the product. Then, powder.

Another important point about this preparation, claimed by its makers, is that it will last from morning to midnight. If you have a particularly hard day, the manufacturer says all you have to do is wrap a few pieces of cleansing tissue around the sponge and pat it over your face. It will remove oil and surface dust and revive your make-up miraculously.

Through the use of the cream, you can create aa illusion of changed facial contours and fill in deep-set areas anywhere on your face. You can even lift an eyebrow with just a dab of it. And, of course, most vital to the middle-aged woman, it produces a "years off" effect.

And remember, this isn't a corrective treatment that takes months or years to show any results. Rather, it is a formulated cosmetic that takes between 20 and 45 seconds. The more adept you become in handling the cream, the less application time it will require.

When you first put the white cream on your face, you may feel it will show. You need not worry about this, if you follow the directions carefully. It is designed to create an illusion and disappear as substance.

This new preparation may well be considered the "missing link" in your make-up application. Bring your face out of the shadows, and see for yourself what the light reveals.

Anne Connaughton Is President Of Class

RUSTON, July 19—(Special) — Members of the summer graduating class of Louisiana Tech have elected Ann Connaughton of Shreveport as their president. She was elected on the second ballot after failing to get a majority over Rommie Bryan of Jonesboro on the first ballot.

Joseph W. Smith of Cornwall, Ontario, was elected vice-president and Mary Ann Day of Marion was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Officers of the class plan to call a meeting soon to consider a class gift to be left to the college upon graduation Thursday, August 7.

Abraham Lincoln was elected captain of a volunteer company in the Black Hawk War.

Abraham Lincoln was 21 when he crossed the Wabash River and saw level land for the first time — the fertile plains of Illinois.

It is believed that the first libraries of the world were located in temples.

Meet In Monroe Soon To Study Pollution Control

The Louisiana Farm Bureau is interested in the action of the Arkansas Water Pollution Control Commission which has called in the U. S. Public Health Service to study bacterial and chemical contamination of the Ouachita river in Arkansas. The Farm Bureau here has asked that there be made a similar study in this state.

In reply it is reported that meetings will be held in Monroe, some time in August, when delegations from towns along the Ouachita river in Louisiana will meet with officials to consider protection from river pollution in this state.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. A home dominated by either husband or wife or by mother or anybody is always unhappy. For either parent to dominate the other or for either or both to dominate the children, instead of teaching and guiding them is the orneriest piece of cussedness. Such persons have an inferior complex and are emotional children. Our booklet, "Getting Along With People," will help bring happiness to such homes. Sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, says psychologist Martin Reymert. "They were likely reared by mothers or other adults who forced them to eat beyond their hunger point. In poorer homes, where food is limited, the child eats only when he is hungry (if he is lucky) instead of being cajoled and bribed to eat." Doctors more and more are concluding that babies, children, hogs and other animals know when to eat and pretty well what to eat. Give the kid's stomach a chance!

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. Consistency in a boss or husband or wife doesn't mean bull-headness or inflexibility, or resistance to new ideas or satisfaction with "sameness." It means reliability, fairness, following good and tried policies, willingness to listen to reason and to change if circumstances warrant. This alone makes for the best relations between management and worker. It certainly makes the best boss.

Getting Along With People

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: The old "mother-in-law" gags are probably based on sound facts—however, there are a few sons-in-law in my family who ought to grow up and leave my husband and myself alone. We would appreciate being allowed to raise the two children left at home without interference from our married daughters and their husbands. They are constantly dumping their children on us, inviting themselves to dinner and landing on us, bag and baggage, with their friends and brothers in the middle of our vacation. If they would assist in the work involved by their visits and conduct themselves as human beings instead of sharp-tongued critics, they would be welcome.

Our sons-in-law seem to forget they married our daughters, not the entire family. I have never visited our daughters but they have called upon me to act as practical nurse when their babies arrive, even though they are well able to hire a housekeeper or nurse at such a time. I feel that since my daughters have their own homes and families, they should leave us alone and allow us the same courtesies and privacies they extend their neighbors. The think nothing of inquiring into our financial affairs, yet would consider it an encroachment on their rights if we did the same to them.

JULIA J.

ANSWER: Your in-law trouble stems from an angle of this eternal problem that seldom presents difficulties. Most women get along very nicely with their sons-in-law—provided, of course, they are good husbands—and rarely have complaints. Actually, if one reads your letter for facts, leaving out your own exasperations, it presents a pretty ideal picture of parent and in-law relationships.

THEIR ATTITUDE HEALTHY

Most complaints from parents-in-law concern the fact that the older folks get too little attention. Grandma complains if daughter gets hired help to care for the children instead of bringing them home to mother. The fact that your daughters and their husbands feel so free to call upon you in emergencies, to descend upon you for dinner unexpectedly, and are sufficiently interested in your welfare to make inquiries about various conditions, is a healthy sign, rather than the reverse.

The gravest crime of which the young men are guilty, is, I'm sure, thoughtlessness. They probably think you enjoy having them around so much; in truth, it's a much happier feeling to be overburdened with attention than to be neglected.

Surely your children aren't so obtuse that they can't be convinced of your desire for more privacy! However, please don't insist on your rights to the extent that you hurt the young peoples' feelings. You will be the loser, in that case. Be thankful for your children's confidence, for the happiness of having your grandchildren near, and for having the opportunity of being part of their growing up. Doting grandparents are a blessed part of a child's heritage; don't deprive either the grandchildren or yourselves of this privilege.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: After going with a boy for six months, we broke up recently because I attended a dance club after he asked me not to go. I still like him a lot and know he likes me. I'd never go to such a place again, but he is afraid to trust me. I'm 16.

ANNABELLE

ANSWER: Since the place to which he objected has, apparently, an unpleasant reputation, he was only looking after your welfare and you should have had sense enough to realize it. At 16 you can't be too careful about the places you frequent. One breath of scandal can cause damage that years of irreproachable living won't wipe out. Wait until his anger cools off and perhaps he'll give you another chance.

DEAR MISS DIX: For the last two years I have supported my husband and two children on very small wages. Now he has a good job and refuses to pay anything for our support. I'm 25, and haven't been well.

BETTY A.

ANSWER: Your husband is bound by law to support his family. If he refuses, get in touch with the Family Court in your city, or consult the Legal Aid Society.

DOROTHY DIX advises girls unsure of the state of their affections in leaflet D-14, "Are You Sure It's Love?" To obtain a copy, send a 5-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Dix, c/o this newspaper.

ELEPHANT SAT ON HIM

LONG BEACH, Calif., (AP)— Scott Anderson, 55, is one of the few men who have had an elephant sit on his chest and lived to tell about it.

Scott, attendant for the Clyde Beatty Circus elephant, Inez, was hospitalized after his charge knocked him down and squatted on him.

"I wouldn't be here now," Anderson said, "if a pal hadn't come to my rescue with a bull hook."

OPTOMETRY TO BE NEW COURSE

HOUSTON, July 19 (Special) — The only college of its kind in the Southwest, the University of Houston's College of Optometry, will open its doors for the first time this fall.

The newly established college which covers a five-year curriculum period, hopes to serve residents of surrounding states as well as Texas.

Dr. Charles R. Stewart, dean of the college, is now holding interviews with prospective students. Applications and information for the fall semester will be accepted and reviewed through September 1.

The new college will begin operation in the university's science building. Plans for the future include a $2,250,000 building for optometry, nursing and pharmacy.

Before his appointment as dean of the college, Dr. Stewart was director of the Optometry Clinic at the Ohio State University. Active in many optometric organizations, he is a member of many professional and honorary groups including the American Optometric Association, American Academy of Optometry, Optical Society of America, Beta Sigma Kappa, Sigma Xi, and Epsilon Pai Epsilon.

They are so good looking, substantial, and marvelous for the money. The original pebble cloth (super seersucker!) is so fresh, so lovely that the designers have created bedspreads with beautiful simplicity -- rounded corners the special fillip of four plush rows of candlewick. A wonderful summer investment because they are so easy to keep fresh.

Meet In Monroe Soon To Study Pollution Control

The Louisiana Farm Bureau is interested in the action of the Arkansas Water Pollution Control Commission which has called in the U. S. Public Health Service to study bacterial and chemical contamination of the Ouachita river in Arkansas. The Farm Bureau here has asked that there be made a similar study in this state.

In reply it is reported that meetings will be held in Monroe, some time in August, when delegations from towns along the Ouachita river in Louisiana will meet with officials to consider protection from river pollution in this state.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. A home dominated by either husband or wife or by mother or anybody is always unhappy. For either parent to dominate the other or for either or both to dominate the children, instead of teaching and guiding them is the orneriest piece of cussedness. Such persons have an inferior complex and are emotional children. Our booklet, "Getting Along With People," will help bring happiness to such homes. Sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, says psychologist Martin Reymert. "They were likely reared by mothers or other adults who forced them to eat beyond their hunger point. In poorer homes, where food is limited, the child eats only when he is hungry (if he is lucky) instead of being cajoled and bribed to eat." Doctors more and more are concluding that babies, children, hogs and other animals know when to eat and pretty well what to eat. Give the kid's stomach a chance!

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. Consistency in a boss or husband or wife doesn't mean bull-headness or inflexibility, or resistance to new ideas or satisfaction with "sameness." It means reliability, fairness, following good and tried policies, willingness to listen to reason and to change if circumstances warrant. This alone makes for the best relations between management and worker. It certainly makes the best boss.

Getting Along With People

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: The old "mother-in-law" gags are probably based on sound facts—however, there are a few sons-in-law in my family who ought to grow up and leave my husband and myself alone. We would appreciate being allowed to raise the two children left at home without interference from our married daughters and their husbands. They are constantly dumping their children on us, inviting themselves to dinner and landing on us, bag and baggage, with their friends and brothers in the middle of our vacation. If they would assist in the work involved by their visits and conduct themselves as human beings instead of sharp-tongued critics, they would be welcome.

Our sons-in-law seem to forget they married our daughters, not the entire family. I have never visited our daughters but they have called upon me to act as practical nurse when their babies arrive, even though they are well able to hire a housekeeper or nurse at such a time. I feel that since my daughters have their own homes and families, they should leave us alone and allow us the same courtesies and privacies they extend their neighbors. The think nothing of inquiring into our financial affairs, yet would consider it an encroachment on their rights if we did the same to them.

JULIA J.

ANSWER: Your in-law trouble stems from an angle of this eternal problem that seldom presents difficulties. Most women get along very nicely with their sons-in-law—provided, of course, they are good husbands—and rarely have complaints. Actually, if one reads your letter for facts, leaving out your own exasperations, it presents a pretty ideal picture of parent and in-law relationships.

THEIR ATTITUDE HEALTHY

Most complaints from parents-in-law concern the fact that the older folks get too little attention. Grandma complains if daughter gets hired help to care for the children instead of bringing them home to mother. The fact that your daughters and their husbands feel so free to call upon you in emergencies, to descend upon you for dinner unexpectedly, and are sufficiently interested in your welfare to make inquiries about various conditions, is a healthy sign, rather than the reverse.

The gravest crime of which the young men are guilty, is, I'm sure, thoughtlessness. They probably think you enjoy having them around so much; in truth, it's a much happier feeling to be overburdened with attention than to be neglected.

Surely your children aren't so obtuse that they can't be convinced of your desire for more privacy! However, please don't insist on your rights to the extent that you hurt the young peoples' feelings. You will be the loser, in that case. Be thankful for your children's confidence, for the happiness of having your grandchildren near, and for having the opportunity of being part of their growing up. Doting grandparents are a blessed part of a child's heritage; don't deprive either the grandchildren or yourselves of this privilege.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: After going with a boy for six months, we broke up recently because I attended a dance club after he asked me not to go. I still like him a lot and know he likes me. I'd never go to such a place again, but he is afraid to trust me. I'm 16.

ANNABELLE

ANSWER: Since the place to which he objected has, apparently, an unpleasant reputation, he was only looking after your welfare and you should have had sense enough to realize it. At 16 you can't be too careful about the places you frequent. One breath of scandal can cause damage that years of irreproachable living won't wipe out. Wait until his anger cools off and perhaps he'll give you another chance.

DEAR MISS DIX: For the last two years I have supported my husband and two children on very small wages. Now he has a good job and refuses to pay anything for our support. I'm 25, and haven't been well.

BETTY A.

ANSWER: Your husband is bound by law to support his family. If he refuses, get in touch with the Family Court in your city, or consult the Legal Aid Society.

DOROTHY DIX advises girls unsure of the state of their affections in leaflet D-14, "Are You Sure It's Love?" To obtain a copy, send a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Dix, c/o this newspaper.

ELEPHANT SAT ON HIM

LONG BEACH, Calif., (AP)— Scott Anderson, 55, is one of the few men who have had an elephant sit on his chest and lived to tell about it.

Scott, attendant for the Clyde Beatty Circus elephant, Inez, was hospitalized after his charge knocked him down and squatted on him.

"I wouldn't be here now," Anderson said, "if a pal hadn't come to my rescue with a bull hook."

OPTOMETRY TO BE NEW COURSE

HOUSTON, July 19 (Special) — The only college of its kind in the Southwest, the University of Houston's College of Optometry, will open its doors for the first time this fall.

The newly established college which covers a five-year curriculum period, hopes to serve residents of surrounding states as well as Texas.

Dr. Charles R. Stewart, dean of the college, is now holding interviews with prospective students. Applications and information for the fall semester will be accepted and reviewed through September 1.

The new college will begin operation in the university's science building. Plans for the future include a $2,250,000 building for optometry, nursing and pharmacy.

Before his appointment as dean of the college, Dr. Stewart was director of the Optometry Clinic at the Ohio State University. Active in many optometric organizations, he is a member of many professional and honorary groups including the American Optometric Association, American Academy of Optometry, Optical Society of America, Beta Sigma Kappa, Sigma Xi, and Epsilon Psi Epsilon.

Bob Thomas IN MOVIELAND

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Next Monday the television networks will debut their second "big show" of 1952. Technically, it should be much improved over the first one.

'I make that statement on the assumption that everyone, even TV networks, profits by experience. While TV did a good job of covering the Republican Convention, the prformance was far from perfect. Or so it seemd to this viewer.

I am probably not alone in this belief. TV watchers are the most critical bunch of people, outside of wine tasters. Of the estimated 60 million people who watched the doings in Chicago, only 37 agreed that the TV coverage couldn't have been better. (The Thomas poll figures prove this without a doubt.)

Let's keep the TV people happy by pointing out the good aspects first. The coverage of the dramatic moments of the convention —the crucial roll calls, the Sen. Dirksen tirade against Gov. Dewey, Gov. Fine's temper, Ike's acceptance—represented TV's finest hour. No other medium can present history in such a vivid way.

The cameras also did a good job of covering the comic relief of the Puerto Rico delegation.

But other matters can be criticized. The idea of pinpointing members of the audience for closeups provided some snickers and a welcome change from the speechmaking routine. But this device was overdone. Also, it was sometimes cruel to those who were unaware they were being watched.

The main drawback of the TV coverage was the lack of mobility of the cameras. Now I realize that it's not easy to haul a TV camera around, especially in hectic convention surroundings. But too often the cameras would remain on a waiting crowd or a dull speech when it was obvious that more important things were happening elsewhere.

There was a lack of proper background on the channels I watched. The announcers often didn't have the sense or the knowledge to explain what was happening on the picture. I heard one TV spieler talk about "Gov. Bricker" (he's still senator at last report) and Margaret Chase Smith, "Senator from Massachusetts." (The folks in Maine would love that.)

Performance-wise, radio appeared to be doing a better job than TV. Control of the microphone was switched to places where the big news was happening, and there were batteries of experts to tell you what was happening and why.

But in the end the newspapers provide the lasting convention coverage. TV and radio can give only a fleeting look and listen. There are too many significant things happening to be captured on air waves: They have to be read to be understood.

PLAYS TROUPER

Eleanor Parker makes a fetching leading lady of an 18th century French theatrical troupe in "Scaramouche," M-G-M's Technicolor version of Rafael Sabatini's swashbuckling adventure romance, now at the Tem. Also starred in the imposing cast are Stewart Granger, Janet Leigh and Mel Ferrer.

Abraham Lincoln's mother, Nancy Hanks Lincoln, died at 35, shortly after the family had moved across the Ohio River to the hills of Southern Indiana.

DONATION LOST

BOMBAY (AP)— More than a third of the $1,333,710 which the Aga Khan donated to his Khoja Moslem followers in 1946 has been lost to the beneficiaries.

The presentation came after the diamond jubilee celebration of the Aga Khan when he was weighed against diamonds in Bombay. The Aga Khan had given the money, equal in value to the diamonds, for the improvement of educational facilities.

Shortly after the deposit of $514,500 of the funds in a banking concern, the firm went into liquidation and the money was lost.

It is thought that the Chinese first used natural gas, piping it from its source in bamboo tubes.

HEADLINERS IN 'SKIRTS AHOY!'

Esther Williams, Vivian ("Guys and Dolls") Blaine and Joan Evans are the three headliners in "Skirts Ahoy!" M-G-M's big Technicolor musical which takes place against a background of the U. S. Navy Waves. Barry Sullivan, Keefe Brasselle and singing Billy Eckstine are others in the ace attraction, coming to the Paramount screen this week, starting Friday.

Starts Thursday At Tem

Co-starred with Robert Young and Janis Carter, Jack Buetel has the title role in RKO Radio's lavish Technicolor melodrama, "The Half-Breed." As leader of the Apaches, Buetel is torn between loyalty to his tribe and desire to avail himself of what he fleetingly believes are white men's privileges. At the Tem Thursday.

SURRENDER

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— Several groups of armed outlaws, totaling 192 men, have given themselves up to authorities in the rice district of West Java, according to police reports.

The report said they did not belong to any political combat group but were "ordinary bandits" who had operated in the area since before World War II.

The Japanese refloated it, but allied bombers sunk it again with the Japanese cruiser, Shiretoko, in her basin. The dock has lain in the strait between Singapore and the Malayan mainland ever since.

Light will appear redder if its source is moving away from the observer and this effect has been used to develope the theory that every major portion of the universe is moving away from every other portion.

Gambling Hall Sequence, one of the action highlights of "The San Francisco Story," involves Yvonne DeCarlo and Joel McCrea with a waterfront card sharp. The Fidelity-Vogue Pictures production for Warner Bros. opens today at the Paramount Theatre.

'SKIRTS AHOY!' COMING FRIDAY

As breezy salty and refreshing as its title, M-G-M's "Skirts Ahoy!" launches a boatload of stars, songs, dances, love and laughs on the Paramount screen in one of the year's gayest and brightest Technicolor musicals, starting Friday.

Esther Williams, in a role as form-fitting as her Wave uniform, leads the big parade of talent garnered for this rollicking musical tale of three girls who join the navy either to get or to forget a man, with Joan Evans and Vivian Blaine as her torch-bearing buddies and Barry Sullivan, Keefe Brasselle and Dean Miller as the males responsible for it all. Also involved in the whirl of entertainment are the five De Marco Sisters and the popular singing star, Billy Eckstine.

Miss Williams plays Whitney Young, the Long Island society girl who ditches her prospective bridegroom at the altar, fits into the life of the Waves like a duck to water, falls head-over-heels in love with a Navy doctor (Barry Sullivan) who doesn't like predatory girls, then puts up a stiff fight to win and hold him. Her two buddies have their romantic work cut out for them as well; Joan Evans as the shy and homesick small-town girl, Mary Kate Yarbrough, who gets jilted by Dick (Keefe Brasselle), her childhood sweetheart; and Vivian Blaine as the brassy ex-salesgirl, who sets her cap for Archie (Dean Miller), a sailor who once took her rowing in Central Park. But everything turns out for the best by the time the Wave fledglings have completed their ten weeks of boot training and emerge as knowing and competent navy girls.

Those tunesmith experts, Harry Warren and Ralph Blane, have contributed the near-dozen songs which punctuate the laughs and kisses of "Skirts Ahoy!" and they are a joy to hear. Among those you are likely to be whistling on the way out are "What Good Is a Gal Without a Guy," "You Must Fight," "What Makes a Wave," "Glad to Have You Aboard," "The Navy Waltz," "I Get a Funny Feeling," sung by Keefe Brasselle, "Hold Me Close to You," the haunting love song sung by Billy Eckstine in a supper club scene, and the title song.

Nor is Esther Williams' famed swimming prowess overlooked, the script permitting her a number of original underwater routines and a delightful sequence in which she appears with the famous Tongay children, who made headline news when the English government deterred them from swimming the English Channel.

Sidney Lanfield's direction takes every advantage of the humorous and romantic aspects of the "Skirts Ahoy!" story, and Joe Pasternak has given his picture the colorful and eye-filling production details always associated with his Technicolor musical offerings. "Skirts Ahoy!" is right out of the top drawer.

Symbiosis is the term used to describe the status of two organisms which live together to mutual advantage as the plants and algae which together form lichens.

In Canada newsprint is the No. 1 export, outranking even grain crops as a moneymaker.

M'Crea, DeCarlo In 'San Francisco Story'

"The San Francisco Story," produced by Fidelity-Vogue Pictures for Warner Brothers and starring Joel McCrea and Yvonne DeCarlo, brings to the screen of the Paramount today, a vivid reenactment of one of the most colorful eras in American history. It is based on a novel by Richard Summers.

Following the California gold rush, thousands of fortune-hungry men and women descended upon the bustling little whaling port of San Francisco, all intent on gold.

They spent much of their time around the dozens of expensive gambling establishments where beautiful women, the clinking of gold and silver on the gaming tables and the finest of European and American wines intoxicated even the strongest into being "taken" by professional gamblers.

Under such overwhelming conditions, it was difficult to maintain an honest police force. The forming of the first Vigilantes of 1851 was a natural consequence. Quiet men had become impatient and were taking the law into their own hands. By the time the Vigilantes had disbanded in 1856, their efforts had resulted in the execution of many hardened criminals, jailing of ballot-box stuffers and the banishment of the city's worst elements aboard ships bound for other ports.

This brought about the complete transformation of the fabulous city, in a matter of months, from a pretty wicked community into the present-day well-governed city.

This is the vivid action story told by Joel McCrea, as a two-fisted law-and-order man, and Yvonne DeCarlo, as the beautiful demi-mondaine who loves him.

In order to achieve realism, Director Robert Parrish and his camera crew spent several weeks in San Francisco carefully cataloguing and photographing buildings in that city that had remained untouched by the fires and earthquakes of the last 100 years.

Sidney Blackmer, noted Broadway actor, heads the featured cast of "The San Francisco Story" which consists of Richard Erdman, Onslow Stevens and Florence Bates.

RED TERROR CONTINUES

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—The leading British rubber planting body in Malaya declares that despite countrywide resettlement of squatters ists, there is no improvement in the situation.

The United Planting Association of Malaya, in its report for 1951, said planters still lived in continual danger and could not relax security precautions.

Without the "steadfastness and courage" of the planters, said the report, "the situation in the rural areas would have rapidly deteriorated to a state of savagery and chaos."

IN HOLLYWOOD

By Bob Hope

HOLLYWOOD, July 19 — Hello, folks, this is Bob "guesting for Jimmie Fidler" Hope.

I haven't any gossip but I've got some interesting facts about Hollywood sneak previews. You know what a sneak preview is, folks. That's a wake with lights.

The idea of a preview is to show the picture in advance of its regular release so the studio can get what it calls audience reaction. The customers are asked to grade the picture on special cards containing three categories—excellent, good and fair. At the preview of my latest Paramount comedy(?), "Son of Paleface," which co-stars Jane Russell, Roy Rogers and Trigger, I insisted that the studio use my own cards. They gave the people four choices—superb, magnificent, terrific and colossal.

There must have been some Crosby fans in the audience that night because most of the people ignored my selections and added a few of their own. I'd tell you what they were but there are laws which prohibit the use of such language in newspapers!

There is always a huge crowd outside the theater on preview nights. The actors go in by the front door and leave by the fire escape—if they're lucky, that is. I was late and barely got inside the theater before they locked the doors. I overheard some fresh guy telling his wife that this is done only at my previews—it's the only way the manager can keep the people inside once my name is flashed on the screen. I never did get the guy's name but I'm convinced he is one of Red Skelton's writers.

Then the picture started and for a while we had the customers rolling in the aisles. The ushers spoiled it, however. They took away my dice. It's customary to applaud and cheer each time one of the players appears on the screen for the first time. Jane Russell got a terrific hand, Roy Rogers was greeted with cheers and Trigger received a few neighs. Then I came on. I immediately realized why the manager had bolted the doors. For a minute, I thought the entire Russian delegation was seated in the audience.

After a brief struggle, however, we finally restored order and persuaded the people to return to their seats. Everything was fine until I did my big love scene with Jane. One man became hysterical and exclaimed, "That's a love scene?" Later, I found out it was Artie Shaw. Yes, sir, that audience really loved "Son of Paleface." Why, one couple in the balcony even turned to look at the screen. They wanted to see if the newsreel was on yet.

I was mobbed outside the theater when the picture ended. Fortunately, the manager had previewed one of my previous pictures so he had thoughtfully requested police protection. Sure surprised me, too. I thought they were after autographs!

As usual, all of the studio bosses gathered in a corner of the lobby to listen to the comments of the people leaving the theater. They heard plenty, believe me. As one of the men put it, "It's a good thing there aren't any children around."

The big boss was there, too, and he congratulated everybody. He had a few things to say about my performance but I'm too modest to repeat them here. Not until I've seen my lawyer, anyway. He also had a long discussion with the film editor, the man who "cuts" the picture. The cutter was adamant, however, and explained it would be impossible to cut me out of the picture entirely. He's a friend of mine.

The crowd loved me, because they tossed presents at my car as I drove away. My wife, Dolores, was very upset about the whole thing and vowed she would never attend another one of my previews. Frankly, I saw no reason why she should be angry with me. With vegetables priced the way they are now what's wrong with taking home a car load?

Later, we gathered at a local restaurant to discuss the film. Robert Welch, the producer and Frank Tashlin, the director, must have been impressed with my work because they were speechless. I know because they never said one word to me. I asked Welch what he thought of my performance but he merely growled—he's always clowning—and continued eating his pablum. I never have been able to figure out what Tashlin thought of my work. Just before he left, he walked over to me, smiled and pressed something in my hand—a .38!

It's Your Deal

To Win—Know Your Poker Rules

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

"Please answer a question on high-low seven-card stud poker," requests a Seattle reader.

"One of the ladies in our game declared high and low with the following cards: ace of spades, deuce of spades, three of clubs, four of clubs, five of diamonds, eight of diamonds, and four of spades.

"According to our rules, which follow the rule in Mr. Jacoby's book, she had to have the highest hand at the table and also the lowest hand at the table in order to win anything at all.

"There was no question about her high hand. The ace-2-3-4-5 straight won without any argument. But then she wanted to take out the four of clubs and substitute the four of spades in order to call the ace-2-3-4-5 a low hand.

"We claimed that she couldn't play exactly the same hand as high and also as low. We therefore said that her lowest hand was 8-4-3-2-ace. This was not as low as the seven-high hand held by one of the other players.

"Who is right?"

It looks to me as though the lady loses both ends of the pot. But before making a definite statement, we have to discuss the rule about straights and flushes in high-low poker.

If you have a straight or a flush, that's a good hand. In any normal game of poker a straight or a flush is higher than something like 7-5-3-2-ace in different suits. Hence in any normal game you shouldn't dream of winning the low end of a pot with five cards that constitute a straight or a flush.

However, some players follow a different rule. They disregard straights and flushes for the purpose of determining the lowest hand at the table. Mind you, very few players follow this abnormal rule; and those players have a very definite understanding about this weird procedure of theirs.

If there is no such definite understanding that straights and flushes are meaningless for the low end of the pot, the ordinary rule applies. In the absence of any special rule, in my correspondent's game, we would say that the lady's best low hand is eight-high—which loses to the seven-high hand.

If the players outlaw straights and flushes for the low end of the pot, however, the lady wins the entire pot.

WORRIES BLIND VENDOR

DALLAS (AP)—Eugene Norris, a blind newspaper vendor, is worried about his Lady's figure.

Lady is his 10-year-old seeing-eye dog who is now on a reducing diet because she is 15 pounds overweight. Norris claims well-meaning people insist on feeding her too many cookies and candy.

He likes the food gifts of some, like the cans of dog food and milk bone from a department store worker and the executive who brings dog candy, which is nonfattening.

Gambling Hall Sequence, one of the action highlights of "The San Franciso Story," involves Yvonne DeCarlo and Joel McCrea with a waterfront card sharp. The Fidelity-Vogue Pictures production for Warner Bros. opens today at the Paramount Theatre.

'SKIRTS AHOY!' COMING FRIDAY

As breezy salty and refreshing as its title, M-G-M's "Skirts Ahoy!" launches a boatload of stars, songs, dances, love and laughs on the Paramount screen in one of the year's gayest and brightest Technicolor musicals, starting Friday.

Esther Williams, in a role as form-fitting as her Wave uniform, leads the big parade of talent garnered for this rollicking musical tale of three girls who join the navy either to get or to forget a man, with Joan Evans and Vivian Blaine as her torch-bearing buddies and Barry Sullivan, Keefe Brasselle and Dean Miller as the males responsible for it all. Also involved in the whirl of entertainment are the five De Marco Sisters and the popular singing star, Billy Eckstine.

Miss Williams plays Whitney Young, the Long Island society girl who ditches her prospective bridegroom at the altar, fits into the life of the Waves like a duck to water, falls head-over-heels in love with a Navy doctor (Barry Sullivan) who doesn't like predatory girls, then puts up a stiff fight to win and hold him. Her two buddies have their romantic work cut out for them as well; Joan Evans as the shy and homesick small-town girl, Mary Kate Yarbrough, who gets jilted by Dick (Keefe Brasselle), her childhood sweetheart; and Vivian Blaine as the brassy ex-salesgirl, who sets her cap for Archie (Dean Miller), a sailor who once took her rowing in Central Park. But everything turns out for the best by the time the Wave fledglings have completed their ten weeks of boot training and emerge as knowing and competent navy girls.

Those tunesmith experts, Harry Warren and Ralph Blane, have contributed the near-dozen songs which punctuate the laughs and kisses of "Skirts Ahoy!" and they are a joy to hear. Among those you are likely to be whistling on the way out are "What Good Is a Gal Without a Guy," "You Must Fight," "What Makes a Wave," "Glad to Have You Aboard," "The Navy Waltz," "I Get a Funny Feeling," sung by Keefe Brasselle, "Hold Me Close to You," the haunting love song sung by Billy Eckstine in a supper club scene, and the title song.

Nor is Esther Williams' famed swimming prowess overlooked, the script permitting her a number of original underwater routines and a delightful sequence in which she appears with the famous Tongay children, who made headline news when the English government deterred them from swimming the English Channel.

Sidney Lanfield's direction takes every advantage of the humorous and romantic aspects of the "Skirts Ahoy!" story, and Joe Pasternak has given his picture the colorful and eye-filling production details always associated with his Technicolor musical offerings. "Skirts Ahoy!" is right out of the top drawer.

Symbiosis is the term used to describe the status of two organisms which live together to mutual advantage as the plants and algae which together form lichens.

M'Crea, DeCarlo In 'San Francisco Story'

"The San Francisco Story," produced by Fidelity-Vogue Pictures for Warner Brothers and starring Joel McCrea and Yvonne DeCarlo, brings to the screen of the Paramount today, a vivid reenactment of one of the most colorful eras in American history. It is based on a novel by Richard Summers.

Following the California gold rush, thousands of fortune-hungry men and women descended upon the bustling little whaling port of San Francisco, all intent on gold.

They spent much of their time around the dozens of expensive gambling establishments where beautiful women, the clinking of gold and silver on the gaming tables and the finest of European and American wines intoxicated even the strongest into being "taken" by professional gamblers.

Under such overwhelming conditions, it was difficult to maintain an honest police force. The forming of the first Vigilantes of 1851 was a natural consequence. Quiet men had become impatient and were taking the law into their own hands. By the time the Vigilantes had disbanded in 1856, their efforts had resulted in the execution of many hardened criminals, jailing of ballot-box stuffers and the banishment of the city's worst elements aboard ships bound for other ports.

This brought about the complete transformation of the fabulous city, in a matter of months, from a pretty wicked community into the present-day well-governed city.

This is the vivid action story told by Joel McCrea, as a two-fisted law-and-order man, and Yvonne DeCarlo, as the beautiful demimondaine who loves him.

In order to achieve realism, Director Robert Parrish and his camera crew spent several weeks in San Francisco carefully cataloguing and photographing buildings in that city that had remained untouched by the fires and earthquakes of the last 100 years.

Sidney Blackmer, noted Broadway actor, heads the featured cast of "The San Francisco Story" which consists of Richard Erdman, Onslow Stevens and Florence Bates.

IN HOLLYWOOD

By Bob Hope

HOLLYWOOD, July 19 — Hello, folks, this is Bob "guesting for Jimmie Fidler" Hope.

I haven't any gossip but I've got some interesting facts about Hollywood sneak previews. You know what a sneak preview is, folks. That's a wake with lights.

The idea of a preview is to show the picture in advance of its regular release so the studio can get what it calls audience reaction. The customers are asked to grade the picture on special cards containing three categories—excellent, good and fair. At the preview of my latest Paramount comedy(?), "Son of Paleface," which co-stars Jane Russell, Roy Rogers and Trigger, I insisted that the studio use my own cards. They gave the people four choices—superb, magnificent, terrific and colossal.

There must have been some Crosby fans in the audience that night because most of the people ignored my selections and added a few of their own. I'd tell you what they were but there are laws which prohibit the use of such language in newspapers!

There is always a huge crowd outside the theater on preview nights. The actors go in by the front door and leave by the fire escape—if they're lucky, that is. I was late and barely got inside the theater before they locked the doors. I overheard some fresh guy telling his wife that this is done only at my previews—it's the only way the manager can keep the people inside once my name is flashed on the screen. I never did get the guy's name but I'm convinced he is one of Red Skelton's writers.

Then the picture started and for a while we had the customers rolling in the aisles. The ushers spoiled it, however. They took away my dice. It's customary to applaud and cheer each time one of the players appears on the screen for the first time. Jane Russell got a terrific hand, Roy Rogers was greeted with cheers and Trigger received a few neighs. Then I came on. I immediately realized why the manager had bolted the doors. For a minute, I thought the entire Russian delegation was seated in the audience.

After a brief struggle, however, we finally restored order and persuaded the people to return to their seats. Everything was fine until I did my big love scene with Jane. One man became hysterical and exclaimed, "That's a love scene?" Later, I found out it was Artie Shaw. Yes, sir, that audience really loved "Son of Paleface." Why, one couple in the balcony even turned to look at the screen. They wanted to see if the newsreel was on yet.

I was mobbed outside the theater when the picture ended. Fortunately, the manager had previewed one of my previous pictures so he had thoughtfully requested police protection. Sure surprised me, too. I thought they were after autographs!

As usual, all of the studio bosses gathered in a corner of the lobby to listen to the comments of the people leaving the theater. They heard plenty, believe me. As one of the men put it, "it's a good thing there aren't any children around."

The big boss was there, too, and he congratulated everybody. He had a few things to say about my performance but I'm too modest to repeat them here. Not until I've seen my lawyer, anyway. He also had a long discussion with the film editor, the man who "cuts" the picture. The cutter was adamant, however, and explained it would be impossible to cut me out of the picture entirely. He's a friend of mine.

The crowd loved me, because they tossed presents at my car as I drove away. My wife, Dolores, was very upset about the whole thing and vowed she would never attend another one of my previews. Frankly, I saw no reason why she should be angry with me. With vegetables priced the way they are now what's wrong with taking home a car load?

Later, we gathered at a local restaurant to discuss the film. Robert Welch, the producer and Frank Tashlin, the director, must have been impressed with my work because they were speechless. I know because they never said one word to me. I asked Welch what he thought of my performance but he merely growled—he's always clowning—and continued eating his pablum. I never have been able to figure out what Tashlin thought of my work. Just before he left, he walked over to me, smiled and pressed something in my hand—a .38!

MUCKLEROY TO ENTER MINISTRY

Popular OPHS Football Player To Receive Baptist License

Gene Muckleroy, 19, will be incensed as a minister by the Ridge Avenue Baptist church of West Monroe Sunday at 11:00 a. m. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Muckleroy of 214 Benson St., West Monroe.

Young Muckleroy graduated at O. P. H. S. the past year and was fullback on the football team. He will enter Louisiana College in September to begin his education for the ministry.
Muckleroy has already been leading and speaking at Christian Youth rallies and other religious meetings. He preached his first sermon last Sunday night after surrendering to the ministry at the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church to a large congregation. The service was a success and the large crowd seemed greatly impressed. There were a number of additions to the church.

NEW RADIO TV STUDY PLANNED

State Trade Schools To Be Entitled To Enroll In Fall Semester

Radio instructors from Louisiana State Trade Schools met recently at the Louisiana State Trade Schools' Curriculum Laboratory at Natchitoches, Louisiana to discuss a new course in Radio and Television.
Present at the meeting were H. H. Watson, radio and television instructor from the Shreveport Trades School, W. W. Smith, radio instructor from the Southwest Louisiana Trade School, Lake Charles, W. D. Wamsley, radio and television instructor from the Ouachita Valley Vocational School, West Monroe, Ralph Bentley, radio instructor from the Southwestern Louisiana Trade School, Crowley, D. H. Moreland, specialist from the Louisiana State Trade Schools' Curriculum Laboratory, who will write the course, and Claude J. Connally, coordinator of the Curriculum Laboratory.
The conference was originally intended for dicussion of a course putline for a new radio course, but due to recent authorization by the F.C.C. of the many new TV stations in Louisiana, it was unanimously agreed to incorporate and emphasize television in order that the State Trade Schools may have a course available for the apparent imminent need.
Mr. Moreland, who will write the course, will be fortunate to have the aid of H. H. Watson, a pioneer in TV in Louisiana to complete the television portion of the course. Mr. Watson built the first TV receiver in Shreveport, long before a manufactured set was purchased. At present, Mr. Watson has built a TV camera for less than $400.00 This is probably the first of its kind in Louisiana. It will be of interest to note that a TV camera used by studios costs over $15,000.00
The new Radio-Television course will be abailable to the State Trade Schools for the coming Fall semester.

Fellowship Tea Held For Southside Church

A fellowship tea was held in the Booster Clubhouse Saturday at 7:30 P. M. in the interest of the new South Side Methodist Church.
At the meeting plans were discussed for the erection of the building on the site owned by the church at South Fourth and Wilson streets.
It is hoped to have the building erected in the least possible time and many loyal churchmen are ready to give of their time for this worthy cause.
Rev. Lea Joyner will be the pastor of this new congregation.

Angelo Patri
Our Children

PARENTHOOD

Parenthood is an art and, as Longfellow advised us, art is long. Its practice should begin with the birth of the child. It must continue down to old age after serving a severe apprenticeship that started with infancy, traveled through childhood and endured through youth as the hopeful parent kept step with his growing child.
One of the skills that must be mastered early and used daily is that of listening, listening with an open mind, not in strained patience, not in inhibited irritation, but in calm, assured strength tinged with sympathy. Just a tinge.
If you think this is no art but just something that springs up in every parent in time of need, you are wrong. Try it and see when Junior insists loudly that he can swim across the pool now without an aduit alongside.
Why can't he? Gee. A fellow never gets a chance in this family. How'm I ever going to learn to swim if I have to stay in the shallow end all the time? I can swim. I don't need to be watched—and on and on in a loud, steady, flowing stream of remonstrance with a dumb parent who thinks a boy of eight who has had ten lessons in swimming cannot go alone the full length of a pool, a distance that seems to test the power of the boys who have had five times his experience.
Just try listening to him with sympathy, firmness, understanding and without any feeling that prompts one to rise and smite him into silence and off to his bed. Yet that discipline is required of us if we are to persuade children of our sympathetic interest in their welfare and their interests. It takes practice.
To hold an argument with growing children, any of them between the ages of seven and twenty, requires great skill, deep understanding of the child's mind and habits, great and seemingly easy control of temper and speech. Listening in neutral silence is a good beginning. Listen attentively to what he says, catch its overtones, be ready when his breath and vocabulary run out to speak in the still, small voice of wisdom, be ready with a story that fits, hold back irritation and work toward laughter.
Every family has arguments and well-trained parents will handle them wisely. It is not easy, but once the art is acquired its rewards are great.

Stammering is a phase of learning to talk which some children go through. How to understand and help your child overcome this trait is discussed by Dr. Patri in his leaflet P-2, "Stammering." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Old Alabama Church To Hold Summer Revival

A series of Revival Services are scheduled for Old Alabama Presbyterian Church in Sibley Community five miles north of Choudrant, La. beginning July 20 at 11 a. m. and extending through Saturday July 26 at 8 p. m. Morning Services will be held each morning at 10 a. m.
Dr. H. H. Thompson, past Secretary of the Southern Presbyterian Church's Division of Evangelism, now pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Ruston will lead the services.
Last week, preceding the Evangelistic Services in the Church, has been marked by intensive prayer on the part of all the Church members. Cottage Prayer meetings have been held in homes of members in all areas of our Community where the Congregation is represented.
Visitors, friends, unchurched families as well as Christian friends are invited to join this congregation during this week of revival.

Why Grow Old?
By Josephine Lowman

This exercise will help trim the tummy.

Have Flat Tummy It Requires Exercise

Some people say that clothes make the woman. I think the figure makes the clothes. You can buy a beautifully styled, costly gown but it will fall flat if your figure is not lovely and your posture not stunning. On the other hand even the simplest dress takes on style when adorning a fine silhouet, gracefully carried.
Many women would have charming figures were it not for a protruding abdomen. This defect reflects neglect in matters of exercise and posture, if not overeating. Often at middle age women find weight landing on them in new and strange spots.
In the past, even when they found themselves with a few too many pounds, their abdomens still remain flat. Then suddenly they discover a pad of fat in that spot.
Can Get Rid of It
This is due to the fact that women become less active physically by the mid years and their glandular systems slow up. You can still have the flat tummy but you have to work harder for it. Fat is less apt to accumulate over active muscles and you can stretch and exercise that pad away.
This is a good exercise for abdomen slimming: Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Raise your trunk and touch your fingers to your toes. Lower trunk and arms to the floor. Keep the knees straight throughout this exercise.
Another and harder version of the same exercise: Lie on the floor with your legs straight. Tuck your toes under a divan or chair or bed end. Bend your elbows and place your hands behind your head. Raise the trunk trying to keep yourback straight. Do not let your head protrude forward. Lower the trunk to the floor. Continue.
Stretch, Too
In both of these exercises take time to stretch out against the floor, feeling the pull all through the torso, in between trunk raisings.
If you would like to have my tested abdominal exercises which will take a few inches from that measurement in a few week's time send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 "Abdominal Exercises," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

A HAPPY NOTE OR TWO

By J. Paul Hewitt

Not long ago we happened to overhear a remark something like this. "I'd enjoy classical music if it weren't so morbid. As it is . . . it makes me feel so bad I can hardly stand to listen to it." All we can say is that person must have been listening to the wrong kind of classical music. Personally . . . we don't think there's any really "morbid" music. There may be music to call up sad or dreamy emotions . . . but it's all in the listeners.
Besides, every composer has written some fun-filled works. Even the great and sonorous Bach has capricious music to his credit. Have you ever watched a performance of Hayden's SURPRISE SYMPHONY? Now there's music with a real sense of humor.
Alec Templeton once said, "Music is like life . . . it can provide every possible human reaction. Music is fun." So whether you're a musician or a music lover . . . you can ENJOY music . . . get a kick out of it. If you've been "scared away" from good music by a lot of stuffy talk about technique, etc. . . . let your ears tell you that good music can give you a lot of laughs.
We have the famous Steinway piano . . . It's voice-like quality has endeared it to the great artists . . . And now you can have it in your own home . . . come in soon. Feel free to look around. Choose and then arrange terms to be suited to your budget. 300 Grammont, Monroe. 2-4466.

Bible Words to Live by

PSALM 37:5, "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass."
My life philosophy is built on this divine promise. When I am in doubt as to a course of action I try first to think things through for myself, since we are never absolved from the necessity of intellectual effort. But if I am still in perplexity I place all the related factors before God in prayer. I pray about the problem as earnestly as I can. This I do repeatedly. Then I go away from the situation and cease to think about it.
When I then return after a few days to pray about the matter again, I usually find that by a process of incubation there has formed in my mind a solution to the problem. It is as though God had in the meantime taken all the parts of the picture puzzle and arranged them into an orderly pattern.
If no immediate answer is in sight I continue to wait and trust, in the calm assurance that God is working at it even while I sleep, just as surely as the wheat that the farmer has planted in the spring-time continues to grow even though he is away on a journey. The results are surprising. "He brings it to pass."

MUCKLEROY TO ENTER MINISTRY

Popular OPHS Football Player To Receive Baptist License

Gene Muckleroy, 19, will be incensed as a minister by the Ridge Avenue Baptist church of West Monroe Sunday at 11:00 a. m. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Muckleroy of 214 Benson St., West Monroe.

Young Muckleroy graduated at O. P. H. S. the past year and was fullback on the football team. He will enter Louisiana College in September to begin his education for the ministry.
Muckleroy has already been leading and speaking at Christian Youth rallies and other religious meetings. He preached his first sermon last Sunday night after surrendering to the ministry at the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church to a large congregation. The service was a success and the large crowd seemed greatly impressed. There were a number of additions to the church.

NEW RADIO TV STUDY PLANNED

State Trade Schools To Be Entitled To Enroll In Fall Semester

Radio instructors from Louisiana State Trade Schools met recently at the Louisiana State Trade Schools' Curriculum Laboratory at Natchitoches, Louisiana to discuss a new course in Radio and Television.
Present at the meeting were H. H. Watson, radio and television instructor from the Shreveport Trades School, W. W. Smith, radio instructor from the Southwest Louisiana Trade School, Lake Charles, W. D. Wamsley, radio and television instructor from the Ouachita Valley Vocational School, West Monroe, Ralph Bentley, radio instructor from the Southwestern Louisiana Trade School, Crowley, D. H. Moreland, specialist from the Louisiana State Trade Schools' Curriculum Laboratory, who will write the course, and Claude J. Connally, coordinator of the Curriculum Laboratory.
The conference was originally intended for dicussion of a course putline for a new radio course, but due to recent authorization by the F.C.C. of the many new TV stations in Louisiana, it was unanimously agreed to incorporate and emphasize television in order that the State Trade Schools may have a course available for the apparent imminent need.
Mr. Moreland, who will write the course, will be fortunate to have the aid of H. H. Watson, a pioneer in TV in Louisiana to complete the television portion of the course. Mr. Watson built the first TV receiver in Shreveport, long before a manufactured set was purchased. At present, Mr. Watson has built a TV camera for less than $400.00 This is probably the first of its kind in Louisiana. It will be of interest to note that a TV camera used by studios costs over $15,000.00
The new Radio-Television course will be abailable to the State Trade Schools for the coming Fall semester.

Fellowship Tea Held For Southside Church

A fellowship tea was held in the Booster Clubhouse Saturday at 7:30 P. M. in the interest of the new South Side Methodist Church.
At the meeting plans were discussed for the erection of the building on the site owned by the church at South Fourth and Wilson streets.
It is hoped to have the building erected in the least possible time and many loyal churchmen are ready to give of their time for this worthy cause.
Rev. Lea Joyner will be the pastor of this new congregation.

Angelo Patri
Our Children

PARENTHOOD

Parenthood is an art and, as Longfellow advised us, art is long. Its practice should begin with the birth of the child. It must continue down to old age after serving a severe apprenticeship that started with infancy, traveled through childhood and endured through youth as the hopeful parent kept step with his growing child.
One of the skills that must be mastered early and used daily is that of listening, listening with an open mind, not in strained patience, not in inhibited irritation, but in calm, assured strength tinged with sympathy. Just a tinge.
If you think this is no art but just something that springs up in every parent in time of need, you are wrong. Try it and see when Junior insists loudly that he can swim across the pool now without an adult alongside.
Why can't he? Gee. A fellow never gets a chance in this family. How'm I ever going to learn to swim if I have to stay in the shallow end all the time? I can swim. I don't need to be watched—and on and on in a loud, steady, flowing stream of remonstrance with a dumb parent who thinks a boy of eight who has had ten lessons in swimming cannot go alone the full length of a pool, a distance that seems to test the power of the boys who have had five times his experience.
Just try listening to him with sympathy, firmness, understanding and without any feeling that prompts one to rise and smite him into silence and off to his bed. Yet that discipline is required of us if we are to persuade children of our sympathetic interest in their welfare and their interests. It takes practice.
To hold an argument with growing children, any of them between the ages of seven and twenty, requires great skill, deep understanding of the child's mind and habits, great and seemingly easy control of temper and speech. Listening in neutral silence is a good beginning. Listen attentively to what he says, catch its overtones, be ready when his breath and vocabulary run out to speak in the still, small voice of wisdom, be ready with a story that fits, hold back irritation and work toward laughter.
Every family has arguments and well-trained parents will handle them wisely. It is not easy, but once the art is acquired its rewards are great.

Stammering is a phase of learning to talk which some children go through. How to understand and help your child overcome this trait is discussed by Dr. Patri in his leaflet P-2, "Stammering." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Old Alabama Church To Hold Summer Revival

A series of Revival Services are scheduled for Old Alabama Presbyterian Church in Sibley Community five miles north of Choudrant, La. beginning July 20 at 11 a. m. and extending through Saturday July 26 at 8 p. m. Morning Services will be held each morning at 10 a. m.
Dr. H. H. Thompson, past Secretary of the Southern Presbyterian Church's Division of Evangelism, now pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Ruston will lead the services.
Last week, preceding the Evangelistic Services in the Church, has been marked by intensive prayer on the part of all the Church members. Cottage Prayer meetings have been held in homes of members in all areas of our Community where the Congregation is represented.
Visitors, friends, unchurched families as well as Christian friends are invited to join this congregation during this week of revival.

Why Grow Old?
By Josephine Lowman

This exercise will help trim the tummy.

Have Flat Tummy It Requires Exercise

Some people say that clothes make the woman. I think the figure makes the clothes. You can buy a beautifully styled, costly gown but it will fall flat if your figure is not lovely and your posture not stunning. On the other hand even the simplest dress takes on style when adorning a fine silhouet, gracefully carried.
Many women would have charming figures were it not for a protruding abdomen. This defect reflects neglect in matters of exercise and posture, if not overeating. Often at middle age women find weight landing on them in new and strange spots.
In the past, even when they found themselves with a few too many pounds, their abdomens still remain flat. Then suddenly they discover a pad of fat in that spot.

Can Get Rid of It

This is due to the fact that women become less active physically by the mid years and their glandular systems slow up. You can still have the flat tummy but you have to work harder for it. Fat is less apt to accumulate over active muscles and you can stretch and exercise that pad away.
This is a good exercise for abdomen slimming: Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Raise your trunk and touch your fingers to your toes. Lower trunk and arms to the floor. Keep the knees straight throughout this exercise.
Another and harder version of the same exercise: Lie on the floor with your legs straight. Tuck your toes under a divan or chair or bed end. Bend your elbows and place your hands behind your head. Raise the trunk trying to keep yourback straight. Do not let your head protrude forward. Lower the trunk to the floor. Continue.

Stretch, Too

In both of these exercises take time to stretch out against the floor, feeling the pull all through the torso, in between trunk raisings.
If you would like to have my tested abdominal exercises which will take a few inches from that measurement in a few week's time send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 "Abdominal Exercises," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Make Each Day Count; Life Promises Nothing."

By J. Paul Hewitt

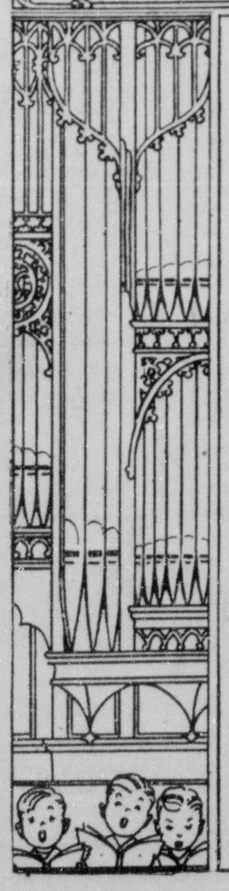
Not long ago we happened to overhear a remark something like this. "I'd enjoy classical music if it weren't so morbid. As it is . . . it makes me feel so bad I can hardly stand to listen to it." All we can say is that person must have been listening to the wrong kind of classical music. Personally . . . we don't think there's any really "morbid" music. There may be music to call up sad or dreamy emotions . . . but it's all in the listeners.

Besides, every composer has written some fun-filled works. Even the great and sonorous Bach has capricious music to his credit. Have you ever watched a performance of Hayden's SURPRISE SYMPHONY? Now there's music with a real sense of humor.

Alec Templeton once said, "Music is like life . . . it can provide every possible human reaction. Music is fun." So whether you're a musician or a music lover . . . you can ENJOY music . . . get a kick out of it. If you've been "scared away" from good music by a lot of stuffy talk about technique, etc. . . . let your ears tell you that good music can give you a lot of laughs.

We have the famous Steinway piano . . . It's voice-like quality has endeared it to the great stars . . . And now you can have it in your own home . . . Come in soon. Feel free to look around. Compare and then decide. You're sure to be satisfied at HEWITT INC. 216 Grammont. Phone: 2-1491.

Bible Words to Live by



PSALM 37:5, "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass."

My life philosophy is built on this divine promise. When I am in doubt as to a course of action I try first to think things through for myself, since we are never absolved from the necessity of intellectual effort. But if I am still in perplexity I place all the related factors before God in prayer. I pray about the problem as earnestly as I can. This I do repeatedly. Then I go away from the situation and cease to think about it.

When I then return after a few days to pray about the matter again, I usually find that by a process of incubation there has formed in my mind a solution to the problem. It is as though God had in the meantime taken all the parts of the picture puzzle and arranged them into an orderly pattern.

If no immediate answer is in sight I continue to wait and trust, in the calm assurance that God is working at it even while I sleep, just as surely as the wheat that the farmer has planted in the spring-time continues to grow even though he is away on a journey. The results are surprising. "He brings it to pass."

REMEMBER, THIS IS THE DEAL— YOU ELIMINATE DICK TRACY, OR THE BARRACUDA ELIMINATES YOU.

"JUST REMEMBER THE BARRACUDA IN THE POOL, AND THE FACT THAT YOU CAN'T SWIM."

DICK TRACY'S AT GABLES RESORT FOR A VACATION. THAT WORKS INTO YOUR PLAN PERFECTLY, TONSILS. HERE'S A MAP—GOOD LUCK.

WHEREVER YOU ARE, WE'LL HAVE OUR EYES ON YOU. YOU MUST KILL DICK TRACY BEFORE YOU RETURN.

KEEP THINKING ABOUT THE BARRACUDA— IT'LL GIVE YOU STRENGTH.

MEANWHILE, AT GABLES RESORT, MANY MILES AWAY.

GEE, DICK, I WISH WE WERE GOING TO BE HERE A MONTH INSTEAD OF 2 WEEKS.

BONNIE BRAIDS JUST LOVES IT.

"I KNOW SHE DOES, TESS. IT'S GREAT HERE AND I SURE GET A KICK OUT OF OPERATING THAT SPEEDBOAT OF SAM'S."

HOW ABOUT IT? LET'S GO FOR ANOTHER RIDE, EH?

WELL! WHO'S THIS?

MUST BE THE GOTROCKS. WHAT A CAR!

OH, THIS IS THE PLACE, SIR! YES, SIR.

No matter how much you perspire, you need never offend!

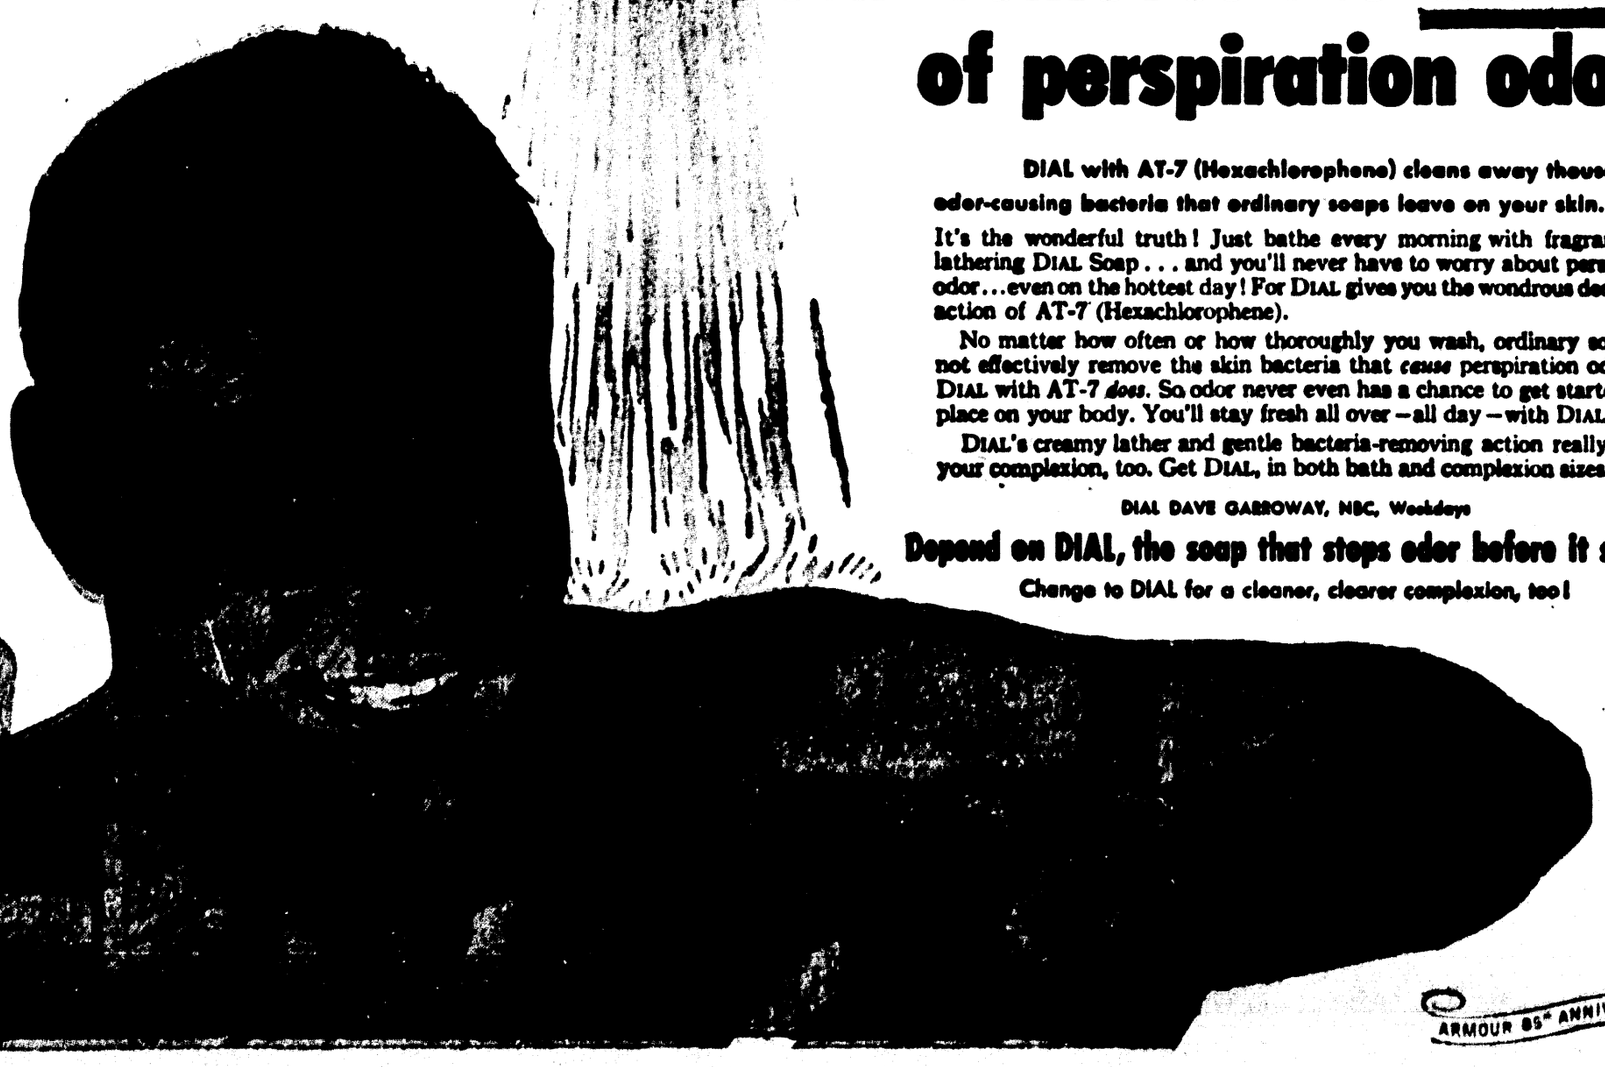
DIAL SOAP removes the cause of perspiration odor!

Better than ordinary soap!

Doctors proved it! No ordinary soap can get you so clean as DIAL with AT-7. In surgical scrub-up tests, doctors found that AT-7 soap leaves skin 10 times freer of bacteria than even strong hospital soaps. Yet DIAL is mild and gentle as a soap can be!

Better than deodorants!

Not just underarm—but all-over protection! That's what DIAL gives you—without stopping normal healthful perspiration. Yes, it's true—bathing daily with DIAL removes up to 95% of the skin bacteria that cause odor. Gives you all-over freshness no deodorant can equal!



DIAL with AT-7 (Hexachlorophene) cleans away thousands of odor-causing bacteria that ordinary soaps leave on your skin.

It's the wonderful truth! Just bathe every morning with fragrant, rich-lathering DIAL Soap . . . and you'll never have to worry about perspiration odor...even on the hottest day! For DIAL gives you the wondrous deodorant action of AT-7 (Hexachlorophene).

No matter how often or how thoroughly you wash, ordinary soaps can not effectively remove the skin bacteria that cause perspiration odor. But DIAL with AT-7 does. So odor never even has a chance to get started—any place on your body. You'll stay fresh all over—all day—with DIAL!

DIAL's creamy lather and gentle bacteria-removing action really protect your complexion, too. Get DIAL, in both bath and complexion sizes, today!

I'LL HAVE A COOL SWIM- NO--!

GEE-MAYBE A NICE RIDE WILL BE SAFER-OH-!

WILSON McCOY 7-20

A TIGER PIT! LUCKY IT WAS VACANT! IT'LL TAKE US AN HOUR TO GET THE POOR HORSE OUT!

WELL! DID YOU HAVE YOUR QUIET DAY IN THE WOODS?

LET'S JUST SAY I HAD MY DAY IN THE WOODS! NOW IF YOU'LL EXCUSE ME, I'LL GO TO MY HUT AND COLLAPSE!

NEXT WEEK: THE SECRET CHRONICLES

Copr. 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

DAGWOOD, YOU'LL HAVE TO TAKE OLD P. Q. BURPWELL TO DINNER--I HAVE A COLD AND HE WON'T COME NEAR ME

ME?

HE MUST BE WINED AND DINED LIKE A KING--SPARE NO EXPENSE--HERE'S PLENTY OF MONEY

ME? ENTERTAIN OUR MOST IMPORTANT CLIENT

YOU MEAN YOU'RE GOING TO DINE IN THE SWANKIEST RESTAURANT IN TOWN?

YEP AND I BOUGHT A FRENCH DICTIONARY SO I CAN ORDER A PERFECT MEAL

HE'S ONE OF THE RICHEST MEN IN THE STATE

YES SIR, I'M GOING TO EAT LIKE A MILLIONAIRE TONIGHT AND I'VE GOT AN APPETITE LIKE A STEVEDORE

YOUR TAXI'S HERE, POP

AND DON'T EAT SO MUCH THAT YOU'LL BE SICK

KEEP THE CHANGE

GOOD EVENING, MR. BURPWELL

I'LL HAVE CONSOMME, LOBSTER NAPOLEON, CHATEAUBRIAND STEAK WITH MUSHROOMS--

OH, NO, PLEASE

ASPARAGUS VINAIGRETTE, SALAD FRANCAISE, CREPES SUZETTE AND DEMI-TASSE

STOP--YOU CAN'T EAT ALL THAT GORGEOUS FOOD IN FRONT OF ME WHEN I'M ON A STRICT DIET

ALL I CAN EAT IS CRACKERS AND MILK

WAITER--CHANGE MY ORDER TO CRACKERS AND MILK, TOO

IT MUST BE A BURGLAR--DADDY WILL BE EATING IN THE RESTAURANT FOR HOURS YET

BLONDIE, WHERE'S ALL THE FOOD THAT WAS IN THE REFRIGERATOR WHEN I LEFT?

I THOUGHT THIS WAS THE ONE NIGHT YOU WOULDN'T BE HUNGRY, SO THE CHILDREN AND I ATE ALL THE LEFTOVERS FOR DINNER

BRINGING UP FATHER

HELLO-FINIGAN-GO TO MY OFFICE AN' GIT THOSE TICKETS--ON MY DESK-THE DOOR IS OPEN-GO RIGHT IN--WE'RE GONNA HAVE A SWELL NIGHT TONIGHT! WAIT THERE FOR ME!!

MOTHER-WHAT IS ALL THE EXCITEMENT ABOUT?

I'M GOING TO YOUR FATHER'S OFFICE--I JUST HEARD HIM COOKING UP SOMETHING WITH FINIGAN ON THE PHONE!!

SO! YOU'RE FINIGAN! SHUT UP! HAND OVER THOSE TICKETS!!

WHAT TICKETS? AND I WANT YOU TO KNOW I'M NOT FINIGAN--AN' I DON'T EVEN KNOW HIM!

DON'T SIT THERE AND LIE TO ME--GET OUT OF THAT CHAIR!!

WHAT'S THIS? A WOMAN'S PICTURE ON JIGGS'S DESK!! WELL! I'LL ATTEND TO HIM!!

-AND IN THE MEANTIME HE'LL KNOW I'VE BEEN HERE!!

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE? I'M GONNA RUN YOU IN!

HOW DARE YOU TALK TO A LADY LIKE THAT? I'LL HAVE YOU KNOW I'M MRS. JIGGS!!

IS THAT SO? WELL-WHAT ARE YOU DOING IN HERE? MR. JIGGS'S OFFICE IS ON THE FLOOR BELOW!

EEK!

WHY ARE YOU SO HAPPY-JIGGS? YOU'RE MARRIED-AIN'T YOU?

YEH! BUT I'M NOT AT HOME!

STOP TALKIN' ABOUT MARRIED LIFE--LET'S ENJOY OURSELVES!

BIMMY-JUST PLAY ON TH' BLACK KEYS-YER DIRTYIN' TH' WHITE ONES!!

SPUD! WE'RE FLOATING IN THE AIR! TURN THAT WHEEL BACK!

I-I CAN'T! I'M DRIFTING AWAY FROM IT!

I'M MOVING TOWARD THE WALL! WHEN I REACH IT I'LL TRY TO SHOVE MYSELF BACK TO THE WHEEL!

HERE GOES!

I'VE GOT IT!

TURN IT OFF, LAD! TURN IT OFF!

THERE... IT'S OFF! I CAN FEEL MY WEIGHT COMING BACK NOW!

I'M BEGINNING TO WONDER-WHAT KIND OF A PLACE THIS LOST CITY REALLY IS!...

LUCKILY, NO ONE HAS DISCOVERED WE ARE HERE!

MAYBE THERE ISN'T ANYONE LIVING IN THE LOST CITY, SPUD! I WONDER WHERE THAT DOOR LEADS TO!...

GEE-IT'S ANOTHER ROOM FULL OF SCIENTIFIC STUFF!

COME ON, LET'S GO IN, SPUD!

REMEMBER! DON'T TOUCH ANYTHING ELSE, LADS! IT MAY BE THE DEATH OF US!

WHAT IS THIS, MR. LUNDY? LOOK, YOU CAN SEE A LITTLE SEAT IN IT!

HEY, FELLAS! LOOK HERE!
